A.T.&T. Spurns Long Line Bid For $6 Boost

Strikers Slice Wage Hike Demand In Half

WASHINGTON, April 25—(AP)—The American Telephone and Telegraph Company tonight rejected an offer of its striking long lines operators to settle their strike if given a wage increase of $6 weekly—half their original demand.

John J. Moran, president of the American Union of Telephone Workers, asked for a $6 "across the board" increase at a negotiating session tonight.

But George S. Dring, assistant vice president of the A. T. and T. long lines division, replied that the offer was "unacceptable."

Dring, however, offered to arbitrate wages on a community basis. This was rejected by Moran.

Word that the National Federation of Telephone Workers, with which the long lines workers are affiliated, would compromise their wage demands came earlier in the day.

That development, coupled with a settlement with plant and maintenance workers for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company in Maryland, had given rise to hopes that the 19-day old nationwide walkout might be brought to an end soon.

Negotiations To Resume

A company statement said Dring asked whether the long lines union was "free to deal without referring questions" to the policy committee of the National Federation of Telephone Workers.

"Mr. Moran said it (the union) was free to do so on any offer which the long lines union negotiating committee would accept," the statement said. It continued:

"On the basis of this statement it is not clear that the long lines negotiating committee is a free agent.

"Mr. Moran then asked for an increase of $6 per week 'across the board'. Mr. Dring said this demand was unacceptable, but offered to arbitrate wages on a community basis. This offer was rejected by Mr. Moran, who said that even if such a plan were acceptable to the long lines union it would have to go to the policy committee of the NFTW for approval.

Negotiations are to be resumed at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Word that the NFTW, with which the long lines workers are affiliated, would compromise on a $6 weekly increase, came earlier in the day.

After tonight's session, W. Ellison Chalmers, a government conciliator, said he regarded the company's position as a flat rejection.

Joseph A. Beirne, president of the NFTW, said the company's reaction to the $6 offer "looks like a rejection."

He had disclosed the halving of the union's wage demand after a five-hour secret discussion by the federation's policy committee.

Meanwhile Federal Conciliator Lucien F. Rye had said the Maryland settlement—which provides for settlement of issues through a local board of arbitration—"may set a national pattern."

But Beirne commented: "It would be jumping to conclusion to say that this would be a pattern."

$6 Figure "Follows Pattern"

The government, in the meantime, set out to negotiate with three key units, in the national picture.

Beirne explained that since the $6 figure amounts to about 15 cents an hour, it would follow the pattern of wage increases formulated in recent weeks in the steel, auto and electrical manufacturing industries.

Government figures show the average weekly pay of telephone workers is $43.

Meanwhile Daniel J. Tobin, head of the AFL teamsters, promised the NFTW a $10,000 check for every two weeks the walkout continues. He delivered the first check himself today.

Beirne said that the policy committee authorized all 39 of the striking unions in the federation to settle locally for a $6 pay raise. He said that settlement by the Bell System companies with the unions at this figure would be "a great

House Okays Big Cut In Interior Dept. Funds

White House Foreign Policy Conference Is Called By President

MAY PRESIDE—Brazilian representative on the United Nations security Council, Dr. Oswaldo Aranha, 53, is favored to preside over the special United Nations Assembly session at Lake Success, N. Y., on the Palestine question. He has solid Latin-American support.

Marshall, Congress Leaders To Attend

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — President Truman today invited congressional leaders of both parties to a White House conference Sunday night with Secretary of State Marshall to review foreign policy developments.

Marshall, returning from the Moscow Foreign Ministers Conference tomorrow, is expected to give the congressional leaders a detailed report on American relations with Russia in advance of a radio address to the nation from 8:30 to 9 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, Monday night over major networks.

Truman To Greet Marshall

Marshall will be met at the airport here tomorrow by the President. Mr. Truman left the White House this evening to spend the night on the presidential yacht Williamsburg on the Potomac but will interrupt his cruise to greet his Secretary of State.

Whether the President himself will hear what Marshall has to report before the session with the congressional leaders remained uncertain. No plans were announced for Marshall to join the President on his cruise, which is to continue until Sunday evening, and Mr. Truman thus may receive Marshall's briefing simultaneously with the congressmen.

Among those invited to the Sunday night meeting was Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of the GOP policy committee who voted for the Greek-Turkish aid measure "reluctantly" when it passed the Senate this week.

Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Sen. Barkley, of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, are expected to head the Senate delegation, if Barkley returns from abroad in time.

Aid Bill's Approval Near

The conference will be the first Mr. Truman has held with the legislators since he discussed the $400,000,000 Greece-Turkey measure with them in advance of his address to a joint session of Congress March 12.

That legislation now is well on the way to final passage but two other administration proposals have met some questioning in Congress since Marshall left for Moscow—the Italian peace treaty and the $350,000,000 relief program for liberated lands.

The Greece-Turkey measure is due for House passage next week.

GOP Economy Drive Scores Major Victory

45 Per Cent Slash is Voted, 307 To 30

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — The Republican economy drive scored a major victory tonight when the House passed, 307 to 30, an Interior Department appropriation bill totalling $161,413,513—about 45 per cent less than President Truman asked.

The Republicans successfully fought off all amendments to boost the funds—except five of their own.

In vain Democratic leaders cried that slashes in reclamation and power projects would "crucify" the West and Northwest. Republicans replied that there are enough funds for all worthwhile projects and that the country demands economy.

The big test was on a prior vote on the question of sending the bill back to committee for a restudy of the slashes. That motion lost 197 to 140 and the final vote found many advocates of bigger funds voting for the bill as the only thing left to do.

The net increases approved by the House before sending the bill to the Senate after nine hours of tempestuous debate amounted to $4,875,000 over Appropriations Committee recommendations. There was only one cut. An allotment of $450,000 for an anthracite laboratory at Schuylkill Haven, Pa., was knocked out after a fight over where it should be located.

The Appropriations Committee had cut the bill 47 per cent below budget estimates before sending it to the floor last week. It recommended $156,538,513, a reduction of $138,881,907 below budget estimates for the department's operations for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Democrats, who had hoped to pick up enough Republican votes to override the committee's 47 per cent slash, offered dozens of amendments but got nowhere on them. Many GOP votes they had hoped to corral apparently were weaned away by amendments accepted by the committee.

These amendments added $2,000,000 for the Colorado-Big Thompson reclamation project in Colorado, $1,000,000 for the Anderson Ranch Dam project in Idaho, $2,000,000 for the Columbia basin project in Washington State, $175,000 for the Glendo project in Wyoming and $150,000 for the Bureau of Fisheries.

Tending to offset these boosts was elimination of the $450,000 anthracite laboratory fund on motion of Rep. Keating (R-NY) by a nose count of 134 to 118. The committee leadership opposed Keating's motion.

As the House worked toward a vote the Senate heard Secretary of the Interior Krug assailed for "unbelievable ignorance."

Sen. Williams (R-Del) took the Senate floor to dispute assertions he said had been made by Krug that a House Appropriations Committee slash of $139,000,000 in the department's budget "might be enough to set off a major depression."

He said Krug had contended that if the cut stands, Interior will have to reduce its present force of 44,740 employes back to the 41,000 it had in 1938.

"If correctly quoted, Mr. Krug either has shown unbelievable ignorance as to the true facts or has deliberately attempted to deceive the Congress," Williams declared.

He said Krug had failed to mention that 11,000 employes have been transferred away from the Interior Department to other government agencies since 1938.

Senators Debate Issue Of Tougher Labor Legislation

Committee Wrangle Brought Into Open

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — Sens. Taft (R-Ohio) and Ball (R-Minn.), ignoring talk of a presidential veto, today opened a drive to toughen the Senate's labor bill in its curbs on unions.

The move promptly collided with opposition from Sens. Ives (R-NY), Pepper (D-Fla.) and Murray (D-Mont.)

All five senators are members of the Labor Committee, and the fight on the floor brought into the open a wrangle developed while the committee was writing the bill.

House Bill More Drastic

The measure is generally milder than the one the House passed last week by a top-heavy vote. But both would ban the closed shop, authorize court injunctions to block strikes affecting the general welfare, create a new federal mediation service and make unions subject to federal court suits.

The Senate scrap started when Ball proposed to restore a provision knocked out in committee. It would prohibit unions from coercing or interfering with workers in their free choice of unions.

Murray delayed a vote until next week by reading at length from a 42-page minority report of the Labor Committee written by Murray, Pepper and Sen. Elbert Thomas (D-Utah). The Senate then recessed until Monday.

Ball Confident Of Passage

Declaring there is "need for complete understanding of all the circumstances" before any action is taken, Murray told the Senate the country is "in a period of reconstruction and dislocation." He said foes of unions have made this a "pretext for the widespread attack on the rights of labor, backed by a barrage of publicity."

Before the debate started, Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), another member, told a reporter that this and other amendments urged by Taft, Ball and other senators would "assure" veto of the bill by President Truman.

Ball said he is confident 50 senators will vote for the amendments. This would assure adoption.

GOVERNMENT WILL SUE 964 RAILROADS FOR OVERCHARGES

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) —An action to recover possibly "millions of dollars" from the railroads in the wartime handling of Army-Navy freight was announced today by the Justice Department.

Attorney General Clark said the proceeding will be brought Monday before the Interstate Commerce Commission in a complaint alleging the government was overcharged on shipments from June 3, 1941 to October 1, 1946. The complaint, he said, names 964 railroads as defendants.

Department officials declined to estimate definitely the refunds expected, but Assistant Attorney General Wendell Berge said in a statement that they "could run into millions of dollars."

Wallace Will Fly Back To U.S. Today For Speaking Tour

Defends Resistance Movement Of Jews

PARIS, April 25 (AP) — Henry A. Wallace ended his 18-day program in Western Europe today with a news conference at which he said the Jews were entitled to a voice in the United Nations, and that the Jewish resistence movement in Palestine was necessary to "arouse the conscience of the world."

He will fly back to the United States tomorrow for a coast-to-coast speaking tour which already has stirred up a controversy in California where owners of the Hollywood Bowl said he would not be allowed to speak in the stadium. Wallace had intended to leave for New York tonight but an "operational delay" by the airline caused postponement of the flight.

Lunches With Blum

The former Vice President rounded off his stay in Europe with a lunch with former Premier Leon Blum, elder statesman of the Socialist Party of France, and a conference with Communist Party leaders who told him that "developments in the United States" left the general impression in France that the American government was backing Gen. Charles De Gaulle and his new Rally of the French People (CALS) movements.

Wallace asked the Communists what evidence they had to back up their assertion, but they said they only had a "general impression."

There was no statement whether Wallace's endorsement yesterday to the Popular Republican Movement of a middle-of-the-road course between right and left extremes was discussed.

French Needs Discussed

His meeting with the Communist leaders, who included Jacques Duclos, secretary of the party and vice president of the National Assembly; Florimond Bonte, Communist Party press chief, and Georges Cogniot, editor of the Communist newspaper L'Humanite, was an hour long.

The discussion included French needs for coal and wheat and the Communist position on French colonial affairs.

The newspaper France-Soir quoted Wallace as saying he would advocate increased wheat shipments to France when he returned to the United States. Wallace said he had noted increasing bread queues in Paris, where several hundred bakeries have closed in the last three days as a result of flour shortages.

C. And P., Union Will Arbitrate Major Issues

State Federation Breaks With NFTW

BALTIMORE, April 25. (AP)—An agreement, which a federal labor conciliator said may "set a national pattern" in settling the nationwide telephone strike, was signed here today providing for local arbitration of the major issues in the Maryland communication work stoppage.

The one-year contract was signed by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company Workers, bargaining agent for some 2,500 plant and maintenance employes in the state.

The agreement was announced jointly by United States Conciliator Lucien F. Rye, who sat in on the negotiations; A. B. Haneke, vice president and general manager of the company, and Henry B. Foster, president of the MFTW.

Foster announced at the same time that the Maryland Federation was withdrawing as an affiliate of the National Federation of Telephone Workers "as of today."

The withdrawal is on the basis of a "ballot previously cast by the members," he said. He would make no further comment on the break.

Return To Work Monday

The plant and maintenance workers, the largest of four striking groups in Maryland, agreed to return to work at 6 a. m. Monday. Telephone operators were not on strike, but many refused to cross picket lines when the walkout began April 7. The company said that about half of the striking clerical workers are back on the job.

Rye said the agreement "may set a national pattern," while Haneke declared it is "being hailed as the peace formula" for terminating the nationwide telephone tieup.

Under the pact, a local arbitration board of three impartial citizens will resolve the disputed issues of general wage increases, geographical differentials, town classifications, scheduled lengths, and progressive and night differentials.

In New York, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, parent firm in the Bell System, hailed the Baltimore agreement as the "first major break" in the 19-day nationwide strike.

The A. T. and T. said Haneke had reported that the union, "in freeing itself from the restrictions and restraints imposed by the National Federation of Telephone Workers and reaching a local settlement with the company, acted in the public interest."

Haneke declared the settlement is "indication of what can be accomplished by local bargaining." He added that "we have always negotiated locally with unions and with this agreement have again demonstrated that it is the most effective and expedient method of reaching a satisfactory settlement."

Arbitration Board Of Three

In Washington, C. and P. officials said that if the company and union are unable to agree on three Maryland citizens to serve on the arbitration board, there agreement provides the board will be appointed by the chief judge of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City.

The company spokesman in Washington said that many issues—such as vacation and leaves of absence—were resolved in the contract which is for one year.

Auto Workers Ask Ford For 23 1-2 Cent Increase

DETROIT, April 25 (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers, hard upon a compromise settlement with General Motors, asked the Ford Motor Company today for immediate negotiations for a wage increase.

From Ford the union asked a 23½ cents an hour increase, the original goal in the UAW-CIO's 1947 wage drive which brought an agreement last night with General Motors for 11½ cents hourly and six paid holidays.

Negotiations meanwhile proceeded with Chrysler Corporation toward a possible early settlement. The company and union were reported close to an agreement with their contract, thrice extended, due to expire at midnight Saturday.

Vice-Presidents For U.N. Assembly Are Agreed Upon

Palestine Session Will Open Monday

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., April 25. (AP)—The Big Five powers were reported in agreement tonight on a slate of small-power vice-presidents and committee chairman for the special Palestine session of the United Nations Assembly opening Monday in New York.

The five, who automatically are given vice-presidencies, were said to have agreed that the other two second-level posts should be awarded to either the Philippines or India and one Latin-American country, possibly Colombia.

At a caucus with Secretary-General Trygve Lie, the five were also reported in agreement on a reshuffle of committee chairmanships with all to be retained in the lesser-power category.

Aranha Leads For Presidency

After the meeting, informed quarters had no comment on the Assembly presidency, for which Dr. Oswaldo Aranha, former Foreign Minister of Brazil, has a wide lead based on solid Latin-American support.

In the last regular Assembly the vice-presidents, besides the Big Five, were the chief delegates of South Africa and Venezuela.

The slate thus would shift one from Africa to the Asiatic-Pacific area at the reported request of Dr. Quo Tai-Chi, of China, who proposed either India or the Philippines amid circumstances indicating India has the edge.

For the chairmanships of the six main committees, the Big Five were reported agreed on Egypt, Czechoslovakia, Canada, Sweden, Poland and Mexico. It was not disclosed to which committee each might be elected. In the last Assembly the committee posts were held by the Soviet Ukraine, Poland, New Zealand, Uruguay, Syria and Panama.

Delegates To Meet Again

The Big Five chief delegates will meet again tomorrow to approve the provisional agenda.

The delegates met as the United

Marshall's Plane Lands In Iceland

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, April 25. (AP)—The plane flying Secretary of State George C. Marshall from Moscow to Washington landed here at 10:30 GMT tonight (5:30 p. m., EST) and left 90 minutes later for the United States' capital.

Marshall's plane reached Berlin from Moscow at 1:25 p. m., and took off at 3:25 p. m. (8:25 a. m., EST) for Reykjavik.

The Secretary of State, head of the American delegation at the four-power Foreign Ministers Conference in Moscow which adjourned Thursday, was met at the airport here by Icelandic Foreign Minister Bjarni Benediktsson and officers of the American Legation.

While the plane was being refueled, Marshall went to a hotel where he talked briefly with local newsmen, recalling a wartime trip he made to Iceland in 1942. He appeared fit, despite the long flight, and was in good humor.

Marshall expected to reach Washington by noon tomorrow, and his radio report to the American people will be made soon after that.

Attempt To Override Truman Veto Unlikely

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — Congressional talk of trying to override President Truman's veto of an investigating resolution virtually evaporated today.

Instead, the plan now is to pass a resolution in amended form, to meet objections of the Justice Department and the President.

This plan was proposed by Sen. Hatch (D-NM), of the Senate War Investigating Committee, and Chairman Brewster (R-Me) said he will lay it before the committee tomorrow.

Attlee Bitterly Flays Churchill

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, April 25. (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee, speaking out in his sharpest personal attack on Winston Churchill since taking office 21 months ago, accused the Conservative leader today of "meanness" in criticisms of the Labor government and of supporting "obsolete imperialism."

The Prime Minister told the Scottish Trades Union Congress in a major speech that Churchill personally and the Conservative Party bore a large measure of the blame for Britain's present foreign and domestic difficulties with which the Labor government is struggling.

Following Attlee's speech the Congress rejected by only an eight-vote margin a resolution of the Scottish branch of the National Union of Mineworkers which criticized Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's course and called for radical changes in foreign policy "in the interests of peace and progress." The vote was 158 to 166.

Labor Party sources said Attlee was angered by the steady barrage of criticism in the press and at public meetings, latest of which was the recent speech of Churchill at a Conservative gathering.

In that speech Churchill asserted the "Socialist government are living upon the American dole" and "scattering and squandering" the empire.

"Incompetence" Charge Faces Customs Bureau

WASHINGTON, April 25—(AP)—A charge that the United States Customs Bureau is guilty of "gross incompetence" and that it made a "bald attempt" to defeat congressional economy by pressure tactics was made today by the Senate Expenditures Committee.

The committee recommended that the bureau be reorganized and forced to live within its house-appropriation of $32,500,000 for the year beginning July 1.

That figure is $3,500,000 less than the bureau told Congress it needs. When the House made the cut, the bureau gave dismissal notices to some 1,500 Canadian border and port patrol officers.

Porter Resigns Post

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—Paul A. Porter formally resigned today from the post of ambassador which was given him as chief of the American mission to Greece.

The commission investigated conditions in Greece and returned and erican mission to Greece.

Sterling Hayden Marries

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., April 25 (AP) — Film Actor Sterling Hayden was married at an informal ceremony at Montecito Presbyterian Church today to Betty Anne de Noon, of Pasadena, unconnected with the movie-industry.

Third Of Nation's Residents Will Set Clocks Up One Hour Tomorrow

NEW YORK, April 25—(AP)—At least a third of the nation's 140,000,000 residents must remember to turn their clocks ahead an hour tomorrow night in preparation for the annual advent of daylight saving time at 2 a. m. Sunday.

The lost hour of sleep can be made up 22 weeks and many sunburns and mosquito bites later, on Sunday, September 28.

As usual, "summer time" will meet with wide favor in the northeastern sector of the nation, whose crowded cities are happy to have the extra hour of sunlight for recreation each evening.

But in the South, far West and most of the Midwest, where rural voices and votes have a strong influence, the change will be made only sparingly.

The double-time system poses the usual problems for railroads, broadcasting networks and airlines although they are expecting little confusion because of long daylight saving experience.

Railroad timetables will remain on standard time and schedules for through trains generally will be the same. In commuting areas which use daylight saving, the timetables will be printed on standard time but schedules will be shifted an hour in most cases.

The four broadcasting networks will change to a daylight saving schedule causing program times to be advanced an hour in standard time communities.

The airlines report that they expect to adhere to their standard time schedules. This puts the burden on travelers in daylight saving cities to get to the airport at the proper time.

Marquess Of Bute, One Of Richest Men, Dies

LONDON, Saturday, April 26 (AP)—The Marquess of Bute, one of the world's richest men, died Friday night at the age of 65.

The Marquess, who had been in ill health for some time, died at Mountstuart House, his estate on the west coast of Scotland.

The British Press Association estimated that the "capital value of his entire estate cannot be short of 60,000,000 pounds ($240,000,000)."

The Marquess owned six castles in Britain and Spain and his land holdings were estimated at 117,000 acres. Before nationalization of Britain's coal mines he drew 117,000 pounds ($468,000) annually in coal royalties alone.

Businessmen At Easton, Md., Take Telephone Tieup Into Own Hands

EASTON, Md., April 25 (AP)—Two score angry businessmen took the telephone tieup into their own hands here today, persuaded two pickets to stop marching in front of the local exchange, and hustled non-striking operators back to their switchboards.

Service was resumed on something like a normal basis for the first time since four Maryland unions went on strike against the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company in the nationwide walkout April 7.

There was no violence when some 40 merchants, business and professional men went in a body to the telephone building about 9:30 this morning and accosted two pickets marching there for the Maryland Federation of Telephone Workers.

A member of the crowd stepped forward and tore signs from one picket.

"We've got a lot more signs," said the picket.

"Get 'em, we'll tear them off too," said the crowd member.

One of the pickets carried a camera and took a snapshot. Chief of Police Walter B. Wood said he warned the man not to take any more pictures. Members of the crowd said they would wreck his camera if he did.

The two pickets finally left and the businessmen quickly escorted five non-striking operators into the building and they put through the first non-emergency calls in almost three weeks.

A.T.&T. Spurns Long Line Bid For $6 Boost

Strikers Slice Wage Hike Demand In Half

WASHINGTON, April 25—(AP)—The American Telephone and Telegraph Company tonight rejected an offer of its striking long lines operators to settle their strike if given a wage increase of $6 weekly—half their original demand.

John J. Moran, president of the American Union of Telephone Workers, asked for a $6 "across the board" increase at a negotiating session tonight.

But George S. Dring, assistant vice president of the A. T. and T. long lines division, replied that the offer was "unacceptable."

Dring, however, offered to arbitrate wages on a community basis. This was rejected by Moran.

Word that the National Federation of Telephone Workers, with which the long lines workers are affiliated, would compromise their wage demands came earlier in the day.

That development, coupled with a settlement with plant and maintenance workers for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company in Maryland, had given rise to hopes that the 19-day old nationwide walkout might be brought to an end soon.

Negotiations To Resume

A company statement said Dring asked whether the long lines union was "free to deal without referring questions" to the policy committee of the National Federation of Telephone Workers.

"Mr. Moran said it (the union) was free to do so on any offer which the long lines union negotiating committee would accept," the statement said. It continued:

"On the basis of this statement it is not clear that the long lines negotiating committee is a free agent.

"Mr. Moran then asked for an increase of $6 per week 'across the board'. Mr. Dring said this demand was unacceptable, but offered to arbitrate wages on a community basis. This offer was rejected by Mr. Moran, who said that even if such a plan were acceptable to the long lines union it would have to go to the policy committee of the NFTW for approval.

Negotiations are to be resumed at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Word that the NFTW, with which the long lines workers are affiliated, would compromise on a $6 weekly increase, came earlier in the day.

After tonight's session, W. Ellison Chalmers, a government conciliator, said he regarded the company's position as a flat rejection.

Joseph A. Beirne, president of the NFTW, said the company's reaction to the $6 offer "looks like a rejection."

He had disclosed the halving of the union's wage demand after a five-hour secret discussion by the federation's policy committee.

Meanwhile Federal Conciliator Lucien F. Rye had said the Maryland settlement—which provides for settlement of issues through a local board of arbitration—"may set a national pattern."

But Beirne commented: "It would be jumping to conclusion to say that this would be a pattern."

$6 Figure "Follows Pattern"

The government, in the meantime, set out to negotiate with three key units, in the national picture.

Beirne explained that since the $6 figure amounts to about 15 cents an hour, it would follow the pattern of wage increases formulated in recent weeks in the steel, auto and electrical manufacturing industries.

Government figures show the average weekly pay of telephone workers is $43.

Meanwhile Daniel J. Tobin, head of the AFL teamsters, promised the NFTW a $10,000 check for every two weeks the walkout continues. He delivered the first check himself today.

Beirne said that the policy committee authorized all 39 of the striking unions in the federation to settle locally for a $6 pay raise. He said that settlement by the Bell System companies with the unions at this figure would be "a great

House Okays Big Cut In Interior Dept. Funds

GOP Economy Drive Scores Major Victory

45 Per Cent Slash Is Voted, 307 To 30

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — The Republican economy drive scored a major victory tonight when the House passed, 307 to 30, an Interior Department appropriation bill totalling $161,413,513—about 45 per cent less than President Truman asked.

The Appropriations Committee had cut the bill 47 per cent below budget estimates before sending it to the floor last week. It recommended $156,538,513, a reduction of $138,881,907 below budget estimates for the department's operations for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Democrats, who had hoped to pick up enough Republican votes to override the committee's 47 per cent slash, offered dozens of amendments but got nowhere on them. Many GOP votes they had hoped to corral apparently were weaned away by amendments accepted by the committee.

These amendments added $2,000,000 for the Colorado-Big Thompson reclamation project in Colorado, $1,000,000 for the Anderson Ranch Dam project in Idaho, $2,000,000 for the Columbia basin project in Washington State, $175,000 for the Glendo project in Wyoming and $150,000 for the Bureau of Fisheries.

Tending to offset these boosts was elimination of the $450,000 anthracite laboratory fund on motion of Rep. Keating (R-NY) by a nose count of 134 to 118. The committee leadership opposed Keating's motion.

As the House worked toward a vote the Senate heard Secretary of the Interior Krug assailed for "unbelievable ignorance."

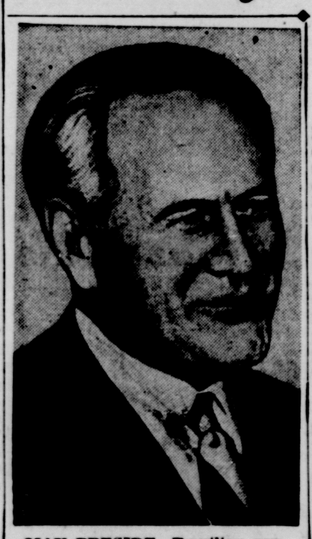
Sen. Williams (R-Del) took the Senate floor to dispute assertions he said had been made by Krug that a House Appropriations Committee slash of $139,000,000 in the department's budget "might be enough to set off a major depression."

He said Krug had contended that if the cut stands, Interior will have to reduce its present force of 44,740 employes back to the 41,000 it had in 1938.

"If correctly quoted, Mr. Krug either has shown unbelievable ignorance as to the true facts or has deliberately attempted to deceive the Congress," Williams declared.

He said Krug had failed to mention that 11,000 employes have been transferred away from the Interior Department to other government agencies since 1938.

White House Foreign Policy Conference Is Called By President



MAY PRESIDE—Brazilian representative on the United Nations security Council, Dr. Oswaldo Aranha, 53, is favored to preside over the special United Nations Assembly session at Lake Success, N. Y., on the Palestine question. He has solid Latin-American support.

Marshall, Congress Leaders To Attend

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — President Truman today invited congressional leaders of both parties to a White House conference Sunday night with Secretary of State Marshall to review foreign policy developments.

Marshall, returning from the Moscow Foreign Ministers Conference tomorrow, is expected to give the congressional leaders a detailed report on American relations with Russia in advance of a radio address to the nation from 8:30 to 9 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, Monday night over major networks.

Truman To Greet Marshall

Marshall will be met at the airport here tomorrow by the President. Mr. Truman left the White House this evening to spend the night on the presidential yacht Williamsburg on the Potomac but will interrupt his cruise to greet his Secretary of State.

Whether the President himself will hear what Marshall has to report before the session with the congressional leaders remained uncertain. No plans were announced for Marshall to join the President on his cruise, which is to continue until Sunday evening, and Mr. Truman thus may receive Marshall's briefing simultaneously with the congressmen.

Among those invited to the Sunday night meeting was Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of the GOP policy committee who voted for the Greek-Turkish aid measure "reluctantly" when it passed the Senate this week.

Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Sen. Barkley, of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, are expected to head the Senate delegation, if Barkley returns from abroad in time.

Aid Bill's Approval Near

The conference will be the first Mr. Truman has held with the legislators since he discussed the $400,000,000 Greece-Turkey measure with them in advance of his address to a joint session of Congress March 12.

That legislation now is well on the way to final passage but two other administration proposals have met some questioning in Congress since Marshall left for Moscow—the Italian peace treaty and the $350,000,000 relief program for liberated lands.

The Greece-Turkey measure is due for House passage next week.

C. And P., Union Will Arbitrate Major Issues

State Federation Breaks With NFTW

BALTIMORE, April 25. (AP)—An agreement, which a federal labor conciliator said may "set a national pattern" in settling the nationwide telephone strike, was signed here today providing for local arbitration of the major issues in the Maryland communication work stoppage.

The one-year contract was signed by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company Workers, bargaining agent for some 2,500 plant and maintenance employes in the state.

The agreement was announced jointly by United States Conciliator Lucien F. Rye, who sat in on the negotiations; A. B. Haneke, vice president and general manager of the company, and Henry B. Foster, president of the MFTW.

Foster announced at the same time that the Maryland Federation was withdrawing as an affiliate of the National Federation of Telephone Workers "as of today."

The withdrawal is on the basis of a "ballot previously cast by the members," he said. He would make no further comment on the break.

Return To Work Monday

The plant and maintenance workers, the largest of four striking groups in Maryland, agreed to return to work at 6 a. m. Monday. Telephone operators were not on strike, but many refused to cross picket lines when the walkout began April 7. The company said that about half of the striking clerical workers are back on the job.

Rye said the agreement "may set a national pattern," while Haneke declared it is "being hailed as the peace formula" for terminating the nationwide telephone tieup.

Under the pact, a local arbitration board of three impartial citizens will resolve the disputed issues of general wage increases, geographical differentials, town classifications, scheduled lengths, and progressive and night differentials.

In New York, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, parent firm in the Bell System, hailed the Baltimore agreement as the "first major break" in the 19-day nationwide strike.

The A. T. and T. said Haneke had reported that the union, "in freeing itself from the restrictions and restraints imposed by the National Federation of Telephone Workers and reaching a local settlement with the company, acted in the public interest."

Haneke declared the settlement is "indication of what can be accomplished by local bargaining." He added that "we have always negotiated locally with unions and with this agreement have again demonstrated that it is the most effective and expedient method of reaching a satisfactory settlement."

Arbitration Board Of Three

In Washington, C. and P. officials said that if the company and union are unable to agree on three Maryland citizens to serve on the arbitration board, there agreement provides the board will be appointed by the chief judge of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City.

The company spokesman in Washington said that many issues such as vacation and leaves of absence—were resolved in the contract which is for one year.

Vice-Presidents For U.N. Assembly Are Agreed Upon

Palestine Session Will Open Monday

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., April 25. (AP)—The Big Five powers were reported in agreement tonight on a slate of small-power vice-presidents and committee chairman for the special Palestine session of the United Nations Assembly opening Monday in New York.

The five, who automatically are given vice-presidencies, were said to have agreed that the other two second-level posts should be awarded to either the Philippines or India and one Latin-American country, possibly Colombia.

At a caucus with Secretary-General Trygve Lie, the five were also reported in agreement on a reshuffle of committee chairmanships with all to be retained in the lesser-power category.

Aranha Leads For Presidency

After the meeting, informed quarters had no comment on the Assembly presidency, for which Dr. Oswaldo Aranha, former Foreign Minister of Brazil, has a wide lead based on solid Latin-American support.

In the last regular Assembly the vice-presidents, besides the Big Five, were the chief delegates of South Africa and Venezuela.

The slate thus would shift one from Africa to the Asiatic-Pacific area at the reported request of Dr. Quo Tai-Chi, of China, who proposed either India or the Philippines amid circumstances indicating India has the edge.

For the chairmanships of the six main committees, the Big Five were reported agreed on Egypt, Czechoslovakia, Canada, Sweden, Poland and Mexico. It was not disclosed to which committee each might be elected. In the last Assemcly the committee posts were held by the Soviet Ukraine, Poland, New Zealand, Uruguay, Syria and Panama.

Delegates To Meet Again

The Big Five chief delegates will meet again tomorrow to approve the provisional agenda.

Marshall's Plane Lands In Iceland

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, April 25. (AP)—The plane flying Secretary of State George C. Marshall from Moscow to Washington landed here at 10:30 GMT tonight (5:30 p. m., EST) and left 90 minutes later for the United States' capital.

Marshall's plane reached Berlin from Moscow at 1:25 p. m., and took off at 3:25 p. m. (8:25 a. m., EST) for Reykjavik.

The Secretary of State, head of the American delegation at the four-power Foreign Ministers Conference in Moscow which adjourned Thursday, was met at the airport here by Icelandic Foreign Minister Bjarni Benediktsson and officers of the American Legation.

While the plane was being refueled, Marshall went to a hotel where he talked briefly with local newsmen, recalling a wartime trip he made to Iceland in 1942. He appeared fit, despite the long flight, and was in good humor.

Marshall expected to reach Washington by noon tomorrow and his radio report to the American people will be made soon after that.

Marquess Of Bute, One Of Richest Men, Dies

LONDON, Saturday, April 26 (AP)—The Marquess of Bute, one of the world's richest men, died Friday night at the age of 65.

The Marquess, who had been in ill health for some time, died at Mountstuart House, his estate on the west coast of Scotland.

The British Press Association estimated that the "capital value of his entire estate cannot be short of 60,000,000 pounds ($240,000,000)."

The Marquess owned six castles in Britain and Spain and his land holdings were estimated at 117,000 acres. Before nationalization of Britain's coal mines he drew 117,000 pounds ($468,000) annually in coal royalties alone.

Attempt To Override Truman Veto Unlikely

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — Congressional talk of trying to override President Truman's veto of an investigating resolution virtually evaporated today.

Instead, the plan now is to pass a resolution in amended form, to meet objections of the Justice Department and the President.

This plan was proposed by Sen. Hatch (D-NM), of the Senate War Investigating Committee, and Chairman Brewster (R-Me) said he will lay it before the committee tomorrow.

Senators Debate Issue Of Tougher Labor Legislation

Committee Wrangle Brought Into Open

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — Sens. Taft (R-Ohio) and Ball (R-Minn.), ignoring talk of a presidential veto, today opened a drive to toughen the Senate's labor bill in its curbs on unions.

The move promptly collided with opposition from Sens. Ives (R-NY), Pepper (D-Fla.) and Murray (D-Mont.)

All five senators are members of the Labor Committee, and the fight on the floor brought into the open a wrangle developed while the committee was writing the bill.

House Bill More Drastic

The measure is generally milder than the one the House passed last week by a top-heavy vote. But both would ban the closed shop, authorize court injunctions to block strikes affecting the general welfare, create a new federal mediation service and make unions subject to federal court suits.

The Senate scrap started when Ball proposed to restore a provision knocked out in committee. It would prohibit unions from coercing or interfering with workers in their free choice of unions.

Murray delayed a vote until next week by reading at length from a 42-page minority report of the Labor Committee written by Murray, Pepper and Sen. Elbert Thomas (D-Utah). The Senate then recessed until Monday.

Ball Confident Of Passage

Declaring there is "need for complete understanding of all the circumstances" before any action is taken, Murray told the Senate the country is "in a period of reconstruction and dislocation." He said foes of unions have made this a "pretext for the widespread attack on the rights of labor, backed by a barrage of publicity."

Before the debate started, Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), another member, told a reporter that this and other amendments urged by Taft, Ball and other senators would "assure" veto of the bill by President Truman.

Ball said he is confident 50 senators will vote for the amendments. This would assure adoption.

GOVERNMENT WILL SUE 964 RAILROADS FOR OVERCHARGES

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) —An action to recover possibly "millions of dollars" from the railroads in the wartime handling of Army-Navy freight was announced today by the Justice Department.

Attorney General Clark said the proceeding will be brought Monday before the Interstate Commerce Commission in a complaint alleging the government was overcharged on shipments from June 3, 1941 to October 1, 1946. The complaint, he said, names 964 railroads as defendants.

Department officials declined to estimate definitely the refunds expected, but Assistant Attorney General Wendell Berge said in a statement that they "could run into millions of dollars."

Attlee Bitterly Flays Churchill

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, April 25. (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee, speaking out in his sharpest personal attack on Winston Churchill since taking office 21 months ago, accused the Conservative leader today of "meanness" in criticisms of the Labor government and of supporting "obsolete imperialism."

The Prime Minister told the Scottish Trades Union Congress in a major speech that Churchill personally and the Conservative Party bore a large measure of the blame for Britain's present foreign and domestic difficulties with which the Labor government is struggling.

Following Attlee's speech the Congress rejected by only an eight-vote margin a resolution of the Scottish branch of the National Union of Mineworkers which criticized Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's course and called for radical changes in foreign policy "in the interests of peace and progress." The vote was 158 to 166.

Labor Party sources said Attlee was angered by the steady barrage of criticism in the press and at public meetings, latest of which was the recent speech of Churchill at a Conservative gathering.

In that speech Churchill asserted the "Socialist government are living upon the American dole" and "scattering and squandering" the empire.

"Incompetence" Charge Faces Customs Bureau

WASHINGTON, April 25—(AP)—A charge that the United States Customs Bureau is guilty of "gross incompetence" and that it made a "bald attempt" to defeat congressional economy by pressure tactics was made today by the Senate Expenditures Committee.

The committee recommended that the bureau be reorganized and forced to live within its house-appropriation of $32,500,000 for the year beginning July 1.

That figure is $3,500,000 less than the bureau told Congress it needs. When the House made the cut, the bureau gave dismissal notices to some 1,500 Canadian border and port patrol officers.

Porter Resigns Post

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—Paul A. Porter formally resigned today from the post of ambassador which was given him as chief of the American mission to Greece.

The commission investigated conditions in Greece and returned and erican mission to Greece.

Wallace Will Fly Back To U.S. Today For Speaking Tour

Defends Resistance Movement Of Jews

PARIS, April 25 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace ended his 18-day program in Western Europe today with a news conference at which he said the Jews were entitled to a voice in the United Nations, and that the Jewish resistence movement in Palestine was necessary to "arouse the conscience of the world."

He will fly back to the United States tomorrow for a coast-to-coast speaking tour which already has stirred up a controversy in California where owners of the Hollywood Bowl said he would not be allowed to speak in the stadium. Wallace had intended to leave for New York tonight but an "operational delay" by the airline caused postponement of the flight.

Lunches With Blum

The former Vice President rounded off his stay in Europe with a lunch with former Premier Leon Blum, elder statesman of the Socialist Party of France, and a conference with Communist Party leaders who told him that "developments in the United States" left the general impression in France that the American government was backing Gen. Charles De Gaulle and his new Rally of the French People (CALS) movements.

Wallace asked the Communists what evidence they had to back up their assertion, but they said they only had a "general impression."

There was no statement whether Wallace's endorsement yesterday to the Popular Republican Movement of a middle-of-the-road course between right and left extremes was discussed.

French Needs Discussed

His meeting with the Communist leaders, who included Jacques Duclos, secretary of the party and vice president of the National Assembly; Florimond Bonte, Communist Party press chief, and Georges Cogniot, editor of the Communist newspaper L'Humanite, was an hour long.

The discussion included French needs for coal and wheat and the Communist position on French colonial affairs.

The newspaper France-Soir quoted Wallace as saying he would advocate increased wheat shipments to France when he returned to the United States. Wallace said he had noted increasing bread queues in Paris, where several hundred bakeries have closed in the last three days as a result of flour shortages.

Auto Workers Ask Ford For 23 1-2 Cent Increase

DETROIT, April 25 (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers, hard upon a compromise settlement with General Motors, asked the Ford Motor Company today for immediate negotiations for a wage increase.

From Ford the union asked a 23½ cents an hour increase, the original goal in the UAW-CIO's 1947 wage drive which brought an agreement last night with General Motors for 11½ cents hourly and six paid holidays.

Negotiations meanwhile proceeded with Chrysler Corporation toward a possible early settlement. The company and union were reported close to an agreement with their contract, thrice extended, due to expire at midnight Saturday.

Third Of Nation's Residents Will Set Clocks Up One Hour Tomorrow

NEW YORK, April 25—(AP)—At least a third of the nation's 140,000,000 residents must remember to turn their clocks ahead an hour tomorrow night in preparation for the annual advent of daylight saving time at 2 a. m. Sunday.

The lost hour of sleep can be made up 22 weeks and many sunburns and mosquito bites later, on Sunday, September 28.

As usual, "summer time" will meet with wide favor in the northeastern sector of the nation, whose crowded cities are happy to have the extra hour of sunlight for recreation each evening.

But in the South, far West and most of the Midwest, where rural voices and votes have a strong influence, the change will be made only sparingly.

The double-time system poses the usual problems for railroads, broadcasting networks and airlines although they are expecting little confusion because of long daylight saving experience.

Railroad timetables will remain on standard time and schedules for through trains generally will be the same. In commuting areas which use daylight saving, the timetables will be printed on standard time but schedules will be shifted an hour in most cases.

The four broadcasting networks will change to a daylight saving schedule causing program times to be advanced an hour in standard time communities.

The airlines report that they expect to adhere to their standard time schedules. This puts the burden on travelers in daylight saving cities to get to the airport at the proper time.

Businessmen At Easton, Md., Take Telephone Tieup Into Own Hands

EASTON, Md., April 25 (AP)—Two score angry businessmen took the telephone tieup into their own hands here today, persuaded two pickets to stop marching in front of the local exchange, and hustled non-striking operators back to their switchboards.

Service was resumed on something like a normal basis for the first time since four Maryland unions went on strike against the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company in the nationwide walkout April 7.

There was no violence when some 40 merchants, business and professional men went in a body to the telephone building about 9:30 this morning and accosted two pickets marching there for the Maryland Federation of Telephone Workers.

A member of the crowd stepped forward and tore signs from one picket.

"We've got a lot more signs," said the picket.

"Get 'em, we'll tear them off too," said the crowd member.

One of the pickets carried a camera and took a snapshot. Chief of Police Walter B. Wood said he warned the man not to take any more pictures. Members of the crowd said they would wreck his camera if he did.

The two pickets finally left and the businessmen quickly escorted five non-striking operators into the building and they put through the first non-emergency calls in almost three weeks.

Palestine Police Compound Blast Takes Five Lives

Kidnaping Hoax Adds To Mounting Tension

JERUSALEM, April 25. (AP)—Two Jews drove a stolen postoffice truck laden with explosives into one of the most heavily-guarded police compounds in Palestine today, and 20 minutes later a shattering blast killed five British police officials and wounded six others.

The Stern Gang, whose victims have included a British resident minister of the Middle East, claimed responsibility for the explosion at Sarona, a suburb of Tel Aviv. The new outbreak of violence raised to 13 the number of killed in the past 48 hours in avowed "blood-for-blood" reprisals for the executions and suicides of six Jewish underground members.

In other violence, five armed Jews kidnapped Morris Collins, a British businessman, from the terrace of a fashionable hotel in Tel Aviv last night, but released him unharmed in 15 minutes when it was discovered he was Jewish.

A telephone hoax in Jerusalem that three British officers were kidnapped added to the high state of tension in the Holy Land. A quick search of the heart of the city was ordered before it was discovered there was nothing to the report received by police from an anonymous telephone caller.

The Stern Gang, regarded as the smallest but most desperate of the three Jewish underground organizations, sent a communique to a Hebrew newspaper admitting the Sarona attack, whose dead victims included one British police inspector and four constables. Of the six injured only one was reported in serious condition.

influencing factor" in ending the 19-day old cross-country strike.

There remain other issues. These include demands for a union shop (in which all workers must join the union), checkoff of union dues by payroll deductions, reductions in the differences in pay for the same job of time it takes to reach top pay in different cities, cutting the length levels, improved vacations and better pensions.

While the national federation granted local unions power to settle the wage issue at $6, it held on to its insistence that the final contract in all phases must be approved by it. This could be a stumbling block, as the Western Electric branch of the telephone company has said it wants to negotiate without the approval requirement.

Weirton Steel Grants 12 1-2-Cent Wage Boost

WEIRTON, W. Va., April 25 (AP)—The Weirton Steel Company today granted its 12,000 independent union production workers a 12½ cent across-the-board hourly wage increase and hiked its minimum basic hour rate from $1 to $1.16½.

The 12½ cent figure followed the pattern set by the United States Steel Corporation-CIO-United Steel Worker contract completed earlier in the week. The benefits, like those of the United States Steel agreement, are retroactive to April 1.

However, the United States Steel pact provided an additional 2½ cent spread for fringe items.

CIO, NAM Urge Different Kinds Of Cuts In Taxes

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — The CIO and the National Association of Manufacturers both told the Senate Finance Committee today they favor tax cuts—but of widely different kinds.

Harry E. Humphrey's, Jr., chairman of NAM's Government Finance Committee, urged the senators to okay the $4,000,000,000 individual income tax cut already approved by the House. He called it "an act of constructive economic statesmanship."

Stanley H. Ruttenberg, assistant director of research for the CIO, disagreed.

"This bill gives tax relief to the greedy and not to the needy," he complained, contending that it offers the greatest assistance to those who need it least.

Ruttenberg presented the CIO's tax program: Increase individuals' personal exemptions from the income tax; eliminate all excise taxes except those which are regulatory in character; close what he called "loopholes" in the laws governing joint returns, the capital gains levy and the tax exempt securities; increase estate and gift taxes; revive the excess profits tax on corporations.

He calculated that the net gain to the Treasury from these suggested changes would be $200,000,000.

Lane Vetoes 43 Measures Passed By 1947 Assembly

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 26 (AP) — Gov. Lane vetoed 43 bills today, mostly measures which conflict with others passed by the 1947 General Assembly, and some he deemed of questionable policy or unnecessary because of existent laws.

Among those he vetoed were measures prohibiting the Tidewater Fisheries Department from leasing natural oyster rock or bars.

Of this, the Governor said "the bill neither diminishes nor extends the present authority of the commission. I feel it would add unnecessary wording to the oyster law.

Another oyster bill vetoed was that providing only for the confiscation of boats owned by Virginians accused of violating Potomac River fishing laws.

The Governor already has signed a bill permitting the trial of arrested Virginians in Maryland courts as well as confiscating their boats.

Lane rejected an act that would have given the Public Service Commission power to regulate passenger motor vehicles in charter or contract service. He noted that similar legislation passed in 1945 had been held unconstitutional and the commission itself did not consider the authority proper.

A bill to give the commission power to supervise taxicabs in cities of more than 40,000 population was turned down, the Governor said, because "the commission advises me that it is not organized to effectively regulate taxicab operations outside of Baltimore."

Lane added that the commission had advocated legislation that would give local authorities power to regulate cabs.

The Governor vetoed a bill to require the backfilling of strip mined land in Allegany County because of a conflict in the title and text of the measure that might make it apply also to Garrett County. The Garrett County delegation had its county exempted from its provisions after first being included.

Lane Signs More Bills

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 25 (AP) — Gov. Lane today moved another long step toward clearing the mass of acts left him by the General Assembly and vetoed 43 bills.

Among the bills he signed was one authorizing political sub-divisions to increase their taxes on admissions. This was in line with the administration's support of the Sherbow Commission recommendations on distribution of moneys to counties and towns.

Another measure creates a state fiscal research bureau to investigate and complete data on the financial and tax status of counties and municipalities.

One of the bills provided that judges attack an explanation to orders denying or granting writs of habeas corpus and sets up a process for the appeal of a denial of a writ.

The retail sales tax act was reinforced by the signing of a "use tax" measure which will make it possible to prevent out-of-state purchasers from avoiding the sales impost.

Gambling Figure Asked To Testify At Probe

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — Frank Costello, New York gambling figure, was asked today to testify at a congressional investigation into wartime operations of a reputed "non-profit" corporation.

The government slapped a $2,113,199 tax lien against the organization, the Aerodynamics Research Corporation, earlier this month. The proposed inquiry, as outlined by Chairman Bradley (R-Mich), of the House Merchant Marine Committee, is to ascertain whether the corporation got Maritime Commission contracts illegally.

Costello in New York disclaimed any connection with the organization.

Dr. Bush Says Reds Have No A-Bomb

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., April 25—(AP)—Dr. Vannevar Bush, president of Carnegie Institution at Washington and former head of the wartime Office of Scientific Research, said tonight that Russia at this time has no atomic bomb, but could have one in six years by putting out sufficient effort.

Bush, speaker at a dinner honoring Dr. Irvin Stewart, who is to be inaugurated president of West Virginia University tomorrow, made his statement in an interview.

To accomplish creation of the atom bomb, Bush said, the Russians will find it necessary to embark on an all-out effort for six years. The United States and its Allies developed the weapon in three years.

Commenting on a dispatch today from Chicago that engineers at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., project had proposed a moratorium on atomic bomb research for a generation, Bush said it would be difficult, if not impossible, to do this.

He added, however, that it might be achieved if there were assurances from Russia and other powers that they would keep a pledge to conduct no such research for a given period.

Hopes For Accord On Global Police Force Abandoned

U.N. Committee Plans To End Talks Monday

NEW YORK, April 25. (AP)—The United Nations Military Staff Committee planning a global police force today abandoned hopes of reaching unanimous agreement on several basic principles in the face of continued Russian opposition.

Russia was represented as standing alone on the top issues with the United States, Britain, France and China, the other members, generally being together.

Holding their second consecutive all-day meeting in a drive to get recommendations to the parent Security Council by April 30, the admirals and generals cleared away several minor objections and then began discussion of the full report.

At the close of today's meeting, a person close to the delegates said the committee planned to wind up its discussions on Monday. Secretaries of the five delegations went into session immediately after the regular meeting, presumably to draft a letter of transmittal to carry the report to the council.

This person added that the committee contemplated no recommendation that the report be kept secret.

A source familiar with the work of the committee said there would be no formal vote on the completed report, but that all the dissenting views — mostly Russian — would be shown in the body of the summary going to the council.

Maryland settlement, also said in Washington that it wolud have no effect on the NFTW negotiations.

The Maryland group is in a "sort of twilight zone" with the NFTW because it is withdrawing as of April 30, Beirne said.

He said the Maryland federation technically might have submitted its settlement proposal to the NFTW policy committee out of courtesy, nevertheless there is nothing binding on them as they were quitting the striking group.

Beirne pointed out that other NFTW unions have rejected the same offer as that accepted by the Maryland workers.

Palestine Police Compound Blast Takes Five Lives

Kidnaping Hoax Adds To Mounting Tension

JERUSALEM, April 25. (AP)—Two Jews drove a stolen postoffice truck laden with explosives into one of the most heavily-guarded police compounds in Palestine today, and 20 minutes later a shattering blast killed five British police officials and wounded six others.

The Stern Gang, whose victims have included a British resident minister of the Middle East, claimed responsibility for the explosion at Sarona, a suburb of Tel Aviv. The new outbreak of violence raised to 13 the number of killed in the past 48 hours in avowed "blood-for-blood" reprisals for the executions and suicides of six Jewish underground members.

In other violence, five armed Jews kidnapped Morris Collins, a British businessman, from the terrace of a fashionable hotel in Tel Aviv last night, but released him unharmed in 15 minutes when it was discovered he was Jewish.

A telephone hoax in Jerusalem that three British officers were kidnapped added to the high state of tension in the Holy Land. A quick search of the heart of the city was ordered before it was discovered there was nothing to the report received by police from an anonymous telephone caller.

The Stern Gang, regarded as the smallest but most desperate of the three Jewish underground organizations, sent a communique to a Hebrew newspaper admitting the Sarona attack, whose dead victims included one British police inspector and four constables. Of the six injured only one was reported in serious condition.

influencing factor" in ending the 19-day old cross-country strike.

There remain other issues. These include demands for a union shop (in which all workers must join the union), checkoff of union dues by payroll deductions, reductions in the differences in pay for the same job of time it takes to reach top pay in different cities, cutting the length levels, improved vacations and better pensions.

While the national federation granted local unions power to settle the wage issue at $6, it held on to its insistence that the final contract in all phases must be approved by it. This could be a stumbling block, as the Western Electric branch of the telephone company has said it wants to negotiate without the approval requirement.

Weirton Steel Grants 12 1-2-Cent Wage Boost

WEIRTON, W. Va., April 25 (AP)—The Weirton Steel Company today granted its 12,000 independent union production workers a 12½ cent across-the-board hourly wage increase and hiked its minimum basic hour rate from $1 to $1.16½.

The 12½ cent figure followed the pattern set by the United States Steel Corporation-CIO-United Steel Worker contract completed earlier in the week. The benefits, like those of the United States Steel agreement, are retroactive to April 1.

However, the United States Steel pact provided an additional 2½ cent spread for fringe items.

CIO, NAM Urge Different Kinds Of Cuts In Taxes

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — The CIO and the National Association of Manufacturers both told the Senate Finance Committee today they favor tax cuts—but of widely different kinds.

Harry E. Humphrey's, Jr., chairman of NAM's Government Finance Committee, urged the senators to okay the $4,000,000,000 individual income tax cut already approved by the House. He called it "an act of constructive economic statesmanship."

Stanley H. Ruttenberg, assistant director of research for the CIO, disagreed.

"This bill gives tax relief to the greedy and not to the needy," he complained, contending that it offers the greatest assistance to those who need it least.

Ruttenberg presented the CIO's tax program: Increase individuals' personal exemptions from the income tax; eliminate all excise taxes except those which are regulatory in character; close what he called "loopholes" in the laws governing joint returns, the capital gains levy and the tax exempt securities; increase estate and gift taxes; revive the excess profits tax on corporations.

He calculated that the net gain to the Treasury from these suggested changes would be $200,000,000.

Lane Vetoes 43 Measures Passed By 1947 Assembly

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 26 (AP) — Gov. Lane vetoed 43 bills today, mostly measures which conflict with others passed by the 1947 General Assembly, and some he deemed of questionable policy or unnecessary because of existent laws.

Among those he vetoed were measures prohibiting the Tidewater Fisheries Department from leasing natural oyster rock or bars.

Of this, the Governor said "the bill neither diminishes nor extends the present authority of the commission. I feel it would add unnecessary wording to the oyster law.

Another oyster bill vetoed was that providing only for the confiscation of boats owned by Virginians accused of violating Potomac River fishing laws.

The Governor already has signed a bill permitting the trial of arrested Virginians in Maryland courts as well as confiscating their boats.

Lane rejected an act that would have given the Public Service Commission power to regulate passenger motor vehicles in charter or contract service. He noted that similar legislation passed in 1945 had been held unconstitutional and the commission itself did not consider the authority proper.

A bill to give the commission power to supervise taxicabs in cities of more than 40,000 population was turned down, the Governor said, because "the commission advises me that it is not organized to effectively regulate taxicab operations outside of Baltimore."

Lane added that the commission had advocated legislation that would give local authorities power to regulate cabs.

The Governor vetoed a bill to require the backfilling of strip mined land in Allegany County because of a conflict in the title and text of the measure that might make it apply also to Garrett County. The Garrett County delegation had its county exempted from its provisions after first being included.

Lane Signs More Bills

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 25 (AP) — Gov. Lane today moved another long step toward clearing the mass of acts left him by the General Assembly and vetoed 43 bills.

Among the bills he signed was one authorizing political sub-divisions to increase their taxes on admissions. This was in line with the administration's support of the Sherbow Commission recommendations on distribution of moneys to counties and towns.

Another measure creates a state fiscal research bureau to investigate and complete data on the financial and tax status of counties and municipalities.

One of the bills provided that judges attack an explanation to orders denying or granting writs of habeas corpus and sets up a process for the appeal of a denial of a writ.

The retail sales tax act was reinforced by the signing of a "use tax" measure which will make it possible to prevent out-of-state purchasers from avoiding the sales impost.

Bevin And Bidault Leave Moscow For Homelands

MOSCOW, Saturday, April 26 (AP) —British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and their delegations to the four-power Foreign Ministers Conference left Moscow by train last night for their homelands.

Andrei Y. Vishinsky, deputy Russian Foreign Minister, and other high ranking officials of the Russian Foreign Ministry bade farewell to Bidaault at 8 p. m. at the White Russians' railroad tsation and later saw Bevin off when he departed at midnight.

Gambling Figure Asked To Testify At Probe

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — Frank Costello, New York gambling figure, was asked today to testify at a congressional investigation into wartime operations of a reputed "non-profit" corporation.

The government slapped a $2,113,199 tax lien against the organization, the Aerodynamics Research Corporation, earlier this month. The proposed inquiry, as outlined by Chairman Bradley (R-Mich), of the House Merchant Marine Committee, is to ascertain whether the corporation got Maritime Commission contracts illegally.

Costello in New York disclaimed any connection with the organization.

Dr. Bush Says Reds Have No A-Bomb

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., April 25—(AP)—Dr. Vannevar Bush, president of Carnegie Institution at Washington and former head of the wartime Office of Scientific Research, said tonight that Russia at this time has no atomic bomb, but could have one in six years by putting out sufficient effort.

Bush, speaker at a dinner honoring Dr. Irvin Stewart, who is to be inaugurated president of West Virginia University tomorrow, made his statement in an interview.

To accomplish creation of the atom bomb, Bush said, the Russians will find it necessary to embark on an all-out effort for six years. The United States and its Allies developed the weapon in three years.

Commenting on a dispatch today from Chicago that engineers at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., project had proposed a moratorium on atomic bomb research for a generation, Bush said it would be difficult, if not impossible, to do this.

He added, however, that it might be achieved if there were assurances from Russia and other powers that they would keep a pledge to conduct no such research for a given period.

Hopes For Accord On Global Police Force Abandoned

U.N. Committee Plans To End Talks Monday

NEW YORK, April 25. (AP)—The United Nations Military Staff Committee planning a global police force today abandoned hopes of reaching unanimous agreement on several basic principles in the face of continued Russian opposition.

Russia was represented as standing alone on the top issues with the United States, Britain, France and China, the other members, generally being together.

Holding their second consecutive all-day meeting in a drive to get recommendations to the parent Security Council by April 30, the admirals and generals cleared away several minor objections and then began discussion of the full report.

At the close of today's meeting, a person close to the delegates said the committee planned to wind up its discussions on Monday. Secretaries of the five delegations went into session immediately after the regular meeting, presumably to draft a letter of transmittal to carry the report to the council.

This person added that the committee contemplated no recommendation that the report be kept secret.

A source familiar with the work of the committee said there would be no formal vote on the completed report, but that all the dissenting views — mostly Russian — would be shown in the body of the summary going to the council.

The Maryland group is in a "sort of twilight zone" with the NFTW because it is withdrawing as of April 30, Beirne said.

He said the Maryland federation technically might have submitted its settlement proposal to the NFTW policy committee out of courtesy, nevertheless there is nothing binding on them as they were quitting the striking group.

Beirne pointed out that other NFTW unions have rejected the same offer as that accepted by the Maryland workers.

Public Nurse Week Passes Without Notice In County

This has been Public Health Nursing Week everywhere in the country, but no one in Cumberland and Allegany County would have known it unless the fact had been gleaned from newspaper accounts of activities by nurses elsewhere, in observance of the period.

Its purpose was to make people better acquainted with the value of this nursing service in preventing and curing sickness, to encourage them to turn to it in time of need, and to recruit more of the nurses. It is stated that an additional 8,000 are needed by the country at once.

Work of the nurses engaged in this public service in this City and County has been so pressing, it was learned, they were unable to give time necessary away from their duties to prepare for an adequate public demonstration of their duties, and what they involved. That is unfortunate.

There are 20,672 health nurses (exclusive of industrial nurses) in the United States and its territories. They serve 6,000,000 families and make 16,200,000 visits to homes in a year. The country has 6,060 agencies that provide this service. It covers child hygiene, maternity cases, venereal diseases, tuberculosis control, industrial hygiene, home and community sanitation.

For adequate health protection it is estimated that 65,000 public health nurses will be needed in the country during the next ten years. About a third of the counties still have no full-time service of this kind. So the federal, state and community health authorities joined forces in promoting the cause, and this week they worked as one.

Hank says a $15,000,000,000 loan to Russia would insure peace, but fails to explain whether he arrived at this figure by consulting the reds or his ouija board.

Russia Prevents Agreement On German And Austria Pacts

The Moscow Four-Power Conference has ended in failure, as everyone predicted it would, and thus the peace treaties are left hanging in the air. Russia, of course, hopes to keep them there until the Kremlin can perfect a formula to gain possession of Germany and Austria.

How the problem of the treaties will ultimately be solved remains obscure, but at the moment there is little prospect that the United States will give in to Russian aims in the impasse that has developed between the two nations, with England and France cast mainly in the role of interested bystanders.

Molotov's attitude from the beginning of the Big Four Conference gave rise to a suspicion that, had Marshall agreed to Russia's demands on all points, he would quickly have altered them to prevent consummation of agreement.

Russia is playing international power politics more ruthlessly than it has been played in recent years by any nation except Germany. She hopes to cajole, bulldoze and bludgeon the world into making one concession after another to global communism. When she succeeds in stealing the secret of the atomic bomb her tone will become more commanding, as did Hitler's after Munich.

The Big Four Conference achieved one thing: It made it clear that the United States has a mortal enemy in the world today, one that will bear close watching 24 hours a day.

Growing Things Stirred To Greater Effort By Rain

A much-needed rain, falling on Cumberland and adjacent areas yesterday, gave to thirsty plant life the drink necessary for growth that had become greatly retarded, and softened hardened ground surfaces to permit lagging perennials and early-sown seeds, now germinated, to push their heads into the daylight.

It was a good, slow rain that penetrated newly plowed or spaded earth to root depth. Almost immediately new life it generated in growing things was evidenced by the swelling of buds, or the opening of others just enough to show the color that might be expected to unfold under the rays of the April sunshine to follow.

But Spring is a coy maiden, the poets have it, given to hesitating advances and sudden retreats. Or she is a fickle jade—all smiles one moment, all tears the next, all cold fury the moment later. Or she is something else, but in any event feminine and full of swiftly-changing moods.

So we are told in rhyme and meter and we must grant the truth as well as the charm of these portraits painted by the brush of fancy. Spring is mercurial, generous and stingy with her favors, always to be forgiven when she makes amends.

Yet it would be wrong to term her unpredictable. For beneath her seeming heedlessness there is a purpose and nothing is more certain than this—that it will be achieved. She is doing her work now.

Spring may hold her hand for a little or she may get on with her task in impetuous haste, as she has done in Cumberland. This season honors no schedule. But in time everything will be done and the world be fitted out in its new garments, everywhere, ready for Summer, for in the end the promise of Spring is always kept.

Those deep snows, those below-zero mornings of what seems only a week or so ago; the memory of the coal bin getting bigger and bigger as the coal pile got smaller and smaller, tough as they were, are quickly forgotten as the Spring season advances. Even, in late April, the cool mornings have a different feel because you can see the trees coming into foliage and are able to admire the swaying blooms of narcissus and jonquils on their slender stems; or study the interesting and curious faces on the sturdy pansy plants lining beds of tulips and azaleas, that are either already in bloom or will almost be before lingering drops from yesterday's rain are whisked away by gentle breezes.

Its a little early for June to be "bustin' out all over" to be sure. But nevertheless and howsoever, Spring is here in all its glory—by golly!

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

THE TEETH OF THE OLDSTER

THE knowledge that we are getting along in years comes to each of us an an individual manner. Dad may realize it when he cannot keep up physically with his young sons and daughters or mother, the first time she acts as chaperon at the old high school dance.

We might also notice changes in our mannerisms or external features. Now and then the clew is supplied when the dentist tells us the shocking news that dentures will be needed. The teeth are no different from other areas of the body since they age gradually and deteriorate in time. According to Robinson, fewer teeth are likely to remain with each passing decade. By the age of seventy, 80 per cent of the women and 70 per cent of the men are minus the permanent set. Such a result is not startling when we consider that the structures work hard and are subjected to many hazards. It is no wonder that eventually they become weatherbeaten.

Consider the trials and tribulations of the poor molar or bicuspid which must grind, crush, and break up particles of food day in and day out. True, the surface is hard but even steel will break down ultimately if used sufficiently. For civilized man, this process may require a lifetime especially if he is blessed with strong ivories and does not chip them thru injury.

Some of the aborigines, who eat crudely milled flour products, containing rough particles, wear them down sooner. The same can be said of the pelt chewing and bone grinding eskimos. Many are left with mere stumps at a relatively early age. It is said that cavities are rare among these peoples but in my opinion, carious teeth are preferable to none.

There may be moderate erosion from brushing but fortunately, few if any of the dentifrices on the market contain abrasive capable of harming the enamel. On the other hand, as we grow older, the gums have a tendency to recede so that the roots are exposed. Since these parts are not well protected by enamel, damage may occur from brushing too vigorously with the more gritty types of paste or powder.

Bacterial invasion is possible but the number of new cavities which develop seems to decrease with the years. One reason is less teeth and those that remain often contain more filling than dental structures. But decay is not so much a cause of loss in the oldster as infection or degeneration, which is prone to affect the adjacent tissues. This material—gums, bony sockets, and cementum which covers the roots—is the foundation which holds them in place. When it begins to weaken, it behaves like a decrepit building which finally collapses.

These processes are affected by the aging process in the same way as are the heart, kidneys, blood vessels, and skeletal tract throughout the body. If pyorrhea or abscesses are added as extra burdens, it takes little imagination to conceive what might occur.

MORE TONSILS

D. P. writes: Four years ago I had my tonsils out and now something seems to be forming where they used to be. My throat is red and I can notice little white pimples on it as far down as I can see. Are my tonsils growing back?

REPLY

I doubt it. You may be confusing the lymphoid tissue at the base of the tongue for residual tonsils. As a rule, when the structures are removed completely, regrowth is unlikely. This is not always easy to do and in some instances a few tags remain.

NERVOUS ERUPTION

C. R. writes: What is neurodermatitis?

REPLY

This skin eruption resembles eczema and is believed to have a nervous origin. Itching usually precedes the development of the lesions which are prone to occur at the nape of the neck, inner and upper surfaces of the thighs, folds of the forearms, and outer surfaces of the legs. It is more common in women, especially over the age of 45. There are many remedies from the application of soothing lotions to x-ray therapy.

The moviegoing public is in for a great deal of time on its hands, judging by the latest crop of motion pictures. There's "Johnny O'Clock," "The Late George Apley," and now "Calendar Girl."

I really can't understand why my brother has not been called in as technical adviser on this type of picture. He's an expert on the subject. He spends six months of every year doing time.

This trend has caused a few changes in movie production. I've heard they're no longer making the films on celluloid. Now they're unreeling them on old watchsprings.

And nowadays when they speak of winding up a picture, they really mean it.

Naturally, the movie critics have had to adapt themselves to the new trend. They're not reviewing pictures in the old-fashioned way. Now when a reviewer sees a picture and likes it, he doesn't give it three bells—he hands it four alarm clocks.

You can even feel the change when the producers get together in the conference room and one of them stands up and says, "okay, men—let's all synchronize pictures."

They're even changing some of the old titles. "The Egg and I" is being remade into "the three-minute egg and I." And England is doing its version of "Johnny O'Clock" and calling it "Big Benny."

The fad has even caught on with the fans, and these days when a boy asks a girl if he can two-time her, it's all right.

He just wants to take her to a double feature.

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Diary Notes From The Byrd Expedition: Admiral Byrd was chatting with New Zealand's shrewd Prime Minister Peter Frazer. "I guess," said Byrd, "you wouldn't like to see my brother (Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia) President of the United States." Replied diplomat Frazer: "Admiral, if it were you instead of your brother, I would feel differently.". . . Byrd was genuinely popular in New Zealand, though New Zealanders were certain he was primarily hunting for uranium. . . . U. S. officials were equally suspicious of the Russians, which was why the Byrd-boys hopped off one year early when they learned the Russians were preparing a "whaling expedition.". . . . Funny thing was that the Russian whalers actually turned out to be exactly that. One of the world's most critical shortages is fat, and whale oil is especially needed for certain delicate war instruments.

Admiral Byrd got the publicity, but real hero of the expedition was Adm. Richard Cruzen. He did a great job of piloting the ships through the ice. . . . While his only son was killed in a Washington, D.C. motor accident, Cruzen stayed on the bridge, didn't take a minute off as the expedition grazed past deadly ice barriers. . . . Cruzen and Byrd had the same rank, though Cruzen had the real power. His title was "Commander of Task Force.". . . . While newspapers were announcing that Byrd ordered the evacuation from Antarctica, it was Cruzen who really gave the order. Byrd didn't have the authority. Inside fact is Cruzen was sent along by the Navy as a balance-wheel to Byrd's temperament. . . . A driving, fanatical man with tremendous ambition, relations sometimes were tense between Byrd and Admiral Cruzen.

Chief row of the trip was between Byrd and the expedition's aerial geographer, whom Byrd accused of "working against me.". . . . The geographer insisted on reducing by several hundred thousand square miles the total area Byrd wanted to claim as having been discovered and explored. The geographer contended this area actually was not surveyed, furthermore that a large part of other areas claimed by Byrd were not surveyed with any great accuracy. . . . Despite Byrd's ire, he stood pat. . . . When Byrd explored the Antarctic in 1928-30, he announced the discovery of Marie Byrd Land and other areas, supposedly claiming them in the name of the USA. But he failed to send the State Department a survey of the land so it could not make the claim official.

First priority after reaching Antarctica was Byrd's flight over the South Pole, even though he had done it before. As a nice gesture he dropped the flags of each of the United Nations. It would have been useless to drop an American flag since Roald Amundsen, a Norwegian, and Robert Scott, an Englishman, had reached the pole many years before on foot, thereby establishing prior claims for their countries. . . . In the rest of the Antarctic, Navy pilots dropped hundreds of American flags, with land claims signed by the crews. . . . Scientific members of the expedition criticized Byrd for flying on important missions as a passenger, thereby taking up a seat which could have been occupied by the geographer or a scientist. . . . The flight over the South Pole, they contended, was a publicity stunt which hindered other operations.

The scientists claimed the military leaders of the expedition showed little interest in work to be done by geologists, biologists, and aerologists. . . . "I was treated like an alien in my own country," remarked Paul Siple, a civilian adviser who probably knows more about Antarctica than any other man alive. He has been on every expedition from the first in 1928. . . . Because of the hurried-up departure to outrun the Russians, the Byrd expedition had poorly installed cameras, insufficient polar training for pilots, and holes cut wrong-side up in the Douglas planes, which obscured many valuable aerial photographs.

When Byrd revisited his First Little America camp, he carefully collected the commercial products preserved by natural refrigeration and sent telegrams to each company telling them how well their products had kept. One tobacco company replied with a large financial offer for a Byrd endorsement. . . . Greenland, says Byrd, is the most strategic land in the world today. His expedition was intended to train personnel for further operations in the north, especially Greenland. . . . Pilots had to learn to navigate near the magnetic poles where their normal compasses were erratic; the crews had to learn to heat engines before takeoffs. . . . This was probably the most successful part of the Byrd trip—though the Army and Navy both had previous experience in Canada.

Byrd's pet phobia is the United Nations. The Admiral was in San Francisco when the charter was written, argued then with Senators Connally and Vandenberg. . . . "If the American people ever discover how they were hoaxed," Byrd says he told Truman, "they will retire to isolationism or take vengeance on the leaders who were responsible." . . . The Admiral believes Truman sympathized with his viewpoint but at that time wanted to appease the Russians. . . . "I call it the 'artichoke' process," he explains. "We appease little by little until now the United Nations is nothing but an instrument by which a totalitarian power can dominate the smaller countries." . . . When Byrd found strong sentiment for placing Antarctica under a United Nations trusteeship, he said: "I told them 'turn it over to a totalitarian outfit—over my dead body, you will.'" . . . "Never in history," says Byrd, "have people been so defrauded. It is fantastic the way the American people were taken in on this United Nations."

En route to Antarctica, members of the Byrd expedition were shown movies of a previous expedition. One shot featured explorers staggering through a fierce blizzard of wind and snow. Actually the wind and snow were artificial, made by placing the men behind an airplane propeller. . . . "We are not going to fake any shots on this trip," photographers were told. . . . But the last day of the expedition a crew spent several hours jacking the tail of a plane off the ground. Once the plane was level, Admiral Byrd was photographed looking out the door, supposedly dropping flags over the South Pole.

Main Cause Of High Prices To People Is Government Itself

By MARK SULLIVAN

The government is buying eggs, in order to keep the price up. For this purpose its anticipates buying an immense quantity of eggs. In the budget for the coming year the Administration has asked Congress for 175 million dollars to buy eggs.

That would buy one egg out of every ten laid in the country. Whether all the 175 million dollars will be used cannot be known in advance. Whenever the price of eggs in the market falls below a certain figure the government steps in and buys. The figure changes from time to time, it is based on a flexible standard called "parity price." Always the purpose is to stop a drop in prices. In this, the government buying is successful, of course. But for buying the government did a few weeks ago, eggs today would be materially lower in price.

After buying eggs to keep the price up, the government finds various ways to dispose of them, with an aggregate loss. In the Administration's budget for the coming year, it estimates the loss on eggs at $42,899,000. The eggs are sold in powdered or frozen form. Some are sold to the British government, some to processors, some for industrial purposes. None are sold to consumers. Consumers must buy their eggs in the regular market, and the purpose of the government buying is to keep the market price up. In addition to loss incurred through selling at a lower price than the government paid, there is loss though expense of storage and handling. Occasionally there is loss by wastage. In 1945 some 20 carloads of eggs spoiled on sidings. Last year, in another farm product, potatoes, several million dollars worth bought by the government while still in the ground were left there and rotted.

Other Farm Products Bought

Besides eggs, several other farm products are bought by the government to keep the price up, they include potatoes, sweet potatoes, chickens, turkeys. On all these, losses are expected. In the budget for the coming year, the estimated loss on potatoes is $28,290,000, or sweet potatoes $8,694,000, on chickens $10,250,000, on turkeys $6,000,000.

In addition to these losses on the farm products named, other losses are incurred on other farm products, the prices of which are kept up by the government through various methods and actions, including and besides direct purchase. On one minor crop, peanuts, the loss in the coming year is estimated in the budget at 10 million dollars. Besides the crops already mentioned, the government, through what it calls its "price support program" as a whole, supports many other crops including wheat, cotton, wool, hogs, milk, dairy products. On these, no loss is anticipated the coming year, and no provision for loss is included in the budget. When conditions call for it, the government supports the prices of these crops.

Taxpayers Must Pay For Losses

The losses which the government does expect the coming year, and for which provision is made in the budget—an eggregate of $160,870,000—come directly out of the federal treasury, hence out of the pockets of taxpayers. But this direct loss to the taxpayer is much exceeded by the loss to consumers due to paying higher prices for food than they would need to pay if the government did not keep the prices up. How much consumers lose cannot be estimated, it might well run into billions of dollars.

The most serious consequence of all is the effect on the whole economy of the country. Concern about the danger to the country caused by high prices is the reason for the series of warnings recently issued by President Truman; and these warnings started the agitation about high prices now conspicuous in the news.

A main cause of high prices, not only of food but in the whole price level, is the government itself. Because the government keeps prices of food up, cost of livcing is high. Because cost of living is high, workers demand increase of wages. Increase of wages cause increased cost of manufactured goods. These in turn are a further addition to the cost of living. It is a vicious spiral.

Senator Taft Has Made Rather Lame Defense Of His Labor Bill

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Senator Taft has made a rather lame defense of his labor bill. The measure is in some respects even better for the labor unions than the existing Wagner Labor Relations Act.

True enough, the bill introduces some new mediation machinery and puts upon labor some obligations never before written into a statute. But, on the so-called "free-speech" issue, the bill reported by the Senate committee merely confirms all the erratic decisions of the National Labor Relations Board over the last ten years.

Here, for instance, is the language of the Senate bill:

"The National Labor Relations Board shall not base any finding of unfair labor practice upon any statement of views or arguments, either written or oral, if such statement contains under all the circumstances no threat, express or implied, of reprisal or force, or offer, express or implied, of "benefit."

This language narrows considerably the rights of the employer hitherto stated by the Supreme Court of the United States and by the federal courts in reversing labor board decisions. It cuts the ground from the court decisions and restores to the labor board the full power it thought it had before the courts began reversing the board.

Past Actions Reviewed.

For there never has been a single case over the last ten years of decisions by the National Labor Relations Board involving the so-called "free spech" issue in which the board has ever claimed that it based a finding solely on statements or arguments that were devoid of threat or implied benefits. Again and again, the examiners for the board have found and the board has upheld findings that an employer had addressed his employees, either orally or in writing, but that his words were of an intimidating character or were tied up with acts that were clearly indicative of an anti-union attitude.

The new Senate bill, if enacted, indicates that the labor board will have no trouble with the courts hereafter. Either the board will find that an employer threatened employees with loss of benefits or that he offered them "benefits" if they refrained from choosing a union as their bargaining agent.

This effort by the Senate bill to narrow an employer's rights contradicts the expressions of the courts, where it has been plainly said that an employer may discuss unionism and even oppose the unionization of his plant and that he is free from an "unfair labor practice" so long as he doesn't threaten group action or individual punishment to those engaged in union activity. An employer, on the other hand, has had under past court decisions the right to point out wherein his employees would not benefit from unionization or he has had the right to point out that he does not believe he can operate as efficiently under union as under nonunion auspices because of the necessity, for instance, of conforming to some national pattern which his larger competitors can meet and he cannot.

Under the language of the Senate bill, the Labor Relations Boards of the future would have no difficulty declaring "unfair labor practices" for such statements and almost any other statement an employer might make.

The Senate committee, therefore, has not restored the Bill of Rights but has written into the provision of the proposed law phrases that permit a labor board to multiply the findings of an "unfair labor practice."

Another Grose Error

The Senate committee has made another grave error in ignoring the coercion now practiced among workers to dragoon other workers into unions. This flagrant abuse is not touched by the Senate committee, though it does write into the bill a clause that allegedly balances the clause in existing law with reference to interference by an employer in the affairs of the workers in choosing a bargaining agent. Senator Taft defends the new clause, which prohibits unions from interfering in the selection of a bargaining representative by the employer. Actually these are rare instances and could be amply covered by a slight change in an entirely different provision of the bill, stating that it is an unfair labor practice for labor unions to refuse to bargain with the represntatives chosen by an employer.

Unions really are not concerned with the process whereby the employer's bargaining representatives are chosen or, any actual methods used in seletion. The unions are often unwilling to accept the representatives that are chosen, but this is not a "refusal to bargain" and not an interference with the process of selection. Some of the Senators who wrote the committee bill appear to be neophytes in the writing of labor legislation and are falling for some of the tricks and devices that have given the labor board so much power in the past.

THESE DAYS

By George E. Sokolsky

WHAT so many younger discoursers on China's woes seem not to know is that that ancient people have been bungling along their courses for a very long time. And it will take more than a book by a youthful American to undo the habits of a people which are grounded deep in the soil of their own traditions. And somehow also China manages to survive although her conquerors do not — which is not altogether discouraging.

So it is that now China has survived her Japanese conquerors. Whereas, 20 years ago, the state of China seemed to be as hopeless as it is today, Japan was a mighty nation, among the five greatest on earth. Yet while the Japanese are a conquered people, practically a fief of the United States, China still muddles along, somehow managing her own affairs, somehow holding together. No Japanese presided over the Security Council of the United Nations, but a Chinese did — and probably the most able of them all. If the pace of China is slow, it is not self-defeating; if the Chinese are not as nationalistic as the Russians, they are also not as severe a problem to the rest of mankind.

China is now attempting to utilize a new Constitution. Back in 1924, the Kuomintang, under the leadership of Sun Yat-sen, founded a revolutionary government which in time placed Chiang Kai-shek at the head of the state. But Chiang was never quite a dictator: he headed a state, which, according to Dr. Sun's principles, was held in "tutelage" by a political party, the Kuomintang, until such a time as the people are ready for self-government. Dr. Sun, when he wrote his "Three People's Principles," had to recognize that the great mass of Chinese were not ready for self-government.

Under pressure from the United States and Soviet Russia, the Chinese have now declared themselves ready for some kind of democratic government. Although nothing particularly notable has happened between 1924 and 1947 to prove that the Chinese are more ready now than they were then for self government, to meet foreign pressures the Chinese seem willing to try anything.

So a new government, headed by General Chang Chun, has come into existence under the general presidency of Chiang Kai-shek. China is no longer under the tutelage of the Kuomintang; other parties are admitted into the government. It is a curious setup, but whether it can work or not is not terribly important because Chiang Kai-shek will in the final analysis, be the boss.

With General Chang Chun as his prime minister, a classmate of Chiang's in a military school in Japan and his friend and intimate associate during all these years, there is no possibility of a rift between them. In fact, Chang Chun has long been a general pinch-hitter for Chiang.

But there is more to this situation than that. The new administration includes some of the most competent bankers and business men of China. Chiang Kai-ngua, formerly head of the Bank of China and for a prolonged period recently a resident in this country, is broadly in charge of economic policy, in which work he will be assisted by K. P. Chen and Li Ming, bankers of the highest probity and undoubtedly among the best known Chinese in the United States. The fact that this group supports Chang Chun's cabinet will increase respect for its responsibility.

None of the Soong males remain in the government. T. V. Soong is out and his brothers play no part whatsoever in the affairs of China. And apparently his brother-in-law, H. H. Kung, is out of office. The objection to the Soongs was widespread and Chiang finally had to bow to the public will, which is always strong in China. It is not clear what the active and brusque T. V. Soong will do, but those in power are not his friends and they are not likely to welcome him in any capacity.

So China starts anew and very hopefully. This is an anti-Communist government, one that can bend like a willow if need be, but that also has many of the sturdy characteristics of the oak. China will not go under in their hands.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Faith, the Substance

How little we realize the extent to which we depend upon our faith to carry us along from day to day, and throughout every experience in life. Of course this faith of ours is an invisible thing—but it has substance. The Bible says that "faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things unseen."

The air that we breathe cannot be seen, but it is substance. We speak of a substantial person, meaning that he has character, which may embody any number of substantial traits or elements, so that there is substance to his very words and acts. But the substance of faith backgrounds it all. We can rise to no height without it. It carries us on.

I talked with a friend of mine recently who told me of a project that he has been working on for eighteen years, often under the most discouraging of circumstances, but he said that now he was seeing the light. His faith carried him on.

The inventor, the scientist, and all those devoting their lives to research work, depend upon the substance of faith to carry them to their goal. Great things are always wrought through the agency of faith.

The faith that the engineer has in his locomotive, the pilot in his plane or ship, is what gives to every passenger faith, as well, in each one who holds the safety of their lives within his control. It's faith that gives courage and confidence, and which drives us on when we feel like quitting, or turning over our job to someone with greater faith. It is this substance of faith that tells you that you can!

There is another wise saying in the Bible that says "Faith, without works, is dead!" We must have this substance of faith deeply imbedded in the very fibre of our flesh and bones. And then we must demonstrate its existence. How long do you think that any public servant, or government could last did not people have faith in that servant and that government?

It is this substance of faith in ourselves, in others, and in whatever our fate may be, that drives us on, gives us increasing hope and confidence in the final outcome of our lives.

Public Nurse Week Passes Without Notice In County

This has been Public Health Nursing Week everywhere in the country, but no one in Cumberland and Allegany County would have known it unless the fact had been gleaned from newspaper accounts of activities by nurses elsewhere, in observance of the period.

Its purpose was to make people better acquainted with the value of this nursing service in preventing and curing sickness, to encourage them to turn to it in time of need, and to recruit more of the nurses. It is stated that an additional 8,000 are needed by the country at once.

Work of the nurses engaged in this public service in this City and County has been so pressing, it was learned, they were unable to give time necessary away from their duties to prepare for an adequate public demonstration of their duties, and what they involved. That is unfortunate.

There are 20,672 health nurses (exclusive of industrial nurses) in the United States and its territories. They serve 6,000,000 families and make 16,200,000 visits to homes in a year. The country has 6,060 agencies that provide this service. It covers child hygiene, maternity cases, venereal diseases, tuberculosis control, industrial hygiene, home and community sanitation.

For adequate health protection it is estimated that 65,000 public health nurses will be needed in the country during the next ten years. About a third of the counties still have no full-time service of this kind. So the federal, state and community health authorities joined forces in promoting the cause, and this week they worked as one.

Russia Prevents Agreement On German And Austria Pacts

The Moscow Four-Power Conference has ended in failure, as everyone predicted it would, and thus the peace treaties are left hanging in the air. Russia, of course, hopes to keep them there until the Kremlin can perfect a formula to gain possession of Germany and Austria.

How the problem of the treaties will ultimately be solved remains obscure, but at the moment there is little prospect that the United States will give in to Russian aims in the impasse that has developed between the two nations, with England and France cast mainly in the role of interested bystanders.

Molotov's attitude from the beginning of the Big Four Conference gave rise to a suspicion that, had Marshall agreed to Russia's demands on all points, he would quickly have altered them to prevent consummation of agreement.

Russia is playing international power politics more ruthlessly than it has been played in recent years by any nation except Germany. She hopes to cajole, bulldoze and bludgeon the world into making one concession after another to global communism. When she succeeds in stealing the secret of the atomic bomb her tone will become more commanding, as did Hitler's after Munich.

The Big Four Conference achieved one thing: It made it clear that the United States has a mortal enemy in the world today, one that will bear close watching 24 hours a day.

Growing Things Stirred To Greater Effort By Rain

A much-needed rain, falling on Cumberland and adjacent areas yesterday, gave to thirsty plant life the drink necessary for growth that had become greatly retarded, and softened hardened ground surfaces to permit lagging perennials and early-sown seeds, now germinated, to push their heads into the daylight.

It was a good, slow rain that penetrated newly plowed or spaded earth to root depth. Almost immediately new life it generated in growing things was evidenced by the swelling of buds, or the opening of others just enough to show the color that might be expected to unfold under the rays of the April sunshine to follow.

But Spring is a coy maiden, the poets have it, given to hesitating advances and sudden retreats. Or she is a fickle jade—all smiles one moment, all tears the next, all cold fury the moment later. Or she is something else, but in any event feminine and full of swiftly-changing moods.

So we are told in rhyme and meter and we must grant the truth as well as the charm of these portraits painted by the brush of fancy. Spring is mercurial, generous and stingy with her favors, always to be forgiven when she makes amends.

Yet it would be wrong to term her unpredictable. For beneath her seeming heedlessness there is a purpose and nothing is more certain than this—that it will be achieved. She is doing her work now.

Spring may hold her hand for a little or she may get on with her task in impetuous haste, as she has done in Cumberland. This season honors no schedule. But in time everything will be done and the world be fitted out in its new garments, everywhere, ready for Summer, for in the end the promise of Spring is always kept.

Those deep snows, those below-zero mornings of what seems only a week or so ago; the memory of the coal bin getting bigger and bigger as the coal pile got smaller and smaller, tough as they were, are quickly forgotten as the Spring season advances. Even, in late April, the cool mornings have a different feel because you can see the trees coming into foliage and are able to admire the swaying blooms of narcissus and jonquils on their slender stems; or study the interesting and curious faces on the sturdy pansy plants lining beds of tulips and azaleas, that are either already in bloom or will almost be before lingering drops from yesterday's rain are whisked away by gentle breezes.

Its a little early for June to be "bustin' out all over" to be sure. But nevertheless and howsoever, Spring is here in all its glory—by golly!

HOW TO KEEP WELL

THE TEETH OF THE OLDSTER

THE knowledge that we are getting along in years comes to each of us an an individual manner. Dad may realize it when he cannot keep up physically with his young sons and daughters or mother, the first time she acts as chaperon at the old high school dance.

We might also notice changes in our mannerisms or external features. Now and then the clew is supplied when the dentist tells us the shocking news that dentures will be needed. The teeth are no different from other areas of the body since they age gradually and deteriorate in time. According to Robinson, fewer teeth are likely to remain with each passing decade. By the age of seventy, 80 per cent of the women and 70 per cent of the men are minus the permanent set. Such a result is not startling when we consider that the structures work hard and are subjected to many hazards. It is no wonder that eventually they become weatherbeaten.

Consider the trials and tribulations of the poor molar or bicuspid which must grind, crush, and break up particles of food day in and day out. True, the surface is hard but even steel will break down ultimately if used sufficiently. For civilized man, this process may require a lifetime especially if he is blessed with strong ivories and does not chip them thru injury.

Some of the aborigines, who eat crudely milled flour products, containing rough particles, wear them down sooner. The same can be said of the pelt chewing and bone grinding eskimos. Many are left with mere stumps at a relatively early age. It is said that cavities are rare among these peoples but in my opinion, carious teeth are preferable to none.

There may be moderate erosion from brushing but fortunately, few if any of the dentifrices on the market contain abrasive capable of harming the enamel. On the other hand, as we grow older, the gums have a tendency to recede so that the roots are exposed. Since these parts are not well protected by enamel, damage may occur from brushing too vigorously with the more gritty types of paste or powder.

Bacterial invasion is possible but the number of new cavities which develop seems to decrease with the years. One reason is less teeth and those that remain often contain more filling than dental structures. But decay is not so much a cause of loss in the oldster as infection or degeneration, which is prone to affect the adjacent tissues. This material—gums, bony sockets, and cementum which covers the roots—is the foundation which holds them in place. When it begins to weaken, it behaves like a decrepit building which finally collapses.

These processes are affected by the aging process in the same way as are the heart, kidneys, blood vessels, and skeletal tract throughout the body. If pyorrhea or abscesses are added as extra burdens, it takes little imagination to conceive what might occur.

And nowadays when they speak of winding up a picture, they really mean it.

Naturally, the movie critics have had to adapt themselves to the new trend. They're not reviewing pictures in the old-fashioned way. Now when a reviewer sees a picture and likes it, he doesn't give it three bells—he hands it four alarm clocks.

You can even feel the change when the producers get together in the conference room and one of them stands up and says, "okay, men—let's all synchronize pictures."

They're even changing some of the old titles. "The Egg and I" is being remade into "the three-minute egg and I." And England is doing its version of "Johnny O'Clock" and calling it "Big Benny."

The fad has even caught on with the fans, and these days when a boy asks a girl if he can two-time her, it's all right.

He just wants to take her to a double feature.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Diary Notes From The Byrd Expedition: Admiral Byrd was chatting with New Zealand's shrewd Prime Minister Peter Frazer. "I guess," said Byrd, "you wouldn't like to see my brother (Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia) President of the United States." Replied diplomat Frazer: "Admiral, if it were you instead of your brother, I would feel differently." . . . Byrd was genuinely popular in New Zealand, though New Zealanders were certain he was primarily hunting for uranium. . . . U. S. officials were equally suspicious of the Russians, which was why the Byrd-boys hopped off one year early when they learned the Russians were preparing a "whaling expedition." . . . Funny thing was that the Russian whalers actually turned out to be exactly that. One of the world's most critical shortages is fat, and whale oil is especially needed for certain delicate war instruments.

Admiral Byrd got the publicity, but real hero of the expedition was Adm. Richard Cruzen. He did a great job of piloting the ships through the ice. . . . While his only son was killed in a Washington, D.C. motor accident, Cruzen stayed on the bridge, didn't take a minute off as the expedition grazed past deadly ice barriers. . . . Cruzen and Byrd had the same rank, though Cruzen had the real power. His title was "Commander of Task Force." . . . While newspapers were announcing that Byrd ordered the evacuation from Antarctica, it was Cruzen who really gave the order. Byrd didn't have the authority. Inside fact is Cruzen was sent along by the Navy as a balance-wheel to Byrd's temperament. . . . A driving, fanatical man with tremendous ambition, relations sometimes were tense between Byrd and Admiral Cruzen.

Chief row of the trip was between Byrd and the expedition's aerial geographer, whom Byrd accused of "working against me." . . . The geographer insisted on reducing by several hundred thousand square miles the total area Byrd wanted to claim as having been discovered and explored. The geographer contended this area actually was not surveyed, furthermore that a large part of other areas claimed by Byrd were not surveyed with any great accuracy. . . . Despite Byrd's ire, he stood pat. . . . When Byrd explored the Antarctic in 1928-30, he announced the discovery of Marie Byrd Land and other areas, supposedly claiming them in the name of the USA. But he failed to send the State Department a survey of the land so it could not make the claim official.

First priority after reaching Antarctica was Byrd's flight over the South Pole, even though he had done it before. As a nice gesture he dropped the flags of each of the United Nations. It would have been useless to drop an American flag since Roald Amundsen, a Norwegian, and Robert Scott, an Englishman, had reached the pole many years before on foot, thereby establishing prior claims for their countries. . . . In the rest of the Antarctic, Navy pilots dropped hundreds of American flags, with land claims signed by the crews. . . . Scientific members of the expedition criticized Byrd for flying on important missions as a passenger, thereby taking up a seat which could have been occupied by the geographer or a scientist. . . . The flight over the South Pole, they contended, was a publicity stunt which hindered other operations.

The scientists claimed the military leaders of the expedition showed little interest in work to be done by geologists, biologists, and aerologists. . . . "I was treated like an alien in my own country," remarked Paul Siple, a civilian adviser who probably knows more about Antarctica than any other man alive. He has been on every expedition from the first in 1928. . . . Because of the hurried-up departure to outrun the Russians, the Byrd expedition had poorly installed cameras, insufficient polar training for pilots, and holes cut wrong-side up in the Douglas planes, which obscured many valuable aerial photographs.

When Byrd revisited his First Little America camp, he carefully collected the commercial products preserved by natural refrigeration and sent telegrams to each company telling them how well their products had kept. One tobacco company replied with a large financial offer for a Byrd endorsement. . . . Greenland, says Byrd, is the most strategic land in the world today. His expedition was intended to train personnel for further operations in the north, especially Greenland. . . . Pilots had to learn to navigate near the magnetic poles where their normal compasses were erratic; the crews had to learn to heat engines before takeoffs. . . . This was probably the most successful part of the Byrd trip—though the Army and Navy both had previous experience in Canada.

Byrd's pet phobia is the United Nations. The Admiral was in San Francisco when the charter was written, argued then with Senators Connally and Vandenberg. . . . "If the American people ever discover how they were hoaxed," Byrd says he told Truman, "they will retire to isolationism or take vengeance on the leaders who were responsible." . . . The Admiral believes Truman sympathized with his viewpoint but at that time wanted to appease the Russians. . . . "I call it the 'artichoke' process," he explains. "We appease little by little until now the United Nations is nothing but an instrument by which a totalitarian power can dominate the smaller countries." . . . When Byrd found strong sentiment for placing Antarctica under a United Nations trusteeship, he said: "I told them 'turn it over to a totalitarian outfit—over my dead body, you will.'" . . . "Never in history," says Byrd, "have people been so defrauded. It is fantastic the way the American people were taken in on this United Nations."

En route to Antarctica, members of the Byrd expedition were shown movies of a previous expedition. One shot featured explorers staggering through a fierce blizzard of wind and snow. Actually the wind and snow were artificial, made by placing the men behind an airplane propeller. . . . "We are not going to fake any shots on this trip," photographers were told. . . . But the last day of the expedition a crew spent several hours jacking the tail of a plane off the ground. Once the plane was level, Admiral Byrd was photographed looking out the door, supposedly dropping flags over the South Pole.

Main Cause Of High Prices To People Is Government Itself

By MARK SULLIVAN

The government is buying eggs, in order to keep the price up. For this purpose its anticipates buying an immense quantity of eggs. In the budget for the coming year the Administration has asked Congress for 175 million dollars to buy eggs.

That would buy one egg out of every ten laid in the country. Whether all the 175 million dollars will be used cannot be known in advance. Whenever the price of eggs in the market falls below a certain figure the government steps in and buys. The figure changes from time to time, it is based on a flexible standard called "parity price." Always the purpose is to stop a drop in prices. In this, the government buying is successful, of course. But for buying the government did a few weeks ago, eggs today would be materially lower in price.

After buying eggs to keep the price up, the government finds various ways to dispose of them, with an aggregate loss. In the Administration's budget for the coming year, it estimates the loss on eggs at $42,899,000. The eggs are sold in powdered or frozen form. Some are sold to the British government, some to processors, some for industrial purposes. None are sold to consumers. Consumers must buy their eggs in the regular market, and the purpose of the government buying is to keep the market price up. In addition to loss incurred through selling at a lower price than the government paid, there is loss though expense of storage and handling. Occasionally there is loss by wastage. In 1945 some 20 carloads of eggs spoiled on sidings. Last year, in another farm product, potatoes, several million dollars worth bought by the government while still in the ground were left there and rotted.

Other Farm Products Bought

Besides eggs, several other farm products are bought by the government to keep the price up, they include potatoes, sweet potatoes, chickens, turkeys. On all these, losses are expected. In the budget for the coming year, the estimated loss on potatoes is $28,290,000, or sweet potatoes $8,694,000, on chickens $10,250,000, on turkeys $6,000,000.

In addition to these losses on the farm products named, other losses are incurred on other farm products, the prices of which are kept up by the government through various methods and actions, including and besides direct purchase. On one minor crop, peanuts, the loss in the coming year is estimated in the budget at 10 million dollars. Besides the crops already mentioned, the government, through what it calls its "price support program" as a whole, supports many other crops including wheat, cotton, wool, hogs, milk, dairy products. On these, no loss is anticipated the coming year, and no provision for loss is included in the budget. When conditions call for it, the government supports the prices of these crops.

Taxpayers Must Pay For Losses

The losses which the government does expect the coming year, and for which provision is made in the budget—an eggregate of $160,870,000—come directly out of the federal treasury, hence out of the pockets of taxpayers. But this direct loss to the taxpayer is much exceeded by the loss to consumers due to paying higher prices for food than they would need to pay if the government did not keep the prices up. How much consumers lose cannot be estimated, it might well run into billions of dollars.

The most serious consequence of all is the effect on the whole economy of the country. Concern about the danger to the country caused by high prices is the reason for the series of warnings recently issued by President Truman; and these warnings started the agitation about high prices now conspicuous in the news.

A main cause of high prices, not only of food but in the whole price level, is the government itself. Because the government keeps prices of food up, cost of livving is high. Because cost of living is high, workers demand increase of wages. Increase of wages cause increased cost of manufactured goods. These in turn are a further addition to the cost of living. It is a vicious spiral.

Senator Taft Has Made Rather Lame Defense Of His Labor Bill

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Senator Taft has made a rather lame defense of his labor bill. The measure is in some respects even better for the labor unions than the existing Wagner Labor Relations Act.

True enough, the bill introduces some new mediation machinery and puts upon labor some obligations never before written into a statute. But, on the so-called "free-speech" issue, the bill reported by the Senate committee merely confirms all the erratic decisions of the National Labor Relations Board over the last ten years.

Here, for instance, is the language of the Senate bill:

"The National Labor Relations Board shall not base any finding of unfair labor practice upon any statement of views or arguments, either written or oral, if such statement contains under all the circumstances no threat, express or implied, of reprisal or force, or offer, express or implied, of "benefit."

This language narrows considerably the rights of the employer hitherto stated by the Supreme Court of the United States and by the federal courts in reversing labor board decisions. It cuts the ground from the court decisions and restores to the labor board the full power it thought it had before the courts began reversing the board.

Past Actions Reviewed.

For there never has been a single case over the last ten years of decisions by the National Labor Relations Board involving the so-called "free spech" issue in which the board has ever claimed that it based a finding solely on statements or arguments that were devoid of threat or implied benefits. Again and again, the examiners for the board have found and the board has upheld findings that an employer had addressed his employees, either orally or in writing, but that his words were of an intimidating character or were tied up with acts that were clearly indicative of an anti-union attitude.

The new Senate bill, if enacted, indicates that the labor board will have no trouble with the courts hereafter. Either the board will find that an employer threatened employees with loss of benefits or that he offered them "benefits" if they refrained from choosing a union as their bargaining agent.

This effort by the Senate bill to narrow an employer's rights contradicts the expressions of the courts, where it has been plainly said that an employer may discuss unionism and even oppose the unionization of his plant and that he is free from an "unfair labor practice" so long as he doesn't threaten group action or individual punishment to those engaged in union activity. An employer, on the other hand, has had under past court decisions the right to point out wherein his employees would not benefit from unionization or he has had the right to point out that he does not believe he can operate as efficiently under union as under nonunion auspices because of the necessity, for instance, of conforming to some national pattern which his larger competitors can meet and he cannot.

Under the language of the Senate bill, the Labor Relations Boards of the future would have no difficulty declaring "unfair labor practices" for such statements and almost any other statement an employer might make.

The Senate committee, therefore, has not restored the Bill of Rights but has written into the provision of the proposed law phrases that permit a labor board to multiply the findings of an "unfair labor practice."

Another Grose Error

The Senate committee has made another grave error in ignoring the coercion now practiced among workers to dragoon other workers into unions. This flagrant abuse is not touched by the Senate committee, though it does write into the bill a clause that allegedly balances the clause in existing law with reference to interference by an employer in the affairs of the workers in choosing a bargaining agent. Senator Taft defends the new clause, which prohibits unions from interfering in the selection of a bargaining representative by the employer. Actually these are rare instances and could be amply covered by a slight change in an entirely different provision of the bill, stating that it is an unfair labor practice for labor unions to refuse to bargain with the representatives chosen by an employer.

Unions really are not concerned with the process whereby the employer's bargaining representatives are chosen or, any actual methods used in seletion. The unions are often unwilling to accept the representatives that are chosen, but this is not a "refusal to bargain" and not an interference with the process of selection. Some of the Senators who wrote the committee bill appear to be neophytes in the writing of labor legislation and are falling for some of the tricks and devices that have given the labor board so much power in the past.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

WHAT so many younger discoursers on China's woes seem not to know is that that ancient people have been bungling along their courses for a very long time. And it will take more than a book by a youthful American to undo the habits of a people which are grounded deep in the soil of their own traditions. And somehow also China manages to survive although her conquerors do not — which is not altogether discouraging.

So it is that now China has survived her Japanese conquerors. Whereas, 20 years ago, the state of China seemed to be as hopeless as it is today, Japan was a mighty nation, among the five greatest on earth. Yet while the Japanese are a conquered people, practically a fief of the United States, China still muddles along, somehow managing her own affairs, somehow holding together. No Japanese presided over the Security Council of the United Nations, but a Chinese did — and probably the most able of them all. If the pace of China is slow, it is not self-defeating; if the Chinese are not as nationalistic as the Russians, they are also not as severe a problem to the rest of mankind.

China is now attempting to utilize a new Constitution. Back in 1924, the Kuomintang, under the leadership of Sun Yat-sen, founded a revolutionary government which in time placed Chiang Kai-shek at the head of the state. But Chiang was never quite a dictator: he headed a state, which, according to Dr. Sun's principles, was held in "tutelage" by a political party, the Kuomintang, until such a time as the people are ready for self-government. Dr. Sun, when he wrote his "Three People's Principles," had to recognize that the great mass of Chinese were not ready for self-government.

Under pressure from the United States and Soviet Russia, the Chinese have now declared themselves ready for some kind of democratic government. Although nothing particularly notable has happened between 1924 and 1947 to prove that the Chinese are more ready now than they were then for self government, to meet foreign pressures the Chinese seem willing to try anything.

So a new government, headed by General Chang Chun, has come into existence under the general presidency of Chiang Kai-shek. China is no longer under the tutelage of the Kuomintang; other parties are admitted into the government. It is a curious setup, but whether it can work or not is not terribly important because Chiang Kai-shek will in the final analysis, be the boss.

With General Chang Chun as his prime minister, a classmate of Chiang's in a military school in Japan and his friend and intimate associate during all these years, there is no possibility of a rift between them. In fact, Chang Chun has long been a general pinch-hitter for Chiang.

But there is more to this situation than that. The new administration includes some of the most competent bankers and business men of China. Chiang Kai-ngua, formerly head of the Bank of China and for a prolonged period recently a resident in this country, is broadly in charge of economic policy, in which work he will be assisted by K. P. Chen and Li Ming, bankers of the highest probity and undoubtedly among the best known Chinese in the United States. The fact that this group supports Chang Chun's cabinet will increase respect for its responsibility.

None of the Soong males remain in the government. T. V. Soong is out and his brothers play no part whatsoever in the affairs of China. And apparently his brother-in-law, H. H. Kung, is out of office. The objection to the Soongs was widespread and Chiang finally had to bow to the public will, which is always strong in China. It is not clear what the active and brusque T. V. Soong will do, but those in power are not his friends and they are not likely to welcome him in any capacity.

So China starts anew and very hopefully. This is an anti-Communist government, one that can bend like a willow if need be, but that also has many of the sturdy characteristics of the oak. China will not go under in their hands.

Today's Talk

Faith, the Substance

How little we realize the extent to which we depend upon our faith to carry us along from day to day, and throughout every experience in life. Of course this faith of ours is an invisible thing—but it has substance. The Bible says that "faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things unseen."

The air that we breathe cannot be seen, but it is substance. We speak of a substantial person, meaning that he has character, which may embody any number of substantial traits or elements, so that there is substance to his very words and acts. But the substance of faith backgrounds it all. We can rise to no height without it. It carries us on.

I talked with a friend of mine recently who told me of a project that he has been working on for eighteen years, often under the most discouraging of circumstances, but he said that now he was seeing the light. His faith carried him on.

The inventor, the scientist, and all those devoting their lives to research work, depend upon the substance of faith to carry them to their goal. Great things are always wrought through the agency of faith.

The faith that the engineer has in his locomotive, the pilot in his plane or ship, is what gives to every passenger faith, as well, in each one who holds the safety of their lives within his control. It's faith that gives courage and confidence, and which drives us on when we feel like quitting, or turning over our job to someone with greater faith. It is this substance of faith that tells you that you can!

There is another wise saying in the Bible that says "Faith, without works, is dead!" We must have this substance of faith deeply imbedded in the very fibre of our flesh and bones. And then we must demonstrate its existence. How long do you think that any public servant, or government could last did not people have faith in that servant and that government?

It is this substance of faith in ourselves, in others, and in whatever our fate may be, that drives us on, gives us increasing hope and confidence in the final outcome of our lives.

Injuries Are Fatal To Blast Victim

William Ellsworth Starford, 60, Grafton, W. Va., brother of Mrs. Robert Young, this city, suffered fatal internal injuries Tuesday when struck by a large rock following a blast at his strip mine operation near Pruntytown, W. Va. He died before reaching the Grafton hospital.

Mr. Starford and several other men were watching the blast from behind a pile of earth when rocks started to fall where they stood. They started to run for cover and Stanford was hit in the back.

A mining engineer, Mr. Starford had operated his Pruntytown mine for sometime. He formerly was general superintendent for the Maryland Coal Company at Wendell, W. Va., 21 years and had been general manager for the J. H. Weaver Company, Rosemont, W. Va.

Mr. Starford was a graduate of the old Mountain State Business College here and received his Bachelor of Science degree from Ohio Northern University's College of Engineering. A member of the Presbyterian Church, he was a 32nd degree Scottish Rite Mason and belonged to Osiris Temple of the Shrine at Belington, W. Va.

Surviving, in addition to his sister, are his widow, Mrs. Corinne (Bogert) Starford; a daughter, Mrs. Maryanna Little, Washington; a son, William Starford, Grafton; three brothers, James Starford, Weston, W. Va.; Robert Starford, Elkins, W. Va., and Andrew Starford, Century, W. Va., and two other sisters, Mrs. Charles Gay and Mrs. Dora Cather, both of Clarksburg, W. Va.

CANCER DETECTION CLINIC PLANNED

Provided sufficient funds are raised in the current American Cancer Society drive, it is planned to establish a cancer detection center at Memorial Hospital, according to Hugh D. Shires, county chairman.

Shires said that over $1,000 has been received to date but that the money is slow in coming in, again urging individuals, clubs and business houses to act immediately in making their contributions.

Benjamin W. Wright, hospital superintendent, said that skin therapy x-ray equipment was obtained for the clinic as a result of last year's drive for funds here.

According to Wright it is extremely important that detection center be established here as soon as possible as it is by this means that cancer in its early stages is discovered and many lives saved.

Detection clinics have already been opened in Frederick, Hagerstown, Annapolis, Elkton and Salisbury and one will be started at Westminster soon. Two are in operation in Baltimore and two more are planned.

The seven danger signals in cancer are: Any sore that does not heal—particularly about the tongue, mouth or lips; a painless lump or thickening, especially in the breast, lips or tongue; irregular bleeding or discharge from any natural body opening; progressive change in the color or size of a wart; mole or birthmark; persistent indigestion persistent hoarseness, unexplained coughing or difficulty in swallowing; and any change in the normal bowel habits.

Recreation Budget, Program Asked

Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday he has asked the Cumberland Recreation Board, headed by John J. Long, to submit a tentative budget and a proposed program of activities to the Mayor and Council as soon as possible.

Although there is some confusion at City Hall regarding the duties and powers of the Recreation Board, City Attorney Charles Z. Heskett said the ordinance as he sees it calls for co-operation between the board and Street Commissioner Myers G. Light.

Heskett said in his opinion the board is a planning and co-ordinating group which was set up to centralize recreation activities; but that the board's actions would be subject to approval of the Mayor and Council because the council furnishes its funds.

Heskett said Light would have to approve the payroll and other expenditures as provided by the city charter. The street commissioner loses none of his powers over the city's property even though a board has been named, the city attorney added.

As yet no money has been appropriated for the board. Light pointed out yesterday that the group has not submitted its budget request and that the amount of the city's revenue for the next year has not been determined.

"Drug Addict" Jailed For Four Month Term

Accused of threatening Dr. Henry Hodgson, Lonaconing, Thursday night when he refused a shot of dope, Charles J. Madison, 48, Ashboro, N. C., was sentenced to four months in the Maryland House of Correction when he was found guilty of vagrancy by Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court.

In docketing the case Magistrate Bruce wrote that Madison is a drug addict. The man told the court he had been using dope for 19 years.

City Loses Power To License Circus, Carnival Shows

Because of new state licensing regulations, the city no longer has the power to license carnivals and circuses, and all that shows wishing to exhibit here need do is to secure a state license from the Court House, according to Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney. The carnival fee was $250 weekly and the circus fee $100 daily.

The American Legion Athletic Association of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13 has applied to the city for a permit to allow the John W. Marks Shows to exhibit at Community Park, May 19-24, but according to the Heskett ruling the Mayor and Council no longer has authority to approve or reject.

The attorney prepared an ordinance to replace the one licensing various devices and activities such as pin ball machines and junk yards. In a number of cases the proposed ordinance would raise the license fee.

Among the items still included will be hand bills, parking lots, fire sales, shooting galleries, pin ball machines, second hand licenses, sound trucks, fortune telling, pawn brokers, junk yards and hotels not covered by the alcoholic beverage act.

The city loses its licensing power over other hotels, peddlers, gasoline pumps, vending machines and other items in addition to circuses and carnivals.

In return for this loss of revenue the city will be reimbursed by the state.

Heskett also said the city will have to change its fiscal year basis by October 1948. Currently the city's fiscal year starts April 1 and the new state regulation makes it mandatory for cities and counties to adopt January 1 or July 1 as the starting period.

It was indicated today at City Hall that Cumberland will go on a July 1 basis but not for this year. In this way the city would have a year's experience on receiving new revenue from the state before going on the new basis. Thus the city would levy for 12 months starting April 1, 1947, but would levy for 15 months starting April 1, 1948.

198 Children Are Examined At Clinic

During the first day of the two-day orthopedic clinic, which opened yesterday at headquarters of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children, 198 children were examined by three Baltimore specialists conducting the clinic, according to Mrs. Hume O. Annan, executive secretary of the league.

The specialists, Dr. George E. Bennett, Dr. E. David Weinberg and Dr. George O. Eaton, were accompanied here by Miss Myrtle Morgan, assistant superintendent of Children's Hospital School, Baltimore; Miss Jane Oliver, public health nurse, and Miss Shirley Bernard, secretary of the State Department of Health.

Approximately 100 appointments have been made for this morning. The clinic will end at noon.

Volunteer workers at yesterday's clinic were Mrs. Milton Bernstein, Mrs. Nat Guggenheimer, Mrs. Frederick Steiding aind Mrs. Arthur Jones. Also assisting was Mrs. Gorman Getty, a temporary memoer of the league staff.

hundreds of calls within a very short time, according to Howard M. Smith, manager of the local office, and the heavy volume kept up for about three hours. It became necessary to handle only calls of the direst emergency until the volume decreased and regular operators returned to their posts at 10 p. m.

Smith said, "We are glad a settlement has been reached in the dispute of our plant and maintenance employes."

He added that operators returned to the switchboards at 10 o'clock last night on their regular schedule and that normal service resumed at that hour.

Express Appreciation

"We again would like to express our deepest appreciation to the general public for the splendid co-operation in limiting their calls to those of an emergency nature," Smith said. "To the best of our knowledge, all emergency calls were completed as a result of the public's splendid co-operation."

Contacted in Baltimore, Foster, MFTW president, said pickets were to be withdrawn at once which would clear the way for operators to return to work.

He said union officers are requesting members to return to work and are not asking them to honor picket lines.

Foster added, however:

"If their spirit of unionism tells them not to cross a picket line they should use their own discretion."

Soon after the agreement was reached at 4 p. m., Foster said the union sent its notice of withdrawal from the National Federation of Telephone Workers to that organization's secretary.

Local union members had disclosed Thursday night that the MFTW voted to withdraw from the NFTW on or before July 1 and voted against joining a new union, the Communications Workers of America. They said this left the way open for them to affiliate with the CIO or AFL or any other union.

In Baltimore, August B. Haneke, vice president and general manager of the telephone company, declared that with the signing of the contract with the Maryland Federation of Telephone Workers, Inc., yesterday, telephone men and women are being welcomed back to their jobs.

"For many years," Haneke said, "Telephone men and women, pioneering the telephone business, have built up an enviable reputation in giving increasingly better service to the public. The splendid tradition of the spirit of service has been made possible," Haneke said, "by the devotion to duty of operators, craftsmen, engineers and telephone men and women in whatever job they fulfill.

"In returning to their posts there will be an increased determination," he said, "on the part of all telephone men and women to rekindle the spirit of service, and give more and better service to the people we have so long and so loyally served."

CALVIN MAHANEY IS IN REGIONAL EVENT

Calvin Mahaney, Fort Hill High School student, who finished second in the state public speaking contest for high school students, last week in Baltimore, will get another chance in the regional finals of the Knights of Pythias-sponsored event next month.

Mahaney and three other students, including Barbee Sue Mansfield, of Allegany High, were tied for first place in the first judging of the Baltimore contest. Following a conference, two of the contestants were eliminated, leaving Virginia Riley, Olney High, Silver Spring, and Mahaney still tied for first. By a 2-1 vote of the judges, Miss Olney was then declared the winner of the $100 first prize.

Because of the unusual amount of interest in the event, it was decided to have two contestants represent each state on the May regionals, giving Mahaney another chance to compete. Other states taking part in the regionals, which will be held May 25 either here or in Frederick, are West Virginia, Virginia and the District of Columbia.

The subject of the Baltimore oration was "Juvenile Delinquency, Its Cause and Cure." Eight students, five of which were girls, participater, two from Cumberland, three from Montgomery County, two from Baltimore City and one from Charles County.

Naval Reserve Head Plans Visit Here

Capt. Valery Havard, Norfolk, Va., director of naval reserve for the Fifth Naval District, will come to Cumberland next Sunday, May 4, and arrangements are being made for him to confer with city officials regarding the proposed naval armory here.

Lt. Comdr. Walter N. Hedrick, organizing officer for the Cumberland Organized Naval Reserve Division, said the conference is tentatively scheduled for Monday morning, May 5, at City Hall, with Mayor Thomas S. Post, City Attorney Charles Z. Heskett, and City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer.

At present, construction bids for the armory are being accepted by the Public Works Department of the Fifth Naval District. Capt. Havard, who will be accompanied by his wife, will also confer with William L. Wilson, Jr., and William H. Geppert, members of the local Naval Reserve advisory committee.

Fund Set Aside To Pay Liquor Board

Under an order signed yesterday by judges of the Circuit Court, Clerk Robert Jackson is required to set aside a fund of $10,000 from liquor license fees, keep a separate account and pay the monthly salaries of members of the Allegany County Liquor Control Board beginning May 16.

Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson approved the petition filed by the board "because the law passed by the Maryland Assembly last month failed to provide for their pay."

Former Judge Walter C. Capper, chairman of the board; Fred Crowe, Frostburg, and Henry J. Sweene, Mt. Savage, members named in the act, filed the petition.

The act of the legislature provides that each member shall be paid $2,000 a year; that Capper will serve six years; Sweene, four, and Crowe, two years. The board has established an officce on the third floor of the Court House and has already contracted for printing, stationery and other items.

City Loses Power To License Circus, Carnival Shows

Because of new state licensing regulations, the city no longer has the power to license carnivals and circuses, and all that shows wishing to exhibit here need do is to secure a state license from the Court House, according to Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney. The carnival fee was $250 weekly and the circus fee $100 daily.

The American Legion Athletic Association of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13 has applied to the city for a permit to allow the John W. Marks Shows to exhibit at Community Park, May 19-24, but according to the Heskett ruling the Mayor and Council no longer has authority to approve or reject.

The attorney prepared an ordinance to replace the one licensing various devices and activities such as pin ball machines and junk yards. In a number of cases the proposed ordinance would raise the license fee.

Among the items still included will be hand bills, parking lots, fire sales, shooting galleries, pin ball machines, second hand licenses, sound trucks, fortune telling, pawn brokers, junk yards and hotels not covered by the alcoholic beverage act.

The city loses its licensing power over other hotels, peddlers, gasoline pumps, vending machines and other items in addition to circuses and carnivals.

In return for this loss of revenue the city will be reimbursed by the state.

Heskett also said the city will have to change its fiscal year basis by October 1948. Currently the city's fiscal year starts April 1 and the new state regulation makes it mandatory for cities and counties to adopt January 1 or July 1 as the starting period.

It was indicated today at City Hall that Cumberland will go on a July 1 basis but not for this year. In this way the city would have a year's experience on receiving new revenue from the state before going on the new basis. Thus the city would levy for 12 months starting April 1, 1947, but would levy for 15 months starting April 1, 1948.

198 Children Are Examined At Clinic

During the first day of the two-day orthopedic clinic, which opened yesterday at headquarters of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children, 198 children were examined by three Baltimore specialists conducting the clinic, according to Mrs. Hume O. Annan, executive secretary of the league.

The specialists, Dr. George E. Bennett, Dr. E. David Weinberg and Dr. George O. Eaton, were accompanied here by Miss Myrtle Morgan, assistant superintendent of Children's Hospital School, Baltimore; Miss Jane Oliver, public health nurse, and Miss Shirley Bernard, secretary of the State Department of Health.

Ridgeley Primary Scheduled May 2

Two candidates for mayor and 10 for councilmen will be selected at a nomination meeting in Ridgeley, scheduled for next Friday, May 2, at 7:30 p. m. in the Knobley School building.

The election will be held at the same place June 3 with the successful candidates taking office July 1 to serve two-year terms.

The present mayor is Odbert Poling and the five councilmen include Ralston Kelso, William Bittinger, Raymond Swadley, Floyd Decker and Delmer O. Schartiger. Mrs. John Byer is town recorder.

CALVIN MAHANEY IS IN REGIONAL EVENT

Calvin Mahaney, Fort Hill High School student, who finished second in the state public speaking contest for high school students, last week in Baltimore, will get another chance in the regional finals of the Knights of Pythias-sponsored event next month.

Mahaney and three other students, including Barbee Sue Mansfield, of Allegany High, were tied for first place in the first judging of the Baltimore contest. Following a conference, two of the contestants were eliminated, leaving Virginia Riley, Olney High, Silver Spring, and Mahaney still tied for first. By a 2-1 vote of the judges, Miss Olney was then declared the winner of the $100 first prize.

Because of the unusual amount of interest in the event, it was decided to have two contestants represent each state on the May regionals, giving Mahaney another chance to compete. Other states taking part in the regionals, which will be held May 25 either here or in Frederick, are West Virginia, Virginia and the District of Columbia.

The subject of the Baltimore oration was "Juvenile Delinquency, Its Cause and Cure." Eight students, five of which were girls, participater, two from Cumberland, three from Montgomery County, two from Baltimore City and one from Charles County.

Thomas Peter Cowan, and Margaret E. Hershberger.

Richard W. Miller, Beryl, W. Va., and Eleanor D. Coonts, Cumberland.

William Nisbin Hall, Geneva, Ohio, and Mary E. Norris, city.

Thomas W. Davis and Mary E. Anderson, city.

Harry W. Pennel and Mary Catherine D'Amato, city.

Naval Reserve Head Plans Visit Here

Capt. Valery Havard, Norfolk, Va., director of naval reserve for the Fifth Naval District, will come to Cumberland next Sunday, May 4, and arrangements are being made for him to confer with city officials regarding the proposed naval armory here.

Lt. Comdr. Walter N. Hedrick, organizing officer for the Cumberland Organized Naval Reserve Division, said the conference is tentatively scheduled for Monday morning, May 5, at City Hall, with Mayor Thomas S. Post, City Attorney Charles Z. Heskett, and City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer.

At present, construction bids for the armory are being accepted by the Public Works Department of the Fifth Naval District. Capt. Havard, who will be accompanied by his wife, will also confer with William L. Wilson, Jr., and William H. Geppert, members of the local Naval Reserve advisory committee.

Fund Set Aside To Pay Liquor Board

Under an order signed yesterday by judges of the Circuit Court, Clerk Robert Jackson is required to set aside a fund of $10,000 from liquor license fees, keep a separate account and pay the monthly salaries of members of the Allegany County Liquor Control Board beginning May 16.

Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson approved the petition filed by the board "because the law passed by the Maryland Assembly last month failed to provide for their pay."

Former Judge Walter C. Capper, chairman of the board; Fred Crowe, Frostburg, and Henry J. Sweene, Mt. Savage, members named in the act, filed the petition.

The act of the legislature provides that each member shall be paid $2,000 a year; that Capper will serve six years; Sweene, four, and Crowe, two years. The board has established an offiice on the third floor of the Court House and has already contracted for printing, stationery and other items.

City Civil Service Exam List Closed

Final date for filing applications for civil service examinations for appointment to police and fire positions in the city has passed, according to Samuel E. Griminger, secretary to the Board of Civil Service Commissioners.

Three men have filed applications for examination to qualify for the post of assistant fire chief. Two new candidates and four Police Department eligibles have filed. Men already eligible may maintain present ratings or take the examination again.

Six new candidates for Fire Department jobs and two eligibles have also filed. The examinations will be given Tuesday night at 7 p. m. in Fort Hill High School.

Yes, we consider it just that important. We're really jealous of the uniformly high quality of Louella Butter. That's why our standards of production are so high, and our requirements in inspection so exacting.

Our laboratories are constantly at work. The test tube and the microscope in the hands of expert chemists are used daily to back up our insistence that Louella Butter goes to the consumer sweet and pure. Each pound contains the rich sweet cream from 10 quarts of pure fresh milk. lb. ctn. 69c

The simple pleasures of childhood are innocent and wholesome, and may constitute the happiest memories of later years. Fortunate is that child whose environment tends to promote such happiness.

All too quickly this little boy and girl will grow out of carefree childhood, and will be called upon to face the duties and responsibilities of life. Much will depend upon their early training and environment.

If the principles of truth, honesty and right living are instilled in their minds during these early, impressionable years, they will be prepared to meet the duties, responsibilities and dangers of life as they come.

Every child is entitled to a home in which he can develop a strong character along with his physical growth—a home in which the deep spiritual significance of life is impressed upon him from his earliest years.

Religion should be the guiding light of every home, and children should be brought up in the Church and in the faith and knowledge of God. Thus they will walk safely in life, and their lives will prove a blessing and an inspiration to others.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to Church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

The simple pleasures of childhood are innocent and wholesome, and may constitute the happiest memories of later years. Fortunate is that child whose environment tends to promote such happiness.

All too quickly this little boy and girl will grow out of carefree childhood, and will be called upon to face the duties and responsibilities of life. Much will depend upon their early training and environment.

If the principles of truth, honesty and right living are instilled in their minds during these early, impressionable years, they will be prepared to meet the duties, responsibilities and dangers of life as they come.

Every child is entitled to a home in which he can develop a strong character along with his physical growth—a home in which the deep spiritual significance of life is impressed upon him from his earliest years.

Religion should be the guiding light of every home, and children should be brought up in the Church and in the faith and knowledge of God. Thus they will walk safely in life, and their lives will prove a blessing and an inspiration to others.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to Church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

LAUNCH OUT INTO THE DEEP

So often I'm discouraged and ready to quit. Who isn't?

So often I feel that it's useless to struggle against circumstances . . . that there's nothing I can do about the pain and the waste and the unfairness of life.

So often I wish that life could be easier, that I didn't have to fight so hard for the things I do.

And when those moods come I remember one of the old stories in the Bible that has brought comfort to so many in its time.

Do you remember the three fishermen, Simon, James and John, who had toiled all night and yet with the morning their nets were empty? As so often our nets seem empty. So they sat and slumped in their boats, discouraged and disgusted.

And there came by a young man whom they did not recognize—a young man who was wise about tides and men and the dark, secret places of the sea and of the soul. And he sat and talked with them in a friendly way, noting their idle hands, their empty nets and even more empty spirits.

And as he listened to their grumbling he said something which must have seemed very strange to them. He said, "Launch out into the deep and let down your nets for a draught."

How they must have stared at those unreasonable words. For had they not already fished for many hours without results? What was the use of letting down their nets, of more work and weariness?

And Simon spoke up and said, "Master, we have toiled all night and taken nothing. Nevertheless at thy word I will let down the net." Good natured, grumbling Simon—always willing to do the thing that was asked of him and always making a great fuss about doing it.

Nevertheless, just to humor this strange young man they struck out, far beyond the shallows in which they had been fishing and launched their nets into the deep.

"AND WHEN THEY HAD SO DONE, THEY ENCLOSED GREAT MULTITUDES OF FISH AND THEIR NET BROKE."

Discouraged? Ready to quit? Empty handed after hours and maybe years of senseless toil? And you think that is the end? You think there is no other answer?

You're wrong. Gather up your nets! Clench your hands and bend your back again and launch out into the deep. Leave the beach where you have been stranded in fear and indifference. Leave the quiet, easy way of life which you had thought to make your own. Launch out into the deep.

Launch out into the hard adventures of life, into the rough sacrifices and risks! Dare the wind and the storm and the lashing surf. Call up new energy within yourself and new initiative! Call up new courage. Launch out into the deep.

For your reward does not lie here in the soft and easy places. It does not lie in the shallows of life. It lies waiting for you in the depths but you must go to it. You must dare it. You must dare it as that strange young man whom we call Jesus dared. For He too took His life as a man might take a net and launched it into the depths of agony and shame and discouragement. Yet after 2000 years His net is still full and you have an eternity to fill your own.

Garrett County Revenue Jump Cited In Report

$487,947 Additional Allocation Expected

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND, April 25—Garrett County will receive $487,947.97 additional revenue annually, according to a breakdown of increased county allocations resulting from legislation enacted in the 1947 session of the General Assembly.

This information was received by the county members of the General Assembly from John B. Funk, secretary of state.

The largest increases are in the school and road funds. Where in 1946-47 the county received $331,183 from the state for schools, it will now receive in 1947-48 $591,429, or an increase of $260,246. In addition by adding five cents to the county tax rate the county will also receive as a school incentive fund $46,290.

In the roads department there will be an increase of $140,559.43, for a total of $332,960.56 in 1947-48 as compared with $192,401.13 in the previous fiscal year. From income tax the amount this year is increased to $4,375.79.

The county is also to receive additional funds from four sources from which it received nothing last year. They are: racing, $27,852.75; admissions tax, $500; licenses, $9,160, and recordation tax, $2,500. Since the racing measure was passed in the 1946 special session, about $13,204.99 will be received in the 1946-47 fiscal year which ends June 30.

Some figures received a few days ago by former Senator B. I. Gonder show how the racing funds are expected to be allocated to the various incorporated towns, and to the county itself. These figures were also supplied by Funk.

Accident, $330; Deer Park, $450; Friendsville, $800; Grantsville, $650; Kitzmiller, $1,200; Loch Lynn, $470; Mt. Lake Park, $760; Oakland, $2,200; Garrett county, $24,000. These figures were based on 80 per cent of what the racing receipts have been in the past, so it appeared likely that the total amounts would be increased. The allocation of the racing funds is based on population.

Fund Totals $84,426

Contributions to the Garrett County Memorial Hospital fund totaled $1,125.50 for the week, to boost the amount to $84,426.72. The original drive was for $80,000.

E. R. Jones, one of the executors of the will of the late George W. Loar, which left $170,000 to the hospital, and charged with the responsibility of seeing that the construction of the hospital gets under way, went to Baltimore this week to confer with members of the State Hospital Planning Board. Just when the matching funds from the government would be available was not definitely known.

Among the contributions this week was one of $400 from Mr. and Mrs. Fulcher P. Smith for a nurse's duty room. Mr. and Mrs. B. I. Gonder contributed $250; Virgil T. Steyer $100, and others ranged from $25 down to $1.

Johnson Service Held

A funeral service was conducted Tuesday morning for William H. Johnson, 85, who died at the home of Mrs. J. B. King, Loch Lynn Heights, on April 20, after a brief illness. He had been blind for several years.

Mr. Johnson was born in Pennsylvania on February 21, 1862. He had worked as a laborer for a number of years and had resided in Loch Lynn for at least 20 years. There are no known surviving relatives.

Services were held at the Baptist Church in Loch Lynn with Rev. James MacLeod, pastor, in charge. Interment was in the Wonderly Cemetery.

Dies In California

Word was received here of the death of J. M. Crane, former resident of Kingwood, W. Va., and Loch Lynn Heights, which occurred in Long Beach, Calif., on Tuesday, April 22. He had resided in California for 25 years or more.

He was a member of the Masonic Lodge and final rites were in charge of that organization.

Clean-Up Day Held

Brooms, mops and buckets took the place of school books as the children trudged to the Oakland Elementary School on Wednesday. A clean-up day had been proclaimed and the teachers planned a project in which the pupils would be taught the proper methods of cleaning.

Most of the students and teachers took part, some of those in the upper grades assisting smaller children in the lower grades. Floors and woodwork, windows and furniture were given a thorough cleaning and the woodwork and furniture then given a waxing and polishing. A clean-up squad was also appointed for the school grounds. Teachers and pupils were appropriately dressed for the affair.

Drive Report Given

Contributions in the annual Red Cross fund drive reached $2,144.55 this week, it was reported by Mrs. Paul B. Naylor, county chairman, leaving more than $1,000 needed to reach the quota of $3,285. More than 860 persons have contributed $1 or more to the Red Cross for 1947. Over $334 was collected from the Kitzmiller area by the Kitzmiller Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion. Misses Ethel and Viola Broadwater solicited $416.69 in the Grantsville section, $79.82 of that amount being received from the Grantsville school.

Students Honored

Sixty-three students made the honor roll at Oakland High School for the third term. Room III-B was in first place with 10. The total is a drop of six from the second term's 69 students. Last year's honor roll for the same term in the three classes was 82.

Following the reception in their honor the bride and bridegroom departed on a honeymoon trip to the East coast.

Eckhart War Memorial Site Being Discussed

Over $800 Donated Toward $1,000 Goal

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, April 25 — Joseph Montana, head of the committee in charge of collecting funds for the erection of a memorial in honor of the men of Eckhart and surrounding communities, who lost their lives in the fist and second World Wars, reports that more than $800 has been received. The goal is $1,000 and indications are that more than that amount will be contributed.

The committee is now considering several sites, which will be submitted for the approval of a public meeting of citizens.

Frostburg Briefs

A class of candidates was received into Frostburg Council No. 1442, Knights of Columbus, this week, at a specia initiation ceremony. The class consists of Jerry Conway, Robert Dilley, William McGinnis, William Harden, Anthony Serra and John Shertzer.

A spokesman for Frostburg organizations operating clubs, stated today that bar rooms will be closed Sunday and no one, including members, will be admitted.

The Eckhart Homemakers will hold a special meeting Monday at 7:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. H. R. Oldridge, 38 West Loo Street. Mrs. G. T. Kroll, president, will preside.

Frostburg Personals

Mrs. Bessie Wilkes, wife of Howard Wilkes, Barton, is a patient in Miners Hospital, where she underwent an operation Thursday.

Mrs. Robert E. Metger and infant son returned to their home from Miners Hospital today.

Miss Effie Plummer, Borden Shaft, underwent a major operation in Miners Hospital Thursday.

Mrs. John Winebrenner and infant son, Borden Road, returned to their home from Miners Hospital today.

Bernard Byrnes, Jr., is a patient in Miners Hospital, where he underwent an operation Wednesday.

Rev. George E. Lampher, West Loo Street; Mrs. E. Price Steiding, Lonaconing, and Mrs. Charles Richardson, Water Street, are home from Miners Hospital.

Mrs. Eugene Smith, 41 Mill Street, is a patient in Miners Hospital.

Hero Medal Given Pastor Drowned In Garrett County

PITTSBURGH, April 25 (AP) — A tailor who was seriously wounded saving the life of a policeman and a clergyman who died attempting to save a youngster from drowning were awarded bronze medals today by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission.

The posthumous award was made to Rev. Charles R. Sisk, Iaeger, W. Va. Besides the medal, his widow will receive $80 a month in death benefits.

Sisk, 31, was drowned with eight-year-old William R. Speicher at Grantsville, Md., in June, 1946.

William had waded into the Casselman River to the brink of an 18-inch fall and was swept into a whirlpool seven feet deep. An older boy lay prone at the bottom of the brink and tried to reach the child, when Sisk waded in and pulled him back. Sisk then jumped into the pool but was drowned almost immediately.

Simon Fried, 38-year-old Baltimore tailor, who already has received money gifts and a specially struck "Hero's Medal" from former Gov. Herbert O'Conor, of Maryland, was the other Carnegie award winner.

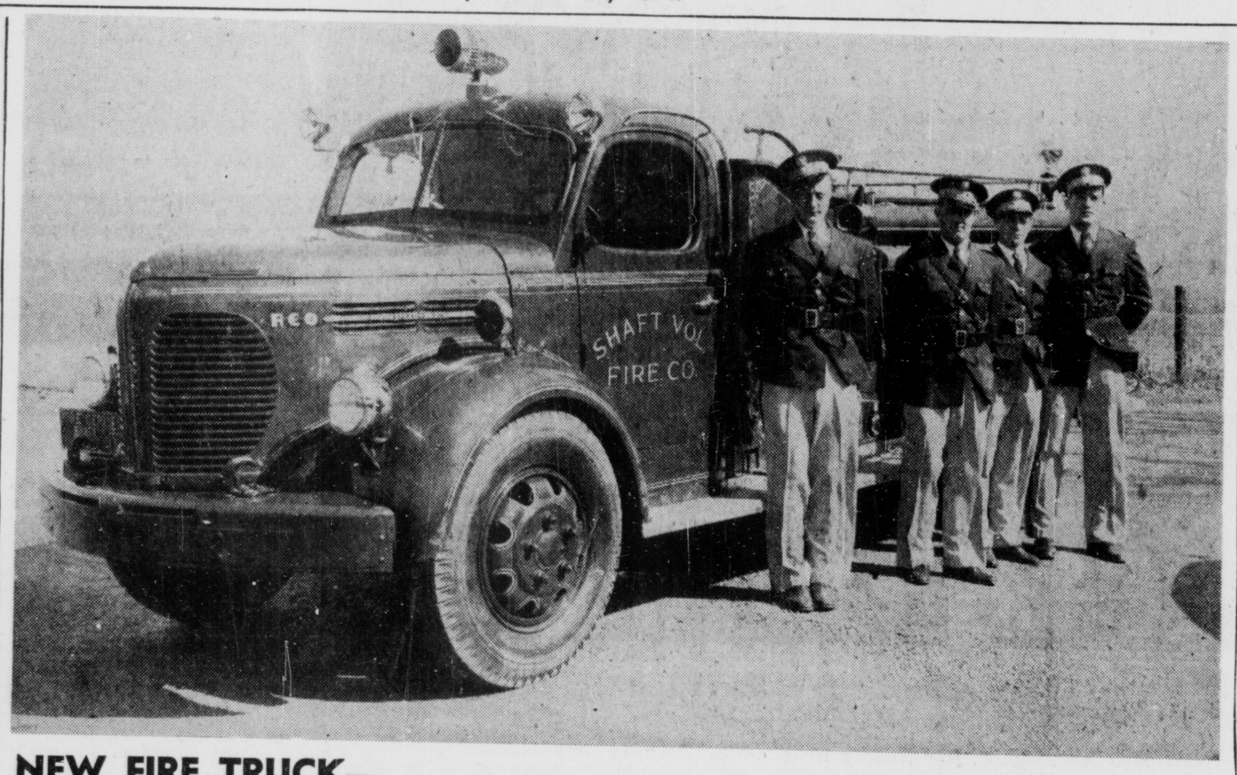
He was shot and wounded in August, 1946, when he came to the aid of a patrolman who had been knocked to the ground by an armed assailant.

Fried, sitting on his front steps, saw the scuffle, which started when Patrolman Edwin J. Humphries tried to make an arrest. Humphries was knocked unconscious and fell to the ground, dropping his revolver about 10 feet away.

The tailor ran across the street, grabbed the revolver, and ordered the assailant to leave Humphries alone. But the man turned on Fried and fired three shots, one of which struck Fried in the side, permanently crippling him.

Fried fell to the street, but managed to sit up and fired at the fleeing man, who later was arrested.

Fried still limps and is able to work only a few hours a day.



NEW FIRE TRUCK—The truck, shown above, recently purchased by the Shaft Volunteer Fire Department, has arrived and is now in use. Garrett County Revenue Jump Cited In Report

$487,947 Additional Allocation Expected

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND, April 25—Garrett County will receive $487,947.97 additional revenue annually, according to a breakdown of increased county allocations resulting from legislation enacted in the 1947 session of the General Assembly.

This information was received by the county members of the General Assembly from John B. Funk, secretary of state.

The largest increases are in the school and road funds. Where in 1946-47 the county received $331,183 from the state for schools, it will now receive in 1947-48 $591,429, or an increase of $260,246. In addition by adding five cents to the county tax rate the county will also receive as a school incentive fund $46,290.

In the roads department there will be an increase of $140,559.43, for a total of $332,960.56 in 1947-48 as compared with $192,401.13 in the previous fiscal year. From income tax the amount this year is increased to $4,375.79.

The county is also to receive additional funds from four sources from which it received nothing last year. They are: racing, $27,852.75; admissions tax, $500; licenses, $9,160, and recordation tax, $2,500. Since the racing measure was passed in the 1946 special session, about $13,204.99 will be received in the 1946-47 fiscal year which ends June 30.

Some figures received a few days ago by former Senator B. I. Gonder show how the racing funds are expected to be allocated to the various incorporated towns, and to the county itself. These figures were also supplied by Funk.

Accident, $330; Deer Park, $450; Friendsville, $800; Grantsville, $650; Kitzmiller, $1,200; Loch Lynn, $470; Mt. Lake Park, $760; Oakland, $2,200; Garrett county, $24,000. These figures were based on 80 per cent of what the racing receipts have been in the past, so it appeared likely that the total amounts would be increased. The allocation of the racing funds is based on population.

Fund Totals $84,426

Contributions to the Garrett County Memorial Hospital fund totaled $1,125.50 for the week, to boost the amount to $84,426.72. The original drive was for $80,000.

E. R. Jones, one of the executors of the will of the late George W. Loar, which left $170,000 to the hospital, and charged with the responsibility of seeing that the construction of the hospital gets under way, went to Baltimore this week to confer with members of the State Hospital Planning Board. Just when the matching funds from the government would be available was not definitely known.

Among the contributions this week was one of $400 from Mr. and Mrs. Pulcher P. Smith for a nurse's duty room. Mr. and Mrs. B. I. Gonder contributed $250; Virgil T. Steyer $100, and others ranged from $25 down to $1.

Johnson Service Held

A funeral service was conducted Tuesday morning for William H. Johnson, 85, who died at the home of Mrs. J. B. King, Loch Lynn Heights, on April 20, after a brief illness. He had been blind for several years.

Mr. Johnson was born in Pennsylvania on February 21, 1862. He had worked as a laborer for a number of years and had resided in Loch Lynn for at least 20 years. There are no known surviving relatives.

Services were held at the Baptist Church in Loch Lynn with Rev. James MacLeod, pastor, in charge. Interment was in the Wonderly Cemetery.

Dies In California

Word was received here of the death of J. M. Crane, former resident of Kingwood, W. Va., and Loch Lynn Heights, which occurred in Long Beach, Calif., on Tuesday, April 22. He had resided in California for 25 years or more.

He was a member of the Masonic Lodge and final rites were in charge of that organization.

Clean-Up Day Held

Brooms, mops and buckets took the place of school books as the children trudged to the Oakland Elementary School on Wednesday. A clean-up day had been proclaimed and the teachers planned a project in which the pupils would be taught the proper methods of cleaning.

Most of the students and teachers took part, some of those in the upper grades assisting smaller children in the lower grades. Floors and woodwork, windows and furniture were given a thorough cleaning and the woodwork and furniture then given a waxing and polishing. A clean-up squad was also appointed for the school grounds. Teachers and pupils were appropriately dressed for the affair.

Drive Report Given

Contributions in the annual Red Cross fund drive reached $2,144.55 this week, it was reported by Mrs. Paul B. Naylor, county chairman, leaving more than $1,000 needed to reach the quota of $3,285. More than 860 persons have contributed $1 or more to the Red Cross for 1947. Over $334 was collected from the Kitzmiller area by the Kitzmiller Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion. Misses Ethel and Viola Broadwater solicited $416.69 in the Grantsville section, $79.82 of that amount being received from the Grantsville school.

Students Honored

Sixty-three students made the honor roll at Oakland High School for the third term. Room III-B was in first place with 10. The total is a drop of six from the second term's 69 students. Last year's honor roll for the same term in the three classes was 82.

Hero Medal Given Pastor Drowned In Garrett County

PITTSBURGH, April 25 (AP) — A tailor who was seriously wounded saving the life of a policeman and a clergyman who died attempting to save a youngster from drowning were awarded bronze medals today by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission.

The posthumous award was made to Rev. Charles R. Sisk, Iaeger, W. Va. Besides the medal, his widow will receive $80 a month in death benefits.

Sisk, 31, was drowned with eight-year-old William R. Speicher at Grantsville, Md., in June, 1946.

William had waded into the Casselman River to the brink of an 18-inch fall and was swept into a whirlpool seven feet deep. An older boy lay prone at the bottom of the brink and tried to reach the child, when Sisk waded in and pulled him back. Sisk then jumped into the pool but was drowned almost immediately.

Simon Fried, 38-year-old Baltimore tailor, who already has received money gifts and a specially struck "Hero's Medal" from former Gov. Herbert O'Conor, of Maryland, was the other Carnegie award winner.

He was shot and wounded in August, 1946, when he came to the aid of a patrolman who had been knocked to the ground by an armed assailant.

Fried, sitting on his front steps, saw the scuffle, which started when Patrolman Edwin J. Humphries tried to make an arrest. Humphries was knocked unconscious and fell to the ground, dropping his revolver about 10 feet away.

The tailor ran across the street, grabbed the revolver, and ordered the assailant to leave Humphries alone. But the man turned on Fried and fired three shots, one of which struck Fried in the side, permanently crippling him.

Fried fell to the street, but managed to sit up and fired at the fleeing man, who later was arrested.

Fried still limps and is able to work only a few hours a day.

Hit Parade To Change Network; Time Reduced

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, April 25. (AP)—Saturday night listening fare is to undergo a certain amount of alteration come tomorrow night. The bulk of it is due to the transfer of the Hit Parade from one network to another.

In the shift, the Parade moves from CBS, where it has been for a decade, to NBC at the same 9 o'clock time. There it will be 30 minutes instead of 45 and present seven "hit" tunes instead of ten. Otherwise, just the same program.

The departure from CBS is forcing some changes there. Among them is move to 15 minutes earlier for Saturday serenade to 9:30 and This Hollywood to 10. Other programs are to be put in the 9 and 10:30 half-hours, a new Bill Goodwin comedy at 9 and a special drama, "Case Against Cancer" at 10:30.

MBS is joining in by presenting the Cecil Brown commentary, formerly Wednesdays, at 6:30 p. m.

Two big college relay events are scheduled, NBC carrying the Drake from Des Moines at 2:45, 4:30 and 5:30 and ABC the Penn from Philadelphia at 4:30. CBS also will have the Penn relays at 3:30, 4 and 6:10.

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson is scheduled for two broadcasts, first in the ABC Youth Asks the Government at 1 p. m. and then in the CBS Country Journal at 1:30.

An MBS special is to be by the 38 voices of the Williston, N. C., college glee club at 4:30, to last half an hour . . . Providing the hour for Orchestras of the Nation on NBC at 3 will be the Detroit Symphony from the Sunday Evening hour of ABC.

Two Divorces Granted

Two couples were granted absolute divorces yesterday in Circuit Court and three more suits for divorce were filed.

Louis A. Rattenne was granted an absolute divorce from Arlene R. Rattenne and Sofie R. Simmons was awarded a divorce from Richard C. Simmons.

Ralph F. Bowser filed suit for a divorce from Anna S. Bowser; LeVena McMillen for a divorce from Richard C. McMillen and Florence L. Sullivan from Frederick A. Sullivan.

Construction Of Homes Increasing

More building permits for the construction of new homes were granted at the city engineer's office during the past month than at any time since April, 1946, according to a report released yesterday.

Nine of the 34 building permits were for residential construction, at an estimated cost of $32,200. In April, of last year, 12 permits were granted for building new homes, at an estimated cost of $44,200.

Of the 34 building permits issued during the past month, 15 were for new construction totaling $42,425, while the remaining 19 were for additions and improvements totaling $16,650.

The report pointed out that the 34 permits represented the highest number granted in one month since October, 1941, when 38 were issued. However, the total estimated cost of construction during the month, which amounted to $59,075, was exceeded in March, when only 20 building permits were issued but estimated costs totaled $59,595.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond reported in a summary of building permit figures for the Fifth Federal Reserve District that Cumberland's March total was $9,000 higher than the March, 1946 figure of $50,270. Hagerstown reported an even higher increase, with $239,100 last month as compared to $179,245 in March of last year.

In addition, the city engineer's office received 16 applications for occupancy permits, approving seven. Of the remaining nine, which were referred to the Board of Zoning Appeals, six were approved by the board and three are pending.

Mrs. Mary Simons secured a permit yesterday to build a one-story addition to a garage at the rear of 721 Oldtown Road, at an estimated cost of $150. The 14 by 16-foot addition will have a concrete block foundation and walls and a composition roof. Work will be done by Carl Johnson.

George Hits Broadcast "Lauding" Henry Wallace

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — Sen. George (D-Ga) today criticized the State Department for an overseas broadcast which he termed "laudatory" of Henry A. Wallace.

"The untimeliness of such a broadcast certainly should have been obvious to any child of 10 years," he said, citing Wallace's criticism in Europe of President Truman's anti-Communist program to aid Greece and Turkey.

"I wonder if the State Department knows in its right hand what its left hand is doing."

Dean Acheson, Acting Secretary of State, declined comment, saying he had not read the transcript of the broadcast, made on April 23.

Kentuckian Pulled Out Of Deal With Ex-Rep. May

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — A gnarled, weather-beaten Kentuckian today related that he pulled out of a wartime lumber deal with Andrew J. May, then House Military Committee chairman, because "I decided there was something wrong."

Leroy W. Fields, 70, told a Federal District Court jury trying former Congressman May and three others on war fraud charges that May failed to deliver 50 per cent of the stock in the enterprise as promised.

"It was about 11 months later than I finally decided there was something wrong," Fields said. "I decided to get out because I never had received any of my stock."

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, Ralph F. Bowser vs. Anna S. Bowser, No. 20023 Equity.

The object of this Bill is to procure a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII by the plaintiff, Ralph F. Bowser, from the defendant, Anna S. Bowser.

Bill recites that the parties were married October 8, 1941, in Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland; that the plaintiff is a resident of Frostburg, Allegany County, Maryland, and the defendant is a non-resident whose address is unknown; that no children were born as a result of said marriage; that though the plaintiff was always a kind, chaste and affectionate husband, the defendant abandoned and deserted the plaintiff on September, 30, 1944 in Lake Lynn, West Virginia, said desertion was her final and deliberate act which has continued uninterruptedly since said date and there is no hope or expectation of a reconciliation.

It is thereupon Ordered this 25th day of April, 1947, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 27th day of May, 1947, giving notice of the object and substance of this Bill to the said Anna S. Bowser, as provided by law in the case of non-residents, warning her to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 12th day of June, 1947, to show cause, if any she may have, why a Decree should not be granted as prayed.

ROBERT JACKSON,
Clerk.

Mrs. George Allen Rites Are Planned

By MARIE MERRBACH

LONACONING, April 25 —Mrs. Jennie Gardner Allen, 53, wife of George Allen, died at her home in Lord, near here, Thursday night. She had been in poor health for some time and seriously ill for two days.

She was born in Lonaconing, a daughter of Mrs. Sarah Jane Wilson Gardner, Lonaconing, and the late William G. Gardner. She made her home here until her marriage 27 years ago.

Mrs. Allen was a member of the Lonaconing Methodist Church.

Besides her husband and her mother, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Marcella Sloan, Lonaconing, and Lois, Detroit; one son, William, at home; four grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Robert M. Grove and Mrs. Robert Matthews, both of Lonaconing, and five brothers, John, William, Samuel Ellsworth and Walter Allen, all of Lonaconing.

A funeral service will be held Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the home of her mother, Washington Street, Lonaconing, by Rev. John E. Stacks, pastor of First Methodist Church. The choir of the church will sing at the service and burial will be in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Previous to 1848, golf balls had been made of leather stuffed with feathers, and the manufacture of them was difficult. That year gutta-percha balls were invented and were in vogue for many years, until the advent of the rubber-cored ball.

CIO Utility Workers To Discuss Contract

Negotiations between the Utility Workers of America, CIO, and the Potomac Edison Company on a new contract for power plant workers and linemen will be continued at a meeting Tuesday, James H. Dean, union president, said yesterday.

Dean did not disclose the union demands or company offer but said there was no immediate danger of a strike.

George Bruce Cortelyou was the first secretary of the U. S. Department of Commerce and Labor (1903-04). He was postmaster general of the U. S. in 1905-07, and secretary of the treasury in 1907-09.

Only two books in the Old Testament are named for women, Ruth and Esther; 37 for men.

Judge Carey Cites Rotary's Growth

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND, April 25 — Picturing Rotary as one of the oldest influences in American life, Judge Robert Carey, a member for many years of the Jersey City, N. J., Rotary Club, and active in boys' work there, traced the organization's history at an inter-city meeting of seven Rotary Clubs tonight at the William-Jar Hotel, attended by 100 Rotarians and their guests.

Clubs represented were those of Oakland, Frostburg and Grantsville; and Kingwood, Terra Alta, Keyser and Piedmont, W. Va. The dinner meeting was the first of its kind held in several years.

A student of history, Judge Carey, who is over 7[illegible] years of age, recounted the building of America from the time of the early settlers, emphasizing the important part which religion played in the nation's development.

He gave a parallel description of the growth of Rotary from a group of seven men in Chicago to 235,000 members in 6,000 Rotary Clubs throughout 68 countries, urging his audience to be true to the spirit of Rotary, "service above self."

The speaker was introduced by Paul B. Naylor, program chairman. F. E. Rathbun, president of the Oakland Club, presided.

The town of Mantes, France is situated on the left bank of the Seine, 30 miles from Paris. A 12th century bridge crosses the river above the town, while modern bridges connect Mantes with an islet in the Seine.

Hit Parade To Change Network; Time Reduced

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, April 25. (AP)—Saturday night listening fare is to undergo a certain amount of alteration come tomorrow night. The bulk of it is due to the transfer of the Hit Parade from one network to another.

In the shift, the Parade moves from CBS, where it has been for a decade, to NBC at the same 9 o'clock time. There it will be 30 minutes instead of 45 and present seven "hit" tunes instead of ten. Otherwise, just the same program.

The departure from CBS is forcing some changes there. Among them is move to 15 minutes earlier for Saturday serenade to 9:30 and This Hollywood to 10. Other programs are to be put in the 9 and 10:30 half-hours, a new Bill Goodwin comedy at 9 and a special drama, "Case Against Cancer" at 10:30.

MBS is joining in by presenting the Cecil Brown commentary, formerly Wednesdays, at 6:30 p. m.

Two big college relay events are scheduled, NBC carrying the Drake from Des Moines at 2:45, 4:30 and 5:30 and ABC the Penn from Philadelphia at 4:30. CBS also will have the Penn relays at 3:30, 4 and 6:10.

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson is scheduled for two broadcasts, first in the ABC Youth Asks the Government at 1 p. m. and then in the CBS Country Journal at 1:30.

An MBS special is to be by the 38 voices of the Williston, N. C., college glee club at 4:30, to last half an hour . . . Providing the hour for Orchestras of the Nation on NBC at 3 will be the Detroit Symphony from the Sunday Evening hour of ABC.

Two Divorces Granted

Two couples were granted absolute divorces yesterday in Circuit Court and three more suits for divorce were filed.

Louis A. Rattenne was granted an absolute divorce from Arlene R. Rattenne and Sofie R. Simmons was awarded a divorce from Richard C. Simmons.

Ralph F. Bowser filed suit for a divorce from Anna S. Bowser; LeVena McMillen for a divorce from Richard C. McMillen and Florence L. Sullivan from Frederick A. Sullivan.

Construction Of Homes Increasing

More building permits for the construction of new homes were granted at the city engineer's office during the past month than at any time since April, 1946, according to a report released yesterday.

Nine of the 34 building permits were for residential construction, at an estimated cost of $32,200. In April, of last year, 12 permits were granted for building new homes, at an estimated cost of $44,200.

Of the 34 building permits issued during the past month, 15 were for new construction totaling $42,425, while the remaining 19 were for additions and improvements totaling $16,650.

The report pointed out that the 34 permits represented the highest number granted in one month since October, 1941, when 38 were issued. However, the total estimated cost of construction during the month, which amounted to $59,075, was exceeded in March, when only 20 building permits were issued but estimated costs totaled $59,595.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond reported in a summary of building permit figures for the Fifth Federal Reserve District that Cumberland's March total was $9,000 higher than the March, 1946 figure of $50,270. Hagerstown reported an even higher increase, with $239,100 last month as compared to $179,245 in March of last year.

In addition, the city engineer's office received 16 applications for occupancy permits, approving seven. Of the remaining nine, which were referred to the Board of Zoning Appeals, six were approved by the board and three are pending.

Mrs. Mary Simons secured a permit yesterday to build a one-story addition to a garage at the rear of 721 Oldtown Road, at an estimated cost of $150. The 14 by 16-foot addition will have a concrete block foundation and walls and a composition roof. Work will be done by Carl Johnson.

George Hits Broadcast "Lauding" Henry Wallace

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — Sen. George (D-Ga) today criticized the State Department for an overseas broadcast which he termed "laudatory" of Henry A. Wallace.

"The untimeliness of such a broadcast certainly should have been obvious to any child of 10 years," he said, citing Wallace's criticism in Europe of President Truman's anti-Communist program to aid Greece and Turkey.

"I wonder if the State Department knows in its right hand what its left hand is doing."

Dean Acheson, Acting Secretary of State, declined comment, saying he had not read the transcript of the broadcast, made on April 23.

Kentuckian Pulled Out Of Deal With Ex-Rep. May

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — A gnarled, weather-beaten Kentuckian today related that he pulled out of a wartime lumber deal with Andrew J. May, then House Military Committee chairman, because "I decided there was something wrong."

Leroy W. Fields, 70, told a Federal District Court jury trying former Congressman May and three others on war fraud charges that May failed to deliver 50 per cent of the stock in the enterprise as promised.

"It was about 11 months later than I finally decided there was something wrong," Fields said. "I decided to get out because I never had received any of my stock."

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, Ralph F. Bowser vs. Anna S. Bowser, No. 20023 Equity.

The object of this Bill is to procure a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII by the plaintiff, Ralph F. Bowser, from the defendant, Anna S. Bowser.

Bill recites that the parties were married October 8, 1941, in Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland; that the plaintiff is a resident of Frostburg, Allegany County, Maryland, and the defendant is a non-resident whose address is unknown; that no children were born as a result of said marriage; that though the plaintiff was always a kind, chaste and affectionate husband, the defendant abandoned and deserted the plaintiff on September, 30, 1944 in Lake Lynn, West Virginia, said desertion was her final and deliberate act which has continued uninterruptedly since said date and there is no hope or expectation of a reconciliation.

It is thereupon Ordered this 25th day of April, 1947, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 27th day of May, 1947, giving notice of the object and substance of this Bill to the said Anna S. Bowser, as provided by law in the case of non-residents, warning her to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 12th day of June, 1947, to show cause, if any she may have, why a Decree should not be granted as prayed.

ROBERT JACKSON,
Clerk.

Mrs. George Allen Rites Are Planned

By MARIE MERRBACH

LONACONING, April 25 —Mrs. Jennie Gardner Allen, 53, wife of George Allen, died at her home in Lord, near here, Thursday night. She had been in poor health for some time and seriously ill for two days.

She was born in Lonaconing, a daughter of Mrs. Sarah Jane Wilson Gardner, Lonaconing, and the late William G. Gardner. She made her home here until her marriage 27 years ago.

Mrs. Allen was a member of the Lonaconing Methodist Church.

Besides her husband and her mother, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Marcella Sloan, Lonaconing, and Lois, Detroit; one son, William, at home; four grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Robert M. Grove and Mrs. Robert Matthews, both of Lonaconing, and five brothers, John, William, Samuel Ellsworth and Walter Allen, all of Lonaconing.

A funeral service will be held Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the home of her mother, Washington Street, Lonaconing, by Rev. John E. Stacks, pastor of First Methodist Church. The choir of the church will sing at the service and burial will be in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Previous to 1848, golf balls had been made of leather stuffed with feathers, and the manufacture of them was difficult. That year gutta-percha balls were invented and were in vogue for many years, until the advent of the rubber-cored ball.

CIO Utility Workers To Discuss Contract

Negotiations between the Utility Workers of America, CIO, and the Potomac Edison Company on a new contract for power plant workers and linemen will be continued at a meeting Tuesday, James H. Dean, union president, said yesterday.

Dean did not disclose the union demands or company offer but said there was no immediate danger of a strike.

George Bruce Cortelyou was the first secretary of the U. S. Department of Commerce and Labor (1903-04). He was postmaster general of the U. S. in 1905-07, and secretary of the treasury in 1907-09.

Judge Carey Cites Rotary's Growth

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND, April 25 — Picturing Rotary as one of the oldest influences in American life, Judge Robert Carey, a member for many years of the Jersey City, N. J., Rotary Club, and active in boys' work there, traced the organization's history at an inter-city meeting of seven Rotary Clubs tonight at the William-Jay Hotel, attended by 100 Rotarians and their guests.

Clubs represented were those of Oakland, Frostburg and Grantsville; and Kingwood, Terra Alta, Keyser and Piedmont, W. Va. The dinner meeting was the first of its kind held in several years.

A student of history, Judge Carey, who is over 75 years of age, recounted the building of America from the time of the early settlers, emphasizing the important part which religion played in the nation's development.

He gave a parallel description of the growth of Rotary from a group of seven men in Chicago to 235,000 members in 6,000 Rotary Clubs throughout 68 countries, urging his audience to be true to the spirit of Rotary, "service above self."

The speaker was introduced by Paul B. Naylor, program chairman. F. E. Rathbun, president of the Oakland Club, presided.

The town of Mantes, France, is situated on the left bank of the Seine, 30 miles from Paris. A 12th century bridge crosses the river above the town, while modern bridges connect Mantes with an islet in the Seine.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Young Man Of 20 Seeks Suggestions On How To Conduct Courtship

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

A young man of 20 writes to ask for suggestions on how to go about courting a girl.

Not just any girl, of course, but someone he knew in childhood, and then didn't see for awhile. When he did meet her again, he decided she was the one for him.

"I have been out with her a few times," he says, "and have had a wonderful time. I have told her of my love for her, but she tells me she isn't in love with me or anybody else, and that I shouldn't be in love with her because she doen't wish to hurt me. I am very jealous, and it hurts me to find out that she goes out with another guy."

Then he concludes with the immediate problem:

"Can you tell me ways to win a girl? I am not very good at it, even though I have had girls tell me that they were fond of me."

It would have been better, of course, if this young man had mapped out his courtship a little earlier in the game, and then carried out his plan for a reasonable length of time before asking the fatal question. Instead, he has made the mistake that so many over-hasty lovers make, and tried to get the girl to say yes before giving her any real chance to know him sufficiently to be able to tell whether she wants him or not.

No girl worth getting will allow herself to be rushed into an engagement. She wants to know a lot about a man before she agrees to join forces with him in marriage. And instead of being upset because this young woman is level-headed enough to want to "make haste slowly," our lad should be very well pleased to find her so poised and wise.

Moreover, he has no right to be hurt because she goes out with other men. She has made it quite clear that she isn't in love with anybody, which is equivalent to pointing out that she is therefore entitled to go out with as many men as she pleases. She has even been so honest as to try and warn him off, in an effort to keep him from being tripped up by his own impulsiveness.

All of this is to the good, if this young man will only be smart enough to realize it, and clever enough to restrain his eagerness. He apparently does realize, now, that he will have to back up and start all over again. And my advice to him is to behave as though he had never yet told her he loved her, and to really begin at the beginning of a courtship.

He shouldn't remind her of anything he has already said. Just let it alone for awhile. Instead, he should adopt military tactics and carry on for a "softening-up" process before attempting to go boldly in and capture her heart. Such a "softening-up" process consists of the things he speaks of in his letter as "ways to win a girl." Among these would be all those attentions which have become traditional—girts of flowers, candy, books and other appropriate things; telephone calls, which wouldn't be long and boring attempts to keep her talking as long as possible, but short and snappy ones to ask how she's doing; invitations to do interesting things, not just to spend an evening in his company; nice little attentions to her mother now and then, to get her on his side and to show the girl he's thoughtful. Such things make his feelings perfectly evident without his saying a word till the right moment comes.

Above all, he shouldn't show jealousy of her other suitors. That gives a girl a bad impression of a man and makes her feel he might be a person whose jealousy would carry over into and ruin marriage. Let him be sportsmanlike about other men, realizing that they have just the same right as he has to try to win the girl of their choice.

A player in the game of love should follow the same rules he'd observe in playing any other game: Try as hard as you can to win, but always play fair and if you lose, take it with good grace.

Dear Miss Fairfax:

We are two girls in our early teens, and our problem involves another girl whom we like very much. She is very popular and has a nice personality.

Whenever we go with her, we have a lot of fun, but we know she only goes with us when she hasn't got her other friends to go with. Behind our backs she lies about us and does everything in her power against us, but when she is with us she is an entirely different person. When we see her in the movies with other friends, she acts as if she never saw us before in her life.

In spite of all she does to us, we still like her very much. I guess it's because she's so much fun to be with. Our question is, should we continue our friendship or should we slight her? Please tell us what you think of her.

"TWO PERTURBED GIRLS."

Dear Girls:

Why on earth should you want to bother with a two-faced character like this, when there are so many nice people in the world to have for friends? Apparently this girl has a certain magnetic personality that attracts others and makes them enjoy her company, and if you find the occasional attention she highmightily awards you when she hasn't any company she likes better worth being pushed around for at other times, that's your own business. But it seems to me you ought to have more self-respect than to let her make suckers of you.

Confusing Problem

Dead Miss Fairfax:

I wonder if you could tell me how my friends and I can go about asking a group of fellows to join our crowd. I mean, to get together every so often for dancing and having fun in other ways. We include these boys at every party we have. Still, we don't know of any way in which to approach them.

Can you tell me where I could obtain a book concerning party games?

"CHICK."

Dear "Chick:"

it seems to me you have already fused. If you are already including these boys at every party you have, Your letter has me rather confused. You say you have "approached" them very definitely, and I don't quite know what further it is you want. Do you mean that all the invitations come from you girls, and the boys never respond by inviting you dancing, and out on dates generally, in return?

If that is the case, and the entertaining is all on one side, then the boys don't have very good manners, do they? But that isn't anything you can do much about, I'm afraid. If they don't know enough to return the hospitality you girls extend to them, by cooking up some kind of party of their own at which to entertain you, you can hardly suggest it. Perhaps you might stop inviting them to your parties for awhile, and see if they don't catch on that you naturally expect some reciprocity in the matter. It would be worth trying, I think.

As for a book on party games, practically every local library has some of these. I suggest you drop in at yours and consult the librarian.

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

A young man of 26 writes to ask for suggestions on how to go about courting a girl.

Not just any girl, of course, but someone he knew in childhood, and then didn't see for awhile. When he did meet her again, he decided she was the one for him.

"I have been out with her a few times," he says, "and have had a wonderful time. Bi-State League Season Opens Tomorrow

Barton Legion And Queen City Will Play Here

Five Opening Tilts Will Start At 3:30

The familiar cry of "Play Ball" will be heard throughout Allegany county and nearby Pennsylvania tomorrow afternoon when the ten-team Bi-State League launches its 1947 campaign.

President Alex "Pop" Nicol's circuit is the first of the two organized in this section to see action with games listed for Stitcher Field, this city; Hyndman, Pa., Westernport, Frostburg and Lonaconing. The eight-club Interstate League will open its season on Sunday, May 4.

Tomorrow's tilts, all scheduled to start at 3:30 daylight time, finds the Queen City Brewers, managed by Charley Doyle, playing hosts to the Barton American Legion at North End, the Hyndman (Pa.) Firemen, headed by Walter "Pete" Cook, tackling the newly organized Cumberland Amvets, skippered by Norman Gerdeman, at Hyndman; Midland American Legion battling the Frostburg Veterans of Foreign Wars in the Mountain city, and Lonaconing. Republican opposing the Romney (W.Va.) Rockets in Lonaconing.

"Babe Ruth Day" will be observed throughout the circuit in the same manner as it is being marked throughout the nation.

Umpires Are Assigned

George Layman, umpire-in-chief, has announced the following umpire assignments:

At Stitcher Field, Hubert Radcliffe and Blair; at Westernport, Davis and Keister; at Frostburg, Kelly and DiUbaldo; at Lonaconing, Andy Dunn and Ray Middleton; at Hyndman, Howard Northcraft and Warnick.

The Bi-State loop operated with eight teams last year and Westvaco, managed by Frank Sullivan, won the championship.

Westvaco, defending champions; Midland, Lonaconing, Barton, Romney and Queen City Brewers are the Bi-State clubs holding over from 1946. The Frostburg Veterans of Foreign Wars have replaced Farrady Post, American Legion, as the Mountain City's franchise holder; Hyndman Firemen and Mt. Savage have jumped from the Interstate into the Bi-State and the newly formed Amvets of Cumberland have joined "Pop" Nicol's loop for the 36-game grind which closes on Labor Day and will be followed by a Shaughnessy playoff series among the four top finishers.

Probable Pitchers

Probable starting pitchers tomorrow are:

Lou Stitcher, Amvets, vs. Paul Clapper, Hyndman.

Pat Corrigan, Barton, vs. Ival "Speed" Lambert or Bill Stevenson, Queen City.

William M. "Bill" See, Westvaco, vs. Ralph Dickel, Mt. Savage.

Al Lauber, Midland, vs. Johnny Workman or Bobby Diehl, Frostburg.

Young Bob Grove or Claude Steele, Lonaconing, vs. Don Woodson, Romney.

Gilbert Warnick is the manager at Barton, Ralph Dusic heads Romney, Lawrence McKenzie will lead Lonaconing, Richard "Dick" Stroup will guide the destinies of the Frostburg Vets, Frank Sullivan will be back at his old post in Westernport and Hubert Stevens will direct Mt. Savage.

Music At Frostburg

At Frostburg, the Arion Band, under direction of Prof. Darrell Zeller, and the newly organized drum and bugle corps of Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, will play prior to the start of the game. Mayor Marshall C. Skidmore is scheduled to toss out the first ball. The four city commissioners will attend.

The VFW committee, sponsoring the Frostburg team, requests that motorists co-operate with traffic officers to avoid two-way parking on the concrete road leading from South Water Street to the parking grounds around the community swimming pool and the ball park.

Horse Racing Returns To Churchill Downs

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 25 (AP)—Horse racing returns to Louisville tomorrow for a 19-day session at Churchill Downs.

The big feature of the spring meeting, of course, will be the 73rd annual running of the Kentucky Derby, set for May 3. But there will be a stake race every day except Monday through the meeting.

Tomorrow's feature, $10,000 added Churchill Downs Handicap for three-year-olds and upward, will share the spotlight with a six-furlong allowance race which drew five Derby eligibles.

The five eligibles include Double Jay, On Trust, W. L. Sickle, King Bay and Mel Van Orman. Quatre Blanc completes the six-horse field.

Duke Bible Class Marbles Tourney Set For Sunday

75 Boys To Compete At "Y" Playground

Approximately 75 boys are expected to take part in the annual marbles tournament sponsored by Boys' Club of Central YMCA, which will be held tomorrow from 2 to 4 p. m. at the playground area in the rear of the "Y" building.

Winfield H. Adam, program and boys' secretary, said that the tournament, open to members of the boys' club, will be conducted by Eugene Hopkins and Carl Ritchie, club leaders. Prizes will be awarded. Charles Wiebel is chairman of the Duke Memorial Bible Class committee sponsoring the program.

Members of the boys' club must attend Sunday School and secure a card from the school superintendent or their minister before they are permitted to participate in the Sunday afternoon club activities, which include lobby games, gymnasium activities, swimming, movies and seasonal sports. Each boy receives a day's membership pass which can be used at the "Y" at any time during the succeeding week.

Adam also announced that the YMCA camp committee has made arrangements with the Washington, D. C., YMCA to permit Cumberland boys between the ages of 10 and 14 to attend Camp Letts at Edgewater, Md., for a two-week camping period from June 22 to July 6.

Special reduced rates on the camping fee have been arranged for local boys who enroll for the camping period, provided 10 or more boys register. Detailed information and registration cards are available at the "Y". An adult leader will accompany the boys to Camp Letts and remain with them during the two-week period, according to Henry W. Price, chairman of the YMCA camp committee.

Loyola Nine Wins

BALTIMORE, April 25 (AP)—Loyola College hopped on three Western Maryland hurlers here today to win its third straight Mason-Dixon Conference baseball game, 12 to 6.

Sid Roche scattered seven Western Maryland hits, while his mates reached Al Malone, Bobby Logan and Ken Munroe for 13. Score:

WESTERN MD.	200 004 000—	6	7 3

Malone, Logan and Munroe, and Margarito; Roche and Wintz.

BELLOISE SCORES TKO

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP) — Steve Belloise of the Bronx, prewar middleweight contender, stopped Johnny Walker of Philadelphia tonight in the second round of their scheduled ten-round go at the St. Nicholas Arena. Belloise weighed 160¼, Walker 158½.

Referee Ruby Goldstein halted the contest at 2:41 with Walker draped over the ropes, unable to defend himself, after taking a series of crushing right and left-hand smashes to the face.

It was Belloise's 25th victory in 26 starts since his discharge from the service.

Larry (Yogi) Berra of the Yankees hit five home runs during the exhibition season and is one of the most promising rookies of the spring.

White Sox Move Into First Place Tie With Yanks

Pale Hose Conquer Cleveland, 3 To 2

CHICAGO, April 25 (AP) — The Chicago White Sox scored a run in each of their first three innings against the Cleveland Indians and then coasted to a 3-2 victory today. The win moved Chicago into a first place tie with the New York Yankees in the American League race.

The victory gave the White Sox an even break in the two-game series and supplied Rookie Bob Gillespie with his first victory of the young season.

Gillespie started and pitched seven innings on a yield of seven hits. He was replaced by Joe Haynes, who gave up Eddie Robinson's pinch double to open the Cleveland ninth.

Lefty Frank Papish took over for Haynes and pitched past the next three Indians, two of them pinch hitters, to assure Gillespie's first triumph. Box:

A's DEFEAT BOSTON

BOSTON, April 25 (AP) — Undaunted by a five run deficit, the Philadelphia Athletics pecked away today in the rain until they were only one run down and then rallied for five in the ninth to defeat the Boston Red Sox 11-7.

Ten of the A's batted in the big ninth. Pinch Hitter George (Bingo) Binks caught the Sox flatfooted when he bunted safely as the first batter. Two singles, a fielders choice, a squeeze bunt which Relief Pitcher Harry Dorish threw away, an intentional walk and a two run double by Hank Majeski accounted for the five runs. Box:

TIGERS EDGE BROWNS

DETROIT, April 25 (AP)—Parlaying six hits into as many runs with the aid of nine passes, the Detroit Tigers swapped eighth inning rallies with the St. Louis Browns today and finished on top, 6 to 5, to split their two-game series.

The Browns, shut out with two hits for seven innings, batted around for five runs off Freddie Hutchinson in the top half of the eighth to take a 5-2 lead, but rookie southpaw Clarence Iott couldn't hold it. Box:

IKE WILLIAMS WINS

COLUMBUS, O., April 25 (AP) — Ike Williams, NBA lightweight champion from Trenton, N. J., defeated Willie Russell of Columbus tonight before a crowd of 4,100 who paid $16,700 at the State Fairgrounds Coliseum. Williams won a fairly close 10-round decision.

The champion weighed 139 and Russell 138.

Yankee Owners Asked To Appear Before Chandler

Violation Of "Gag Rule" May Be Reason

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP) — Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler got tough again today and ordered Larry MacPhail and the other two New York Yankee owners, Del Webb and Dan Topping, to appear at his Cincinnati office Tuesday.

A. B. Chandler

There was no indication from the commissioner of the subjects to be discussed but it was known that he had been very much upset by MacPhail's violations of his "gag rule" in the Leo Durocher case.

When Durocher was suspended for the 1947 season, Chandler ordered all concerned that the subject was a "closed matter" and not to be discussed.

Larry Gives Interview

MacPhail called a press conference the next day in which he touched on the subject and gave out an interview to Harry Nash in the Newark Evening News April 18 in which he was quoted as saying "Commissioner Chandler didn't have sufficient grounds on which to hang a five-minute suspension" on Durocher, the Brooklyn manager.

MacPhail's only comment to reports that he would be charged with "insubordination" were "very interesting if true." He was supposed to meet with New York civic leaders Tuesday to discuss the problem of juvenile delinquency and may request a brief postponement.

"MacPhail's part may be put off until Wednesday," Chandler said. "He had made some plans before we knew this and it's not important enough to change them. Not that this isn't important. They tell me Topping is out of the country on a fishing trip. That's all right. I'll get him later."

Chandler revealed the notice to MacPhail had been sent in a telegram from Cincinnati Monday night and insisted he had not seen any baseball men during his New York stay.

"We will inquire into a number of things," the commissioner said. "I have been doing some investigating while I have been here. We want to get the whole story and we are going to get it."

Tried To Influence Others

There had been reports that MacPhail had attempted to influence other club owners to throw their weight in support of his appeal to President Will Harridge for an appeal of Durocher's suspension. That will be one of the things Chandler will "look into."

Another matter that probably promoted Chandler's action was the performance of Coach Charley Dressen, who daily participated in pre-game practice despite a 30-day suspension. Dressen hit to the infield and worked with the players up to the time the umpires appeared on the field in all games prior to Tuesday when he was ordered by the commissioner not to appear in uniform for the length of his "term."

CHUCK TAYLOR LOSES

DETROIT, April 25 (AP) — Tony Pellone, New York Italian welterweight came back strong in the last three rounds tonight to earn a 10-round split decision over Chuck Taylor, Coalport, Pa., in the main event of an Olympia Stadium fight show.

Taylor, a 2 to 1 underdog in the betting, appeared to tire toward the finish as Pellone took all of the last three rounds with steady, hard punching. Pellone weighed 146, Taylor 145.

Pellone scored the only knockdown, sending Taylor to both knees with a left hook in the 10th round for no count.

Judge Joe Jenahan gave it to Taylor on points but Frank Fisher, the other judge, and Referee Johnny Weber voted for Pellone.

PEARMAN FOILS ILLINOIS' BID FOR "TRIPLE" AT PENN RELAYS

NYU Runner's Finish Wins Sprint Medley

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

PHILADELPHIA, April 25 (AP) — Reggie Pearman of New York University came pounding up from nowhere in the gathering dusk at Franklin Field today and foiled Illinois' bid for a triple triumph in the first day's running of the 53rd annual University of Pennsylvania relay carnival.

Having captured the quarter-mile and distance medley relays, Illinois appeared well on its way to a clean sweep of the three team events on the day's program when Bob Rehberg started the half-mile anchor leg of the sprint medley with a comfortable margin. But Pearman refused to concede the issue. Although he was handed the baton in third place, a good ten yards behind the leader, he sped into the second spot and then seemed to be hopelessly outdistanced as Rehberg coasted around the final turn, still ten yards to the good.

Pearman made his move in the stretch and the surprised Rehberg didn't have enough kick left to hold him off. The New Yorker pulled even just short of the tape and broke it with one last burst of speed, barely a step in front.

The N. Y. U. team, which also included Milford Parker, Ira Kaplan and Homer Gillis on the 440-yard and two 220-yard legs, completed the distance in 3:26.2, with Pearman being clocked in 1:51.5 for the final 880.

His performance was the second fastest ever turned in at this meet, surpassed only by the 1:51.2 which Johnny Woodruff galloped in 1939 to give Pittsburgh the victory in the same event in 3:25.8.

Beall-LaSalle Meet April 30

AHS And Fort Hill Reschedule Games

Jupiter Pluvius took charge yesterday and as a result three games scheduled in the Tri-County Interscholastic League were postponed on account of wet grounds.

The games washed out were those scheduled between LaSalle and Beall here, Fort Hill and Paw Paw at Paw Paw and the Allegany-Hyndman tilt at Hyndman.

Brother Declan, LaSalle coach, announced last night that the opener of the Beall-LaSalle series will be played at Community Park, Wednesday, April 30 at 3:30 o'clock.

LaSalle is scheduled to meet Moorefield High School today at 2:30 p. m. at Moorefield, W. Va. The Explorers will play at Hyndman Tuesday, April 29 at 4 p. m., and will battle the LaSalle Vets here on Thursday, May 1.

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh announced that yesterday's postponed Fort Hill-Paw Paw game has been rescheduled for Monday, May 5 at Paw Paw.

Hagerstown High comes here Monday, April 28 to play the Sentinels at 4 p. m. Larry Hansrote or Bob Doman will twirl for the Hilltoppers.

Coach Hubert Radcliffe announced last night that the postponed game between AHS and Hyndman will be played on Monday at 4 p. m. in Hyndman. Next Tuesday Paw Paw plays AHS here at 4 p. m. while on Friday the Campers play at Mercersburg, Pa.

Due to a circus appearing at Community Park, May 23, LaSalle will play Allegany at Campobello on that date. The opener of this series, originally set for May 6, at Campobello, has been transferred to Community Park.

Casey Softball Team Will Play Two Games

The Knights of Columbus softball team of the Rocking Chair League will practice Monday at 6 p. m., at Campobello in preparation for two games.

Manager Jim Browning's Knights will play Potomac Edison on Thursday and the Veterans of Foreign Wars on Friday. Both contests will be staged on the Rolling Mill field and will get under way at 6 o'clock.

McKeesport Boys Sought For Bouts With Dircks, Goss

Royale A.C. To Show Newcomers On May 5

Matchmaker Presley W. "Red" Mauk is seeking two McKeesport (Pa.) boxers for his next amateur boxing show Monday, May 5 at the state armory.

One of the McKeesport scrappers is a heavyweight whom Mauk hopes to match with Billy Dircks, of this city, ETO knockout artist, and the other is a flyweight sought as an opponent for Bobby Goss, classy local 108-pounder.

Mauk's next show will be his fifth of the season and the fifteenth to be staged in Cumberland since the 1946-47 season opened in October.

All future amateur shows presented by Mauk will be staged under the auspices of the Royale Athletic Club instead of the South Cumberland Athletic Club. Boxers trained by Mauk will also fight under the new name.

Three local novices probably will make their debut in the May 5 show, according to the matchmaker. They are Junior Payne 102, Jack Reed, 124, brother of Jimmie Reed, Royale A. C. middleweight, and Bill Topper, who tips the beam at 160.

Donnie Keiser, 162, son of Fay W. Keiser, nationally known professional middleweight of bygone days, will soon fight under the banner of the Royale Athletic Club, Mauk said.

Thompson's Running Highlights Relays

DES MOINES, April 25 (AP) — Jerry Thompson, University of Texas junior, back from a four year hitch in Uncle Sam's navy, today resumed his role as one of the nation's outstanding distance runners.

Thompson, a 22-year-old 120-pound lad from Dallas, literally ran 19 rivals out of gas in galloping to a one-sided victory in the two mile run opening the 38th Drake Relays. Thompson reclaimed the two-mile title he last won here in 1943. His time was 9:30.6.

Thompson's performance highlighted the opening day program of seven championship events witnessed by a topcoated crowd of 9,000 spectators who were chilled despite a beaming sun. The relays drew a record breaking entry of 2,000 athletes from 81 universities and colleges spread through 18 states, plus 60 high school teams.

Baksi To Meet Swede

STOCKHOLM, April 25 (AP) — Hjalle Palton, Swedish boxing promoter, said today American heavyweight Joe Baksi has been matched tentatively with Olle Tandberg, the Swedish heavyweight champion, in a June 15 bout to be held in Stockholm.

Catholic Youth Softball League Opens April 30

Four Teams To Vie In K. Of C. Circuit

Opening games of the Catholic Youth Organization's newly formed four-team softball league will be staged Wednesday, April 30, at 3:30 p.' m., it was announced last night by James F. "Jim" Browning, director of the circuit.

The league is the third to be sponsored by Cumberland Council, Knights of Columbus, which successfully supervised football and basketball loops for the boys in the past six months.

In the inaugural contests next Wednesday, St. Mary's, Oldtown Road, will play St. Anthony's of Ridgeley on the Ridgeley High School field while SS. Peter and Paul will meet St. Patrick's, of this city, on the Rolling Mill field.

Other opening round games are:
Saturday, May 3:
St. Anthony's vs. St. Patrick's, Community Park, 10 a. m.
St. Mary's vs. SS. Peter and Paul, Community Park, 12 o'clock noon.
Wednesday, May 7:
St. Mary's vs. St. Patrick's, Rolling Mill field, 3:30.
St. Anthony's vs. SS. Peter and Paul, at Ridgeley, 3:30.

Each team will play 12 games during the season.

Jack Liobel is coach of St. Mary's, Homer Simmons will direct St. Anthony's team, Bob Frame and Bill Smith will be in charge of SS. Peter and Paul tossers and Gilbert Becker will guide the destinies of St. Patrick's aggregation.

Legion To Mark "Babe Ruth Day"

Baseball, Softball Teams Meet Sunday

Tomorrow will be "Babe Ruth Day" at Community Park where baseball and softball teams of Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, will engage in a double header honoring the Sultan of Swat, who has recovered from a severe illness.

While the Babe is scheduled to attend a celebration in his honor tomorrow in New York, the local Legion will pay honor to the former major league home run king here.

Legion softball teams of the Rocking Chair and City leagues will clash at 1 o'clock while at 3 o'clock the Legion seniors of the Interstate Baseball League will cross bats with the Legion junior of the Mountain District League.

Manager Fritz Palmer of the Rocking Chair League will pick his team from the following: Robert Chisholm, "Red" Boyer, Carlton Lapp, Joe Aman, John Kelly, Jim Rice, Jim Geatz, Joe Mooney, Gil Becker, Dude Long and Bill Spangler. Manager Mike Robinson has not announced his starting lineup.

Bi-State League Season Opens Tomorrow

Barton Legion And Queen City Will Play Here

Five Opening Tilts Will Start At 3:30

The familiar cry of "Play Ball" will be heard throughout Allegany county and nearby Pennsylvania tomorrow afternoon when the ten-team Bi-State League launches its 1947 campaign.

President Alex "Pop" Nicol's circuit is the first of the two organized in this section to see action with games listed for Stitcher Field, this city; Hyndman, Pa., Westernport, Frostburg and Lonaconing. The eight-club Interstate League will open its season on Sunday, May 4.

Tomorrow's tilts, all scheduled to start at 3:30 daylight time, finds the Queen City Brewers, managed by Charley Doyle, playing hosts to the Barton American Legion at North End, the Hyndman (Pa.) Firemen, headed by Walter "Pete" Cook, tackling the newly organized Cumberland Amvets, skippered by Norman Gerdeman, at Hyndman; Midland American Legion battling the Frostburg Veterans of Foreign Wars in the Mountain city, and Lonaconing. Republican opposing the Romney (W.Va.) Rockets in Lonaconing.

"Babe Ruth Day" will be observed throughout the circuit in the same manner as it is being marked throughout the nation.

Umpires Are Assigned

George Layman, umpire-in-chief, has announced the following umpire assignments:

At Stitcher Field, Hubert Radcliffe and Blair; at Westernport, Davis and Keister; at Frostburg, Kelly and DiUbaldo; at Lonaconing, Andy Dunn and Ray Middleton; at Hyndman, Howard Northcraft and Warnick.

The Bi-State loop operated with eight teams last year and Westvaco, managed by Frank Sullivan, won the championship.

Westvaco, defending champions; Midland, Lonaconing, Barton, Romney and Queen City Brewers are the Bi-State clubs holding over from 1946. The Frostburg Veterans of Foreign Wars have replaced Farrady Post, American Legion, as the Mountain City's franchise holder; Hyndman Firemen and Mt. Savage have jumped from the Interstate into the Bi-State and the newly formed Amvets of Cumberland have joined "Pop" Nicol's loop for the 36-game grind which closes on Labor Day and will be followed by a Shaughnessy playoff series among the four top finishers.

Probable Pitchers

Probable starting pitchers tomorrow are:

Lou Stitcher, Amvets, vs. Paul Clapper, Hyndman.

Pat Corrigan, Barton, vs. Ival "Speed" Lambert or Bill Stevenson, Queen City.

William M. "Bill" See, Westvaco, vs. Ralph Dickel, Mt. Savage.

Al Lauber, Midland, vs. Johnny Workman or Bobby Diehl, Frostburg.

Young Bob Grove or Claude Steele, Lonaconing, vs. Don Woodson, Romney.

Gilbert Warnick is the manager at Barton, Ralph Dusic heads Romney, Lawrence McKenzie will lead Lonaconing, Richard "Dick" Stroup will guide the destinies of the Frostburg Vets, Frank Sullivan will be back at his old post in Westernport and Hubert Stevens will direct Mt. Savage.

Music At Frostburg

At Frostburg, the Arion Band, under direction of Prof. Darrell Zeller, and the newly organized drum and bugle corps of Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, will play prior to the start of the game. Mayor Marshall C. Skidmore is scheduled to toss out the first ball. The four city commissioners will attend.

The VFW committee, sponsoring the Frostburg team, requests that motorists co-operate with traffic officers to avoid two-way parking on the concrete road leading from South Water Street to the parking grounds around the community swimming pool and the ball park.

Horse Racing Returns To Churchill Downs

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 25 (AP)—Horse racing returns to Louisville tomorrow for a 19-day session at Churchill Downs.

The big feature of the spring meeting, of course, will be the 73rd annual running of the Kentucky Derby, set for May 3. But there will be a stake race every day except Monday through the meeting.

Tomorrow's feature, $10,000 added Churchill Downs Handicap for three-year-olds and upward, will share the spotlight with a six-furlong allowance race which drew five Derby eligibles.

The five eligibles include Double Jay, On Trust, W. L. Sickle, King Bay and Mel Van Orman. Quatre Blanc completes the six-horse field.

Duke Bible Class Marbles Tourney Set For Sunday

75 Boys To Compete At "Y" Playground

Approximately 75 boys are expected to take part in the annual marbles tournament sponsored by Boys' Club of Central YMCA, which will be held tomorrow from 2 to 4 p. m. at the playground area in the rear of the "Y" building.

Winfield H. Adam, program and boys' secretary, said that the tournament, open to members of the boys' club, will be conducted by Eugene Hopkins and Carl Ritchie, club leaders. Prizes will be awarded. Charles Wiebel is chairman of the Duke Memorial Bible Class committee sponsoring the program.

Members of the boys' club must attend Sunday School and secure a card from the school superintendent or their minister before they are permitted to participate in the Sunday afternoon club activities, which include lobby games, gymnasium activities, swimming, movies and seasonal sports. Each boy receives a day's membership pass which can be used at the "Y" at any time during the succeeding week.

Adam also announced that the YMCA camp committee has made arrangements with the Washington, D. C., YMCA to permit Cumberland boys between the ages of 10 and 14 to attend Camp Letts at Edgewater, Md., for a two-week camping period from June 22 to July 6.

Special reduced rates on the camping fee have been arranged for local boys who enroll for the camping period, provided 10 or more boys register. Detailed information and registration cards are available at the "Y". An adult leader will accompany the boys to Camp Letts and remain with them during the two-week period, according to Henry W. Price, chairman of the YMCA camp committee.

Loyola Nine Wins

BALTIMORE, April 25 (AP)—Loyola College hopped on three Western Maryland hurlers here today to win its third straight Mason-Dixon Conference baseball game, 12 to 6.

Sid Roche scattered seven Western Maryland hits, while his mates reached Al Malone, Bobby Logan and Ken Munroe for 13. Score:

BELLOISE SCORES TKO

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP) — Steve Belloise of the Bronx, prewar middleweight contender, stopped Johnny Walker of Philadelphia tonight in the second round of their scheduled ten-round go at the St. Nicholas Arena. Belloise weighed 160¼, Walker 158½.

Referee Ruby Goldstein halted the contest at 2:41 with Walker draped over the ropes, unable to defend himself, after taking a series of crushing right and left-hand smashes to the face.

It was Belloise's 25th victory in 26 starts since his discharge from the service.

Larry (Yogi) Berra of the Yankees hit five home runs during the exhibition season and is one of the most promising rookies of the spring.

White Sox Move Into First Place Tie With Yanks

Pale Hose Conquer Cleveland, 3 To 2

CHICAGO, April 25 (AP) — The Chicago White Sox scored a run in each of their first three innings against the Cleveland Indians and then coasted to a 3-2 victory today. The win moved Chicago into a first place tie with the New York Yankees in the American League race.

The victory gave the White Sox an even break in the two-game series and supplied Rookie Bob Gillespie with his first victory of the young season.

Gillespie started and pitched seven innings on a yield of seven hits. He was replaced by Joe Haynes, who gave up Eddie Robinson's pinch double to open the Cleveland ninth.

Lefty Frank Papish took over for Haynes and pitched past the next three Indians, two of them pinch hitters, to assure Gillespie's first triumph. Box:

A's DEFEAT BOSTON

BOSTON, April 25 (AP) — Undaunted by a five run deficit, the Philadelphia Athletics pecked away today in the rain until they were only one run down and then rallied for five in the ninth to defeat the Boston Red Sox 11-7.

Ten of the A's batted in the big ninth. Pinch Hitter George (Bingo) Binks caught the Sox flatfooted when he bunted safely as the first batter. Two singles, a fielders choice, a squeeze bunt which Relief Pitcher Harry Dorish threw away, an intentional walk and a two run double by Hank Majeski accounted for the five runs. Box:

TIGERS EDGE BROWNS

DETROIT, April 25 (AP)—Parlaying six hits into as many runs with the aid of nine passes, the Detroit Tigers swapped eighth inning rallies with the St. Louis Browns today and finished on top, 6 to 5, to split their two-game series.

The Browns, shut out with two hits for seven innings, batted around for five runs off Freddie Hutchinson in the top half of the eighth to take a 5-2 lead, but rookie southpaw Clarence Iott couldn't hold it. Box:

Yankee Owners Asked To Appear Before Chandler

Violation Of "Gag Rule" May Be Reason

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP) — Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler got tough again today and ordered Larry MacPhail and the other two New York Yankee owners, Del Webb and Dan Topping, to appear at his Cincinnati office Tuesday.

A. B. Chandler

There was no indication from the commissioner of the subjects to be discussed but it was known that he had been very much upset by MacPhail's violations of his "gag rule" in the Leo Durocher case.

When Durocher was suspended for the 1947 season, Chandler ordered all concerned that the subject was a "closed matter" and not to be discussed.

Larry Gives Interview

MacPhail called a press conference the next day in which he touched on the subject and gave out an interview to Harry Nash in the Newark Evening News April 18 in which he was quoted as saying "Commissioner Chandler didn't have sufficient grounds on which to hang a five-minute suspension" on Durocher, the Brooklyn manager.

MacPhail's only comment to reports that he would be charged with "insubordination" were "very interesting if true." He was supposed to meet with New York civic leaders Tuesday to discuss the problem of juvenile delinquency and may request a brief postponement.

"MacPhail's part may be put off until Wednesday," Chandler said. "He had made some plans before we knew this and it's not important enough to change them. Not that this isn't important. They tell me Topping is out of the country on a fishing trip. That's all right. I'll get him later."

Chandler revealed the notice to MacPhail had been sent in a telegram from Cincinnati Monday night and insisted he had not seen any baseball men during his New York stay.

"We will inquire into a number of things," the commissioner said. "I have been doing some investigating while I have been here. We want to get the whole story and we are going to get it."

Tried To Influence Others

There had been reports that MacPhail had attempted to influence other club owners to throw their weight in support of his appeal to President Will Harridge for an appeal of Durocher's suspension. That will be one of the things Chandler will "look into."

Another matter that probably promoted Chandler's action was the performance of Coach Charley Dressen, who daily participated in pre-game practice despite a 30-day suspension. Dressen hit to the infield and worked with the players up to the time the umpires appeared on the field in all games prior to Tuesday when he was ordered by the commissioner not to appear in uniform for the length of his "term."

CHUCK TAYLOR LOSES

DETROIT, April 25 (AP) — Tony Pellone, New York Italian welterweight came back strong in the last three rounds tonight to earn a 10-round split decision over Chuck Taylor, Coalport, Pa., in the main event of an Olympia Stadium fight show.

Taylor, a 2 to 1 underdog in the betting, appeared to tire toward the finish as Pellone took all of the last three rounds with steady, hard punching. Pellone weighed 146, Taylor 145.

Pellone scored the only knockdown, sending Taylor to both knees with a left hook in the 10th round for no count.

Judge Joe Jenahan gave it to Taylor on points but Frank Fisher, the other judge, and Referee Johnny Weber voted for Pellone.

PEARMAN FOILS ILLINOIS' BID FOR "TRIPLE" AT PENN RELAYS

NYU Runner's Finish Wins Sprint Medley

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

PHILADELPHIA, April 25 (AP) — Reggie Pearman of New York University came pounding up from nowhere in the gathering dusk at Franklin Field today and foiled Illinois' bid for a triple triumph in the first day's running of the 53rd annual University of Pennsylvania relay carnival.

Having captured the quarter-mile and distance medley relays, Illinois appeared well on its way to a clean sweep of the three team events on the day's program when Bob Rehberg started the half-mile anchor leg of the sprint medley with a comfortable margin. But Pearman refused to concede the issue. Although he was handed the baton in third place, a good ten yards behind the leader, he sped into the second spot and then seemed to be hopelessly outdistanced as Rehberg coasted around the final turn, still ten yards to the good.

Pearman made his move in the stretch and the surprised Rehberg didn't have enough kick left to hold him off. The New Yorker pulled even just short of the tape and broke it with one last burst of speed, barely a step in front.

The N. Y. U. team, which also included Milford Parker, Ira Kaplan and Homer Gillis on the 440-yard and two 220-yard legs, completed the distance in 3:26.2, with Pearman being clocked in 1:51.5 for the final 880.

His performance was the second fastest ever turned in at this meet, surpassed only by the 1:51.2 which Johnny Woodruff galloped in 1939 to give Pittsburgh the victory in the same event in 3:25.8.

Beall-LaSalle Meet April 30

AHS And Fort Hill Reschedule Games

Jupiter Pluvius took charge yesterday and as a result three games scheduled in the Tri-County Interscholastic League were postponed on account of wet grounds.

The games washed out were those scheduled between LaSalle and Beall here, Fort Hill and Paw Paw at Paw Paw and the Allegany-Hyndman tilt at Hyndman.

Brother Declan, LaSalle coach, announced last night that the opener of the Beall-LaSalle series will be played at Community Park, Wednesday, April 30 at 3:30 o'clock.

LaSalle is scheduled to meet Moorefield High School today at 2:30 p. m. at Moorefield, W. Va. The Explorers will play at Hyndman Tuesday, April 29 at 4 p. m., and will battle the LaSalle Vets here on Thursday, May 1.

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh announced that yesterday's postponed Fort Hill-Paw Paw game has been rescheduled for Monday, May 5 at Paw Paw.

Hagerstown High comes here Monday, April 28 to play the Sentinels at 4 p. m. Larry Hansrote or Bob Doman will twirl for the Hilltoppers.

Coach Hubert Radcliffe announced last night that the postponed game between AHS and Hyndman will be played on Monday at 4 p. m. in Hyndman. Next Tuesday Paw Paw plays AHS here at 4 p. m. while on Friday the Campers play at Mercersburg, Pa.

Due to a circus appearing at Community Park, May 23, LaSalle will play Allegany at Campobello on that date. The opener of this series, originally set for May 6, at Campobello, has been transferred to Community Park.

Casey Softball Team Will Play Two Games

The Knights of Columbus softball team of the Rocking Chair League will practice Monday at 6 p. m., at Campobello in preparation for two games.

Manager Jim Browning's Knights will play Potomac Edison on Thursday and the Veterans of Foreign Wars on Friday. Both contests will be staged on the Rolling Mill field and will get under way at 6 o'clock.

McKeesport Boys Sought For Bouts With Dircks, Goss

Royale A.C. To Show Newcomers On May 5

Matchmaker Presley W. "Red" Mauk is seeking two McKeesport (Pa.) boxers for his next amateur boxing show Monday, May 5 at the state armory.

One of the McKeesport scrappers is a heavyweight whom Mauk hopes to match with Billy Dircks, of this city, ETO knockout artist, and the other is a flyweight sought as an opponent for Bobby Goss, classy local 108-pounder.

Mauk's next show will be his fifth of the season and the fifteenth to be staged in Cumberland since the 1946-47 season opened in October.

All future amateur shows presented by Mauk will be staged under the auspices of the Royale Athletic Club instead of the South Cumberland Athletic Club. Boxers trained by Mauk will also fight under the new name.

Three local novices probably will make their debut in the May 5 show, according to the matchmaker. They are Junior Payne 102, Jack Reed, 124, brother of Jimmie Reed, Royale A. C. middleweight, and Bill Topper, who tips the beam at 160.

Donnie Keiser, 162, son of Fay W. Keiser, nationally known professional middleweight of bygone days, will soon fight under the banner of the Royale Athletic Club, Mauk said.

Thompson's Running Highlights Relays

DES MOINES, April 25 (AP) — Jerry Thompson, University of Texas junior, back from a four year hitch in Uncle Sam's navy, today resumed his role as one of the nation's outstanding distance runners.

Thompson, a 22-year-old 120-pound lad from Dallas, literally ran 19 rivals out of gas in galloping to a one-sided victory in the two mile run opening the 38th Drake Relays. Thompson reclaimed the two-mile title he last won here in 1943. His time was 9:30.6.

Thompson's performance highlighted the opening day program of seven championship events witnessed by a topcoated crowd of 9,000 spectators who were chilled despite a beaming sun. The relays drew a record breaking entry of 2,000 athletes from 81 universities and colleges spread through 18 states, plus 60 high school teams.

Baksi To Meet Swede

STOCKHOLM, April 25 (AP) — Hjalle Palton, Swedish boxing promoter, said today American heavyweight Joe Baksi has been matched tentatively with Olle Tandberg, the Swedish heavyweight champion, in a June 15 bout to be held in Stockholm.

Catholic Youth Softball League Opens April 30

Four Teams To Vie In K. Of C. Circuit

Opening games of the Catholic Youth Organization's newly formed four-team softball league will be staged Wednesday, April 30, at 3:30 p. m., it was announced last night by James F. "Jim" Browning, director of the circuit.

The league is the third to be sponsored by Cumberland Council, Knights of Columbus, which successfully supervised football and basketball loops for the boys in the past six months.

In the inaugural contests next Wednesday, St. Mary's, Oldtown Road, will play St. Anthony's of Ridgeley on the Ridgeley High School field while SS. Peter and Paul will meet St. Patrick's, of this city, on the Rolling Mill field.

Other opening round games are:
Saturday, May 3:
St. Anthony's vs. St. Patrick's, Community Park, 10 a. m.
St. Mary's vs. SS. Peter and Paul, Community Park, 12 o'clock noon.
Wednesday, May 7:
St. Mary's vs. St. Patrick's, Rolling Mill field, 3:30.
St. Anthony's vs. SS. Peter and Paul, at Ridgeley, 3:30.

Each team will play 12 games during the season.

Jack Liobel is coach of St. Mary's, Homer Simmons will direct St. Anthony's team, Bob Frame and Bill Smith will be in charge of SS. Peter and Paul tossers and Gilbert Becker will guide the destinies of St. Patrick's aggregation.

Legion To Mark "Babe Ruth Day"

Baseball, Softball Teams Meet Sunday

Tomorrow will be "Babe Ruth Day" at Community Park where baseball and softball teams of Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, will engage in a double header honoring the Sultan of Swat, who has recovered from a severe illness.

While the Babe is scheduled to attend a celebration in his honor tomorrow in New York, the local Legion will pay honor to the former major league home run king here.

Legion softball teams of the Rocking Chair and City leagues will clash at 1 o'clock while at 3 o'clock the Legion seniors of the Interstate Baseball League will cross bats with the Legion junior of the Mountain District League.

Manager Fritz Palmer of the Rocking Chair League will pick his team from the following: Robert Chisholm, "Red" Boyer, Carlton Lapp, Joe Aman, John Kelly, Jim Rice, Jim Geatz, Joe Mooney, Gil Becker, Dude Long and Bill Spangler. Manager Mike Robinson has not announced his starting lineup.

14 Jumpers Vie In Maryland Hunt Cup Race Today

25,000 To Witness Event At Glyndon

GLYNDON, Md., April 25—(AP)—For the 51st time the Maryland Hunt Cup will be run over rolling Worthington Valley tomorrow, and the committee says that 14 of the finest timber-toppers in the business will be out there trying to take a $100 challenge cup and the glory that goes with winning the nation's premier cross country race.

The committee also has disclosed that the Duke and Duchess of Windsor will head the list of society figures, diplomats, congressmen and just plain folk who turn out annually around 25,000 strong to witness the stirring four-mile affair over 22 oak fences.

It must be assumed that Stuart Symington Janney, Jr., will be in there with his veteran 13-year-old campaigner, Winton, striving to retire the cup by capturing the gruelling test for a third straight time.

Also, it's quite probable that a Pennsylvania horse named Clifton's Duke will be around again. Last week, to the consternation of Marylanders, Clifton's Duke scored a one-length victory over Winton in the Grand National at Butler, Md. He is owned by Lawrence Jones of Philadelphia.

But the committee says it won't release the official entry list before the race, for financial reasons.

"When people read the entries and the riders in the papers," one official explained, "they don't buy our programs—which are the main source of revenue for keeping this race going."

And, unscrupulous persons have in the past printed phoney programs to cut into the sale.

This entry silence complicates things for the bookmakers. They'll have to get here early, buy a program and go to work fast.

Mrs. E. Read Beard's great jumper Blockade, later killed in a spill in Virginia, was the only horse ever to win three consecutive Maryland hunts.

Janney, who again will ride Winton, seeks to duplicate Blockade's effort and keep the cup in Maryland.

Plans Outdoor Bout

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, April 25—I am very glad that Helen Walker has been given a new contract by 20th Century-Fox, and a very important role in "Nightmare Alley."

Red Skelton

Helen is the girl who was acquitted of manslaughter following the death of a soldier to whom she had given a lift in her car before it crashed. I know that she suffered as few girls have ever suffered in the world, and it's nice that all that is back of her.

The role in "Nightmare Alley" is very good—or should I say very bad—since it's Lilith, the girl who ruins Tyrone Power. Helen is a really good actress and will be excellent.

Bill Dozier tells me he is trying to borrow Burt Lancaster for "Thunder On the Hill," Joan Fontaine's next picture.

"It's a little difficult," said Bill, "with Hal Wallis in London and the telephone situation what it is, but we are hopeful of getting Lancaster and expect to start the picture May 5."

So this seems pretty well to put an end to the report that the picture had been called off because of leading man trouble.

Maybe you remember "Thunder On the Hill" is "Written On the Wind," by Robert Wilder, which was said to be the life story of Libby Holman, but which has been completely rewritten and renamed.

Everyone wonders who really bought the Bing Crosby interests in the Del Mar race track. I have been reliably informed that it's Arnold Grant, good looking, 39-year-old lawyer. He personally bought out Bing's interest for almost a million dollars.

Incidentally, Grant also owns the famous starting gate used at the race tracks.

Grant, by the way, is Mervyn Leroy's representative and many other well known movie peoples.

Very interesting is the news I have just heard that Bette Davis' baby will be born within a week at a Santa Ana hospital. All arrangements have been made, and since it is to be a Caesarean, the day is set. You can bet there will be plenty of excitement in the little town when Bette's baby makes its appearance.

I am rather glad she's having it in California, although at one time she laughingly said it had to be born in Vermont, New Hampshire or one of the New England states, so it could be a Yankee. Well, can't you be a Yankee and be born in California?

Chatter in Hollywood: Virginia Bruce turned cupid last week and told Frederick Stephani, with whom she had worked for many years at M-G-M. when he was a director and she a star, that she would give him and his bride, Marian Graham, their wedding. So Virginia decorated her house with the help of her husband, Ali Apar, and Stephani, who is now worknig for the Mary Pickford company. Virginia was matron of honor, and Ali was best man.

According to Virginia, Marian is a very pretty girl, and very sweet.

The Cagneys are getting as family clannish as the Foys. Jeanne Cagney, sister of Jimmy and Bill, returns to Hollywood to co-star with Jimmy in "The Time Of Your Life" which Bill is producing.

I certainly don't want to give the impression that this is purely a family tie-in where Jeanne is concerned. She really acquitted herself with honors in Eugene O'Neill's "The Iceman Cometh" on Broadway, Several other actresses were tested for "Kitty" in the Saroyan prize winner—but Jeanne's was the best.

It won't be the first time she's worked with Jimmy. Remember, she was in "Yankee Doodle Dandy," too.

Bob O'Donnell wires from Dallas, Texas, that he has just received a money order for $3,150 from Red Skelton, and since it is the first contribution from Hollywood for the Texas City sufferers, I think it's worthy of comment.

Red, in his wire to Bob, says, "knowing that whatever you do will always be better than the next fellow can do, I am making my salary for last week payable to you to be used wherever you feel it will do the most good. Respectfully, Red Skelton." More power to you, Red, I think it is a grand thing to do.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Virginia Cherrill — Lady Jersey to you—and Freddie De Cordova, Hollywood's most eligible bachelor, have been exchanging letters and cables like mad since Virginia returned to England.

The Roland Drews welcomed a baby son. They are calling him Damon Drew—very euphonious.

Dorothy Lamour created a lot of excitement in Johns Hopkins Hospital the day I left. She called on my favorite doctor with her mother-in-law and her husband, William Ross Howard. All the nurses came in to take a look at Dottie.

Allan Jones lost $25,000 because of the laryngitis which kept him out of the Vanity Fair night club.

Arianne Allen Ross, wife of the New Yorker magazine editor Harold Ross, makes her screen debut in "Welcome Stranger," Bing Crosby's new picture.

That beautiful ruby and diamond pin that Jane Greer is wearing was given her by Ed Lasker.

Aileen Gates' caddy in the women's golf tournament over the weekand was — guess? Yep, Johnny Weissmuller.

Ed Gardner has loaned his boat and skipper to the Hal Roach Jrs. for a month this summer, in exchange for their cabin plane and pilot. Sounds to me like a fair exchange.

Maureen O'Sullivan is bedded with poison oak, which she picked up from a potted plant delivered to her home, of all things. Believe me, poison oak is one thing to stay away from.

Mike Romanoff has been offered a part in "Bringing Up Father," with the assurance that it won't be cut out and left on the cutting room floor.

I don't know how serious Liz Scott and Helmut Dantine are, but they certainly spend a lot of time together in New York.

Mikey Rooney has moved out of his house and taken a swank apartment in the sunset strip, just big enough for one—so I guess the reconciliation is off.

Now it's Natalie Draper who is giving her smiles to Michael North at the Beverly Tropics. That gal certainly gets around.

That's all today.

25,000 To Witness Event At Glyndon

GLYNDON, Md., April 25—(AP)—For the 51st time the Maryland Hunt Cup will be run over rolling Worthington Valley tomorrow, and the committee says that 14 of the finest timber-toppers in the business will be out there trying to take a $100 challenge cup and the glory that goes with winning the nation's premier cross country race.

The committee also has disclosed that the Duke and Duchess of Windsor will head the list of society figures, diplomats, congressmen and just plain folk who turn out annually around 25,000 strong to witness the stirring four-mile affair over 22 oak fences.

It must be assumed that Stuart Symington Janney, Jr., will be in there with his veteran 13-year-old campaigner, Winton, striving to retire the cup by capturing the gruelling test for a third straight time.

Also, it's quite probable that a Pennsylvania horse named Clifton's Duke will be around again. Last week, to the consternation of Marylanders, Clifton's Duke scored a one-length victory over Winton in the Grand National at Butler, Md. He is owned by Lawrence Jones of Philadelphia.

But the committee says it won't release the official entry list before the race, for financial reasons.

"When people read the entries and the riders in the papers," one official explained, "they don't buy our programs—which are the main source of revenue for keeping this race going."

And, unscrupulous persons have in the past printed phoney programs to cut into the sale.

This entry silence complicates things for the bookmakers. They'll have to get here early, buy a program and go to work fast.

Mrs. E. Read Beard's great jumper Blockade, later killed in a spill in Virginia, was the only horse ever to win three consecutive Maryland hunts.

Janney, who again will ride Winton, seeks to duplicate Blockade's effort and keep the cup in Maryland.

Plans Outdoor Bout

HOLLYWOOD
By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, April 25—I am very glad that Helen Walker has been given a new contract by 20th Century-Fox, and a very important role in "Nightmare Alley."

Red Skelton

Helen is the girl who was acquitted of manslaughter following the death of a soldier to whom she had given a lift in her car before it crashed. I know that she suffered as few girls have ever suffered in the world, and it's nice that all that is back of her.

The role in "Nightmare Alley" is very good—or should I say very bad—since it's Lilith, the girl who ruins Tyrone Power. Helen is a really good actress and will be excellent.

Bill Dozier tells me he is trying to borrow Burt Lancaster for "Thunder On the Hill," Joan Fontaine's next picture.

"It's a little difficult," said Bill, "with Hal Wallis in London and the telephone situation what it is, but we are hopeful of getting Lancaster and expect to start the picture May 5."

So this seems pretty well to put an end to the report that the picture had been called off because of leading man trouble.

Maybe you remember "Thunder On the Hill" is "Written On the Wind," by Robert Wilder, which was said to be the life story of Libby Holman, but which has been completely rewritten and renamed.

Everyone wonders who really bought the Bing Crosby interests in the Del Mar race track. I have been reliably informed that it's Arnold Grant, good looking, 39-year-old lawyer. He personally bought out Bing's interest for almost a million dollars.

Incidentally, Grant also owns the famous starting gate used at the race tracks.

Grant, by the way, is Mervyn Leroy's representative and many other well known movie peoples.

Very interesting is the news I have just heard that Bette Davis' baby will be born within a week at a Santa Ana hospital. All arrangements have been made, and since it is to be a Caesarean, the day is set. You can bet there will be plenty of excitement in the little town when Bette's baby makes its appearance.

I am rather glad she's having it in California, although at one time she laughingly said it had to be born in Vermont, New Hampshire or one of the New England states, so it could be a Yankee. Well, can't you be a Yankee and be born in California?

Chatter in Hollywood: Virginia Bruce turned cupid last week and told Frederick Stephani, with whom she had worked for many years at M-G-M. when he was a director and she a star, that she would give him and his bride, Marian Graham, their wedding. So Virginia decorated her house with the help of her husband, Ali Apar, and Stephani, who is now worknig for the Mary Pickford company. Virginia was matron of honor, and Ali was best man.

According to Virginia, Marian is a very pretty girl, and very sweet.

The Cagneys are getting as family clannish as the Foys. Jeanne Cagney, sister of Jimmy and Bill, returns to Hollywood to co-star with Jimmy in "The Time Of Your Life" which Bill is producing.

I certainly don't want to give the impression that this is purely a family tie-in where Jeanne is concerned. She really acquitted herself with honors in Eugene O'Neill's "The Iceman Cometh" on Broadway, Several other actresses were tested for "Kitty" in the Saroyan prize winner—but Jeanne's was the best.

It won't be the first time she's worked with Jimmy. Remember, she was in "Yankee Doodle Dandy," too.

Bob O'Donnell wires from Dallas, Texas, that he has just received a money order for $3,150 from Red Skelton, and since it is the first contribution from Hollywood for the Texas City sufferers, I think it's worthy of comment.

Red, in his wire to Bob, says, "knowing that whatever you do will always be better than the next fellow can do, I am making my salary for last week payable to you to be used wherever you feel it will do the most good. Respectfully, Red Skelton." More power to you, Red, I think it is a grand thing to do.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Virginia Cherrill — Lady Jersey to you—and Freddie De Cordova, Hollywood's most eligible bachelor, have been exchanging letters and cables like mad since Virginia returned to England.

The Roland Drews welcomed a baby son. They are calling him Damon Drew—very euphonious.

Dorothy Lamour created a lot of excitement in Johns Hopkins Hospital the day I left. She called on my favorite doctor with her mother-in-law and her husband, William Ross Howard. All the nurses came in to take a look at Dottie.

Allan Jones lost $25,000 because of the laryngitis which kept him out of the Vanity Fair night club.

Arianne Allen Ross, wife of the New Yorker magazine editor Harold Ross, makes her screen debut in "Welcome Stranger," Bing Crosby's new picture.

That beautiful ruby and diamond pin that Jane Greer is wearing was given her by Ed Lasker.

Aileen Gates' caddy in the women's golf tournament over the week-and was — guess? Yep, Johnny Weissmuller.

Ed Gardner has loaned his boat and skipper to the Hal Roach Jrs. for a month this summer, in exchange for their cabin plane and pilot. Sounds to me like a fair exchange.

Maureen O'Sullivan is bedded with poison oak, which she picked up from a potted plant delivered to her home, of all things. Believe me, poison oak is one thing to stay away from.

Mike Romanoff has been offered a part in "Bringing Up Father," with the assurance that it won't be cut out and left on the cutting room floor.

I don't know how serious Liz Scott and Helmut Dantine are, but they certainly spend a lot of time together in New York.

Mikey Rooney has moved out of his house and taken a swank apartment in the sunset strip, just big enough for one—so I guess the reconciliation is off.

Now it's Natalie Draper who is giving her smiles to Michael North at the Beverly Tropics. That gal certainly gets around.

That's all today.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to our friends and neighbors for their kindness in our recent bereavement, the death of our dear husband and father, Wm. B. Hayden.

We wish also to thank those who sent floral tributes and donated the use of their cars.

Mrs. Wm. B. Hayden and Step-children.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Pfc. William Ray Lantz, who was killed in Germany two years ago today, April 26, 1945.

A precious one from us has gone;
A voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant in our hearts
Which never can be filled.
God, in His wisdom, has recalled
The life His love has given,
And tho' his body slumbers there,
His soul is safe in Heaven.
Farewell, dear Bill, a sad farewell,
For we shall meet no more,
Till we're raised by Christ to live
On Zion's happy shore.

Sadly missed by his devoted Wife and Children:
MRS. WILLIAM LANTZ, and WILLIAM, JR., MARY, and EARL.

In loving memory of my beloved brother-in-law, Pfc. William Ray Lantz, who was killed in Germany two years ago today, April 26, 1945.

Gone But Not Forgotten
Deep in my heart lies a picture
Of a dear one laid to rest,
So, do not ask me if I miss him,
Because he was of the best.
God took him home, it was His will,
But in my heart, he liveth still.

Sadly missed by his sister-in-law,
MAE RICE.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to our friends and neighbors for their kindness in our recent bereavement, the death of our dear husband and father, Wm. B. Hayden.

We wish also to thank those who sent floral tributes and donated the use of their cars.

Mrs. Wm. B. Hayden and Step-children.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Pfc. William Ray Lantz, who was killed in Germany two years ago today, April 26, 1945.

A precious one from us has gone;
A voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant in our hearts
Which never can be filled.
God, in His wisdom, has recalled
The life His love has given,
And tho' his body slumbers there,
His soul is safe in Heaven.
Farewell, dear Bill, a sad farewell,
For we shall meet no more,
Till we're raised by Christ to live
On Zion's happy shore.

Sadly missed by his devoted Wife and Children:
MRS. WILLIAM LANTZ, and WILLIAM, JR., MARY, and EARL.

In loving memory of my beloved brother-in-law, Pfc. William Ray Lantz, who was killed in Germany two years ago today, April 26, 1945.

Gone But Not Forgotten
Deep in my heart lies a picture
Of a dear one laid to rest,
So, do not ask me if I miss him,
Because he was of the best.
God took him home, it was His will,
But in my heart, he liveth still.

Sadly missed by his sister-in-law,
MAE RICE

Telephone Operators Return As Pickets Withdraw

Normal Service Returns To City As Strike Ends

Members Of MFTW Oppose Agreement

Telephone operators went back to their posts last night as striking plant and maintenance men withdrew their pickets amid a furore of dissatisfaction among members who declared that their union, the Maryland Federation of Telephone Workers, had let them down in signing an agreement with the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company to arbitrate the wage issue.

May Be Short-Lived

Although normal service was restored at 10 o'clock last night at the end of the 19-day-old strike, there was a possibility that the resumption would be short-lived inasmuch as the Maryland Telephone Clerical Workers Union, which has six members in Cumberland, is still on strike.

In Washington last night Miss Helen Smith, state president of the clerical workers, declared that members of her union should picket telephone buildings and try to keep plant employes from reporting for work.

Local members of the clerical workers union had received no instructions from Miss Smith last night but she stated that she would get in touch with them.

Meanwhile, there was no decision from the local clerical workers as to whether they will or will not return to their jobs. No picketing permits have been issued to them.

Members of the Maryland Federation of Telephone Workers were informed by a telegram from Henry B. Foster, president, and Robert O. Siemmer, state strike director, shortly after 6 p. m. that an agreement had been reached with the telephone company.

George Williams, Western Maryland strike captain, within an hour had withdrawn pickets from the telephone exchange building here in compliance with the telegram.

To Report Monday

However, plant workers were informed by the telegram that they are not to report back to work until 6 a. m. Monday.

Union members, informed of the settlement, vociferously stated their dissatisfaction with the agreement to arbitrate wages.

Some men tore up their union cards in obvious disgust. Others said they were ready to ignore the union's instructions not to report to work until Monday and indicated they would be willing to return today. They belittled their organization and said they didn't have one.

One local striker declared, "We made a bad investment."

Others said the end of the strike has brought local members closer than ever to affiliation with the CIO or the AFL.

Strike Captain Williams issued a statement in which he said:

"We're glad it's over. We aren't too well pleased that the wage issues are to be submitted to arbitration."

Notified To Return

Immediately upon learning that pickets had been withdrawn from the local telephone building, Miss Wreatha Tichnell, vice-chairman and state organizer of the Maryland Telephone Traffic Union, began notifying members of her union, who have honore plant workers' picket lines, to prepare to return to work.

At 10 p. m. the normal night crew of operators reported for work and Miss Tichnell said she expects other operators to report on their regular turns.

She added, however, "We always honor picket lines" when asked what would happen should the members of the Clerical Workers Union picket the exchange.

Announcement of settlement of the strike, brought the greatest rush in the past 19 days to the switchboards of the local exchange.

Attempts were made to place

Frostburg Miner Is Badly Injured By Fall Of Rock

Albert Harvey, 102 Mount Pleasant Street, Frostburg, who was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday morning for treatment of serious injuries suffered when he was struck by a rock fall while working at a Consolidated Fuel Company mine near Eckhart, was reported in a fair condition last night.

The 58-year-old coal miner suffered two crushed vetebrae, several broken ribs, a fractured right leg and severe shock. He lapsed into semi-consciousness after he was taken to the hospital but regained consciousness later.

Harvey, employed as a maintenance man in Eckhart Mine No. 10 of the Consolidated company, was injured at 10 a. m. while assisting in removing an overhead rock to prepare for setting up a coal conveyor.

An investigation of the accident will be made today by Frank T. Powers, district mine inspector.

Richard Buskey, 16, 447 Willowbrook Road, was treated Thursday night in Allegany Hospital for a lacerated right thumb. The youth said he cut himself on a tin can while hunting worms to fish.

Charles Webreck, 55, Route 2, a B. and O. worker, was treated in Allegany Hospital Friday for a right hand injury. He said he was hurt by a piece of machinery.

Warren Kelly Elbin, 47, Artemas, Pa., was admitted to Memorial Hospital last night for treatment of a leg injury. He told attaches he was hurt when he fell down a pair of steps at the home of his brother, Marshall Elbin. Attaches said his condition was good after a cast was applied.

3 More County Men Face Gaming Counts; Post Bond

Griffith, Green, Ruehl Indicted

Three men from Cumberland, Frostburg and LaVale yesterday posted $500 bonds for their appearance in Circuit Court next week during the criminal trials after being indicted by the April grand jury on gambling charges.

The three men, who face charges of maintaining, operating, managing and being interested in the proceeds of slot machines, were identified as Homer Griffith, Frostburg, Ewald Ruehl, Cumberland and Lee Green, LaVale.

Ruehl, a state official of the Improved Order of Red Men, appeared in court yesterday morning with Henry W. Bliss, who furnished his bond.

Griffith Posts Cash

Griffith, Frostburg, appeared yesterday afternoon by himself and posted $500 in cash for his bond. Green, who was indicted on a joint warrant, with Ruehl appeared in court with Lucian C. Radcliffe, former county tax collector, who posted bond.

The indictments charged each of the men with violating five counts on gambling violations maintaining that Green and Ruehl operated "a device known as a slot machine" on December 25, 1946 and on divers other days between that date and the time of the indictment.

Griffith was charged with operating a slot machine on December 26 and on divers other occasions. He is also charged with "keeping a certain place of gambling."

Earlier this week eight other men posted bond for hearings on charges of operating slot machines and several others in the county who were indicted are expected to appear today to post bonds.

Several traversers held in jail will be arraigned this morning before Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson. Counsel will be appointed by the court for those without funds.

Lepley To Be Arraigned

Among those to be arraigned are Eugene Lepley, young veteran charged with assault with intent to murder; Peter Loncarevich, charged with false pretenses; William G. Sponaugle, indicted for largency and receiving stolen goods; and W. D. Carroll held for embezzlement.

Four men face charges of paternity, according to indictments on the open docket. They are Carl H. Fetterman, Joseph H. Koelker, George Leroy Leasure and Charles Kyle. Orval W. Jenkins is charged with carnal knowledge and Nelson Phillips is accused of rape.

Criminal trials will begin Monday morning, with the assignments to be made this morning by State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris.

The trial of Ronald J. West, prominent Hagerstown businessman, charged with assault with intent to rape, is set for next week. The case was removed from Washington County and was postponed from the January term here, at the request of his counsel.

Hearing Deferred On Roads Measure

A hearing on House Bill 438 has been postponed by Gov. William Preston Lane, members of the Board of County Commissioners were advised yesterday.

The bill, passed by the Legislature, would allow county boards to undertake road projects with their own forces in event such a plan is feasible. Some county boards have urged Lane to sign the bill, reported to be opposed by contracting firms.

W. Lee Linkous, of the Harford County Board, said he will advise local officials when a new date is fixed for a hearing.

Hugh D. Shires, chairman of the Allegany County campaign of the American Cancer Society, requested a contribution from the board, but no decision was given.

Cherles L. Kopp, superintendent of county schools, requested a signed copy of the 1947 levy list, to be sent to the State Department of Education.

Ross F. Shaw, Oldtown, in a letter to the board, urged that some action be taken on the proposed traveling library project. A similar appeal was made last week by county Parent-Teacher Association officials and members of Homemakers' Clubs.

Alvis M. Chedester, 237 Henderson Avenue, a veteran, applied to purchase one of the lots on county property, fronting on Holland Street, as a home site.

Lucian C. Radcliffe, former county tax collector in District No. 1, presented a list of properties to be sold next Wednesday at public auction for delinquent taxes.

The board received an invitation from officials of the Spring Grove State Hospital to attend ceremonies marking the 150th anniversary of the institution, on May 8. The hospial for mental cases was founded in 1797 and is one of the oldest of its type in the United States.

Shockley Resigns As Weather Observer

William Harvey Shockley, 210 Schley Street, will resign as river and rainfall observer in Cumberland for the Weather Bureau of the Department of Commerce, effective June 30.

In announcing his resignation yesterday, Shockley said he took the action to give more time to his duties as city dairy inspector. He has been a Weather Bureau observer for the past two years.

Gov. Lane Signs County Voting Machine Bill

Vetoes Measure On Strip Mines

Voting machines will be put into use in Allegany County at the next primary and general elections to be held in 1948 as a result of Gov. William Preston Lane yesterday affixing his signature to two bills with that intent.

Introduced by Senator Robert B. Kimble at the recent session of the legislature and approved by both houses, Gov. Lane yesterday signed both bills, one providing for the use of the machines and the other directing the County Commissioners to borrow $140,000 for the purchase of the machines.

Opposition to the measure was expressed by the County Commissioners who had informed the Governor of their negative attitude toward voting machines.

Vetoed by the Governor yesterday was a strip mine bill over which a floor fight developed following its introduction by Delegate William H. Geppert.

Conflict Causes Veto

The bill would have required the backfilling of strip mined land in Allegany County, but the Governor vetoed it because of a conflict in the title and text of the measure that might make it apply also to Garrett County. The Garrett County delegation had its county exempted from the measure's provision after first being included.

The Governor, however, signed 10 other bills yesterday relating to Cumberland, Allegany County and Garrett County. They are:

SB 403—Relating to leaves of absence and compensation of members of the police force of Cumberland.

SB 489—Increasing the special tax to be levied by Cumberland until April 1, 1949.

SB 201—Relating to the powers of the Commissioners of Allegany County to grant or renew any contract exempting the property of industrial manufacturing companies from taxation.

SB 124—Relating to the compensation, duties, powers, etc., of the clerk to the Allegany County Commissioners.

Signs Boat Operation Bill

SB 339—Relating to the operation of boats on Deep Creek Lake, Garrett County.

SB 437—Creating a sanitary commission for Deep Creek Lake, Garrett County.

SB 340—Relating to the duties of the mayor and members of the council of Oakland and providing for pay increases.

SB 352—To prohibit the acquisition of additional land or water in Garrett County for hunting reserves and game reserves, except with the approval of the Commissioners.

SB 353—Prohibiting the purchase of additional land in Garrett County for forest reserves except with the approval of the Commissioners.

SB 243—Providing for the creation of a state debt of $560,000 for the erection of armories at Prince Frederick, Oakland, Ellicott City and Leonardtown.

Clean-up Campaign Plans Completed

Final plans for the city-wide "Spring clean-up campaign," which will get underway with a radio broadcast over Station WTBO tomorrow and will continue through next week, were made at a meeting last night of the Junior Association of Commerce committee in charge, according to Brax Dodson, co-chairman with Curtis Hickle.

Tomorrow's "Wake Up Cumberland" radio forum, to be presented from 4:30 to 5 p. m., will feature a discussion of the various aspects of the clean-up campaign, with David Kauffman, Jaycee president, as moderator.

Speakers will be Mrs. Jean Butler of the Junior Women's Civic Club, who will discuss gardens and home beautification; Dr. Leland Ransom, who will speak on health aspects; C. C. McKearn, city fire inspector, who will discuss fire hazards which can be removed by a general clean-up campaign; James Alfred Avirett, who will discuss smoke control as a means of eliminating dirt from the city; and Dodson, who will outline the general purpose of the campaign.

Rev. R. L. Henthrone, president of the Cumberland Ministerial Association, has requested local ministers to make pulpit announcements tomorrow morning, urging public co-operation in the drive.

Dodson said he plans to confer with Mayor Thomas S. Post this morning regarding arrangements for city trucks and other equipment to be used in hauling away refuse, and to ask that more refuse cans be placed on Baltimore Street.

NUMBER PLEASE?—This familiar greeting from telephone operators was heard again last night when they returned to the local switchboard after pickets of the Maryland Federation of Telephone Workers were withdrawn when their dispute with the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company was settled. Pictured at the top are some of the operators, who honored picket lines. At the top is a view of the local exchange after operators returned to work. They include Mrs. Gerville Weisenmiller, Miss Mary L. Carney, Mrs. Raymond Madden, Miss Anna M. Naughton and Miss Mae Hickle. In the lower picture (left to right) are shown George Williams, strike captain; Harry Patton and Francis Koontz, pickets; Paul Bixler, strike lieutenant, and M. V. Chatain, assistant to Williams. Williams, Bixler and Chatain are showing Patton and Koontz a telegram informing them of the end of the strike. After reading the telegram and receiving instructions from Williams, the pickets left their posts.

Jack Pierce Will Head Fort Hill Student Council

Jack Pierce, a junior, was elected president of next year's Student Council without opposition at yesterday's annual election of Fort Hill High School student officers. He succeeds Calvin Mahaney.

Balloting was held during the first three morning class periods in the school gymnasium, where 10 voting booths were set up, under the direction of Miss Lillian C. Myers, history instructor, faculty adviser for the election, and Miss Sadie MacIntosh, senior, who was in charge of student participation in her capacity as secretary of industry in this year's Student Council.

Present freshmen, sophomores and juniors were eligible to vote. Of the enrollment of 724 in the three classes, 607 students, or 87.6 per cent, cast their ballots.

For the first time in recent years a tie was reported, between James Eckard and Eugene Mason for treasurer of next year's junior class. Run-off balloting for that office will be held at a later date.

Ballots were tallied in the afternoon, and the results were announced at 3 p. m. over the school's public address system by Miss Myers.

Next year's senior class—Fred Bennett, president; Donald McCoy, vice president; Louella Perdew, secretary; Richard Ayers, treasurer; James Stemple, sergeant-at-arms.

Next year's junior class — Wonn Reynolds, president; George Stevenson, vice president; Dorothy Triplett, secretary, and Donald Ritter, sergeant-at-arms.

Next year's sophomore class — Roger Craze, president; Lois Davis, vice president; Frances Kennell, secretary; Norma Robosson, treasurer; and Walter Davis, sergeant-at-arms.

Senate members from the senior class next year will be Edna Brant, Jean Curl and Murlend Hartsock; and Ida Mae Cage, Philip Gambino and Thomas Kaboskey from next year's junior class.

The current freshman and junior classes tied for the percentage of student voting, at 92 per cent of their respective enrollments. Only 78 per cent of this year's sophomore class cast ballots, because a number of shop students had been excused from school in the morning, when balloting was held.

Taylor Accepts Offer Of Recreation Post

Charles L. Taylor, Clarksburg, W. Va., notified the Cumberland Recreation Board yesterday that he will accept the position as recreation director of Cumberland at an annual salary of $4,500.

Now employed by the National Recreation Association in Ann Arbor, Mich., Taylor expects to assume his duties here on Monday, May 5. He was appointed to the newly-created position last Monday by a 5-1 vote of the board.

Blackers Summoned

Four members of a family residing at 401 South Cedar Street, were summoned to appear in Police Court for a hearing on disorderly conduct charges. They are Robert Blacker, Francis Blacker, Minnie Blacker and William Blacker.

Police said the four were summoned on a warrant sworn to by Myrtle Keller, a neighbor.

Lincoln's Birthday Is Legal Holiday

Lincoln's birthday is now a legal holiday in Maryland.

Gov. William Preston Lane yesterday signed a resolution introduced in the House of Delegates by Delegate John T. Fey, Allegany County, which proposed to make Lincoln's birthday, February 12, a legal holiday.

The resolution was introduced on Lincoln's birthday this year.

Solons Will Meet With Labor Heads

County Conference To Be Held May 4

Senators Herbert O'Conor and Millard Tydings have notified William Boyd Coleman, vice president of the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference that they will meet Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the caucus room of the Senate to discuss pending labor legislation with representatives of Maryland labor unions.

Coleman said the meeting is planned so that representatives of all labor groups interested in protesting oppressive labor legislation may present their views.

A similar conference will be held this morning at 11:30 o'clock when Rep. J. Glenn Beall will meet with local labor leaders at Textile Hall, 34 North Mechanic Street.

Coleman said the meeting was arranged so that Rep. Beall might discuss with members of the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference the latest development in current legislation. Anyone interested in discussing the program will be welcomed to the meeting, Coleman said.

The conference of all labor organizations of the county which was scheduled to be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. in Textile Hall has been postponed until Sunday, May 4, at 2 p. m. at the same location, Coleman said.

The Unity Conference, he said, hopes to secure national representatives of all major labor groups represented in Allegany county to speak at the conference.

COOK WILL DISCUSS CELANESE CONTRACT WITH UNION GROUP

Wesley Cook, New York, assistant director of the rayon division of the TWUA-CIO, will meet with the negotiating committee of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at the union hall to make plans for the opening of contract negotiations with the Celanese Corporation of America, William Boyd Coleman, union president, announced last night.

The committee is composed of the 16 shop chairman of the Celanese plant and the officers of the local. They will discuss strategy to be used in discussions on the 10 point program the union is seeking in the new agreement.

He said Edward R. Allan, personnel manager of the Amcelle plant, has agreed to open the talks Wednesday. Cook plans to remain in Cumberland all week to continue the discussions, Coleman added.

Red Men's Parade Prize Winners Are Announced

Winners of $450 in prizes offered by Tonkaway Tribe No. 120, Improved Order of Red Men, in the parade held here Tuesday night in conjunction with opening ceremonies of the Great Sun Council Fire of the state organization, were announced last night by W. Ewald Ruehl, great prophet and immediate past great sachem.

A $75 prize was awarded to Fort Hill High School Band for the band making the best showing. Another $75 prize was awarded to the drum corps of Farrady Post, American Legion, Frostburg, for the drum corps making the best showing.

Logan Tribe No. 155, Boonsboro, won $75 as the Red Men tribe coming the greatest distance while Mianus Council No. 3, Baltimore, won $75 as the Pocahontas organization coming the greatest distance.

Another prize of $37.50 was awarded to Logan Tribe for being the visiting tribe with most in line and another $37.50 prize was awarded to Mianus Council as the visiting council with most in line.

Altoona Tribe from Altoona, Pa., won $37.50 as the tribe making the best showing in costume, and Mianus Council won $37.50 as the council making the best showing in costume.

Judges were Mayor Thomas S. Post and City Commissioners William J. Edwards and Myers G. Light, who reviewed the parade from City Hall steps.

Ruehl said checks will be mailed to the prize winners within a few days.

MILITARY SERVICE IS PLANNED FOR PVT. CLAUDE GLASS

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, will accord full military honors at the funeral service for Pvt. Claude O. Glass, 19, Route 1, who was drowned August 10, 1946, off Honshu Island, in Japan.

The body of the local soldier will arrive here tomorrow morning and will be taken to the Hafer Funeral Home.

His parents, Byard and Ruth E. Robison Glass, learned yesterday that the body left Oakland, Cal., Tuesday night, escorted by Sgt. R. G. Nugent.

Pvt. Glass attended Allegany High School before entering the armed forces.

Also surviving are two brothers Richard Homer Glass, Cash Valley Road, and Walter Calvin Glass, at home, and two sisters, Miss Betty June Glass, a student nurse at Memorial Hospital, and Laura Anne Glass, at home.

Extinguish Minor Blazes

Central Fire Company was called to the home of Mrs. Mayme Cole, 139 North Centre Street, yesterday at 1:30 a. m. when an overstuffed chair in the living room of the home caught fire. Passersby noticed smoke, broke into the home and dragged the chair to the sidewalk before firemen arrived.

South End Fire Company was called to Oldtown Road and Gay Street yesterday at 12:05 a. m. when a burning mattress was found in the street. Firemen surmised the mattress fell from a truck.

Compensation Office To Go On Fast Time

The local office of the State Unemployment Compensation Division will operate on Daylight Saving Time beginning Monday, Francis Kenney, manager, announced yesterday.

Kenney said the newspaper announcement is to be taken as official and added that daylight time will be observed also in itinerant offices at Mt. Savage, Lonaconing, Westernport and Frostburg.

Equal Rights Are Given In Celanese Twist Departments

Two Subdivisions Combined By Award

The Up-twist and Down-twist subdivisions in the Twisting subdivision of the Textile division at the Celanese plant were combined into one subdivision in strict order of seniority as a result of an arbitration award handed down April 21 by Sidney A. Wolff.

The joint request for arbitration of the up-twist, down-twist controversy was made January 8, 1947, by Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, and the Celanese Corporation of America.

Wolff said the agreement of March 28, 1943, was a temporary one necessitated by war conditions, and subject to review by these proceedings.

"The application of this award will grant both the down-twisters and the up-twisters equad rights and will result in the elimination of charges of discrimination as between the sexes. Also this award will make for a more flexible use of labor on all twisting machines", Wolff said.

Gives Job Security

The combination of the groups which perform essentially the same process in the same location is in line with both company and international union policy to have seniority subdivisions as large as possible in order to protect long years of service, Wolff said.

The larger the subdivision the greater the job security for older employes in the face of technological changes with which this industry is faced, he added.

Specific rulings on items in the joint request for arbitration were:

"Up-twist employes shall have the right to operate the Down-twist spindles which replaced the Up-twist spindles; this right shall extend to Down-twist spindles now operating or to be hereafter installed including the 26 machines put into operation in 1946, however, this right to be exercised on the basis of one seniority list as above provided.

Wolff ruled that in Item III of the joint request for arbitration the union should accept the proposal labeled Alternative 1 of the company's proposal.

He decided in the negative in items IV and V of the proposal.

In Item VI, the arbitrator said the parties "shall accept the proposal of the Up-twist subdivision to the extent that the Up-twist and Down-twist seniority subdivisions as they now stand shall be combined in strict order of seniority."

Some 316 Males and 44 females are employed in Down-twist and about 450 female and 90 males in Up-twist units at the Amcelle plant.

Operated As Unit

Prior to March 28, 1943, the subdivisions were operated as a single subdivision and workers were placed in a single seniority list. During this period, it was necessary to segregate the work assigned to females and only males were placed on Down-twist machines and females, as well as a few males, were retained on Up-twist machines, and the arrangement led to dissatisfaction in the application of seniority provision and in respect to furloughs and short time.

In November, 1942, it was agreed that females in the twisting subdivision would operate Down-twist machines on the same basis as male workers and about 50 females were assigned to the unit on November 22, 1942.

On March 28, 1943, a formal agreement was reached providing that Down-twist and Up-twist subdivisions should no longer be one subdivision but be separate subdivisions and that separate seniority lists be established.

Many Meetings Held

In an effort to protect the seniority rights of both male and female employes in the department, the company and union have held a number of long conferences on the subject.

The company position was that employes affected by changes in operations within their subdivisions should have prior rights by seniority to the jobs which replaced them.

The union, through its international executive council, submitted nine poposals for the settlement of the dispute and the company proposed four alternatives for the solution of the problem.

The decision affected the seniority of some 360 employes in the Down-twist and about 540 employes in the Up-twist unit.

Old Cumberland Pumper Will Be Displayed

KENSINGTON, Md., April 25 (AP)—Four historic Maryland fire engines will be displayed at the dedication of the New Kensington Fire House Sunday. One of them is a side-stroke pumper from Cumberland, dating back to 1854.

Principal speakers at the ceremonies will be President C. H. Byrd of the University of Maryland; former State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes, who is also a past president of the state firemen's association, and Judge Charles W. Woodward of the Sixth judicial circuit of Maryland.

Local firemen recalled last night that the historic pumper operated on the principle of the hand car used on railroads. Another added that the last time he recalled the pumper was used was in fighting the Baltimore Street fire of 1893.

Couple Refused Marriage Permit, May Go To Court

Clerk Says Girl "Lied About Age"

Legal action today to force Robert Jackson, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court, to issue a marriage permit seemed certain last night after a young Greensburg, Pa., couple were refused a license by Jackson, who said he would not issue the permit because "the girl lied about her age."

The prospective bridegroom, Richard Earl Carns, 21, said he and Miss Ethelyn Lucille Watson, 18, came here accompanied by his mother, Mrs. S. G. Carns, Wednesday and filed application for the license.

The bride, who spent most of yesterday afternoon pleading with Clerk Jackson to issue the permit so they could be married, last night said she and Carns had consulted Gorman E. Getty, local attorney, and were advised to file a writ of mandamus against Jackson to compel him to issue the license.

Miss Watson, who is known to her fiance as Sally, told the story of leaving home Tuesday night, after her father, Edgar Watson, manager of the West Virginia Gulf Oil Corporation had objected to the marriage, and her mother struck her.

She said they came to Maryland because she was under 21-years-of-age, but had been advised by her friends that she could get a license here. When Jackson asked the age of Miss Watson, the couple said 21.

Jackson Remains Firm

Miss Watson wired a Uniontown, Pa., Hospital yesterday for statistics on her birth and received an answer saying she was born in the hospital May 18, 1928. She said Jackson still refused the permit after receiving the telegram.

Miss Watson's father sent a telegram to Jackson, shortly before he refused the license, telling him the girl was under age and Jackson refused to issue the permit.

"Despite the fact that I am 18 and old enough to be married in the State of Maryland, the clerk refused to issue the license," Miss Watson said.

Jackson, despite the pleas of Getty, had only one statement to make: "The girl lied to me. If she wants to get a license let her go back to Pennsylvania where she belongs. I'm for the father."

Miss Watson, who is employed by the Bell Telephone System in Greensburg, but is at present out of work because of the strike, said she and Carns planned to be married in June, but an announcement of their engagement appeared in the Greensburg paper Tuesday night and her mother "flew into a fit of rage and struck me."

Will Try Again Today

Carns said Jackson is wrong in accusing his bride-to-be of lying, adding, "I'm almost certain it was I who gave the age, and honestly I was so excited that I don't remember what I did tell the clerk."

Getty said he is reasonably sure "that the jails are 'empty' of persons who have lied about their ages to secure marriage licenses." He explained that the age for a woman in Allegany County to secure a marriage permit without her parents consent, has been set at 18 by the legislature, and said he can see no reason for Jackson's action.

After a long but fruitless talk with Jackson between 4 and 5 o'clock yesterday, Getty said the clerk still refused to issue the license, and added if the couple want me to, I will file a writ of mandamus in Circuit Court this morning and try to get the permit for them.

Both Carns and Miss Watson, who admitted that she thinks her parents are acting "beastly about the whole thing," said they planned to remain in the county over night and appear in court this morning at 8:45 o'clock in an effort to secure the permit. "I just can't go back to my parents without being married," she exclaimed, "I know they would beat me."

Carns, who served in the United States Navy for two years during the war, said he met Miss Watson after being discharged. He admitted that they had planned to wed in June but said the action of Miss Watson's parents had "caused them to set the date up."

The young veteran said he is employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad in Greensburg, and earns a good salary. "I think we will stay and fight this thing out," he declared.

Clocks Move Ahead An Hour On Sunday

Allegany County residents generally will move their clocks ahead one hour tonight when they retire and will wake up Sunday on Daylight Saving Time.

Fast time, making a clean sweep of this county, was seen as becoming even more general as a result of a resolution passed by the County Commissioners yesterday calling upon residents to observe daylight time.

The Court House, all county employes under jurisdiction of the board and the judges of Circuit Court also will observe the change.

Cumberland banks met yesterday afternoon at the Liberty Trust Company and decided to operate on fast time.

Grantsville plans to join the list of communities setting clocks ahead, but at Keyser, W. Va., no decision had been reached last night and Mayor John C. Freeland said that community will operate on standard time over the weekend. He said another meeting probably will be held Monday and predicted chances are good for adoption of fast time.

Services in Cumberland churches tomorrow morning will be conducted on Daylight Saving Time, according to a check of local pastors. Rev. Father J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, said last night masses tomorrow will be celebrated at 5:30, 7, 8:30, 10, 11 and noon, Daylight Saving Time.

Telephone Operators Return As Pickets Withdraw

Members Of MFTW Oppose Agreement

Telephone operators went back to their posts last night as striking plant and maintenance men withdrew their pickets amid a furore of dissatisfaction among members who declared that their union, the Maryland Federation of Telephone Workers, had let them down in signing an agreement with the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company to arbitrate the wage issue.

May Be Short-Lived

Although normal service was restored at 10 o'clock last night at the end of the 19-day-old strike, there was a possibility that the resumption would be short-lived inasmuch as the Maryland Telephone Clerical Workers Union, which has six members in Cumberland, is still on strike.

In Washington last night Miss Helen Smith, state president of the clerical workers, declared that members of her union should picket telephone buildings and try to keep plant employes from reporting for work.

Local members of the clerical workers union had received no instructions from Miss Smith last night but she stated that she would get in touch with them.

Meanwhile, there was no decision from the local clerical workers as to whether they will or will not return to their jobs. No picketing permits have been issued to them.

Members of the Maryland Federation of Telephone Workers were informed by a telegram from Henry B. Foster, president, and Robert O. Siemmer, state strike director, shortly after 6 p. m. that an agreement had been reached with the telephone company.

George Williams, Western Maryland strike captain, within an hour had withdrawn pickets from the telephone exchange building here in compliance with the telegram.

To Report Monday

However, plant workers were informed by the telegram that they are not to report back to work until 6 a. m. Monday.

Union members, informed of the settlement, vociferously stated their dissatisfaction with the agreement to arbitrate wages.

Some men tore up their union cards in obvious disgust. Others said they were ready to ignore the union's instructions not to report to work until Monday and indicated they would be willing to return today. They belittled their organization and said they didn't have one.

One local striker declared, "We made a bad investment."

Others said the end of the strike has brought local members closer than ever to affiliation with the CIO or the AFL.

Strike Captain Williams issued a statement in which he said:

"We're glad it's over. We aren't too well pleased that the wage issues are to be submitted to arbitration."

Notified To Return

Immediately upon learning that pickets had been withdrawn from the local telephone building, Miss Wreatha Tichnell, vice-chairman and state organizer of the Maryland Telephone Traffic Union, began notifying members of her union, who have honored plant workers' picket lines, to prepare to return to work.

At 10 p. m. the normal night crew of operators reported for work and Miss Tichnell said she expects other operators to report on their regular turns.

She added, however, "We always honor picket lines" when asked what would happen should the members of the Clerical Workers Union picket the exchange.

Announcement of settlement of the strike, brought the greatest rush in the past 19 days to the switchboards of the local exchange.

3 More County Men Face Gaming Counts; Post Bond

Griffith, Green, Ruehl Indicted

Three men from Cumberland, Frostburg and LaVale yesterday posted $500 bonds for their appearance in Circuit Court next week during the criminal trials after being indicted by the April grand jury on gambling charges.

The three men, who face charges of maintaining, operating, managing and being interested in the proceeds of slot machines, were identified as Homer Griffith, Frostburg, Ewald Ruehl, Cumberland and Lee Green, LaVale.

Ruehl, a state official of the Improved Order of Red Men, appeared in court yesterday morning with Henry W. Bliss, who furnished his bond.

Griffith Posts Cash

Griffith, Frostburg, appeared yesterday afternoon by himself and posted $500 in cash for his bond. Green, who was indicted on a joint warrant, with Ruehl appeared in court with Lucian C. Radcliffe, former county tax collector, who posted bond.

The indictments charged each of the men with violating five counts on gambling violations maintaining that Green and Ruehl operated "a device known as a slot machine" on December 25, 1946 and on divers other days between that date and the time of the indictment.

Griffith was charged with operating a slot machine on December 26 and on divers other occasions. He is also charged with "keeping a certain place of gambling."

Earlier this week eight other men posted bond for hearings on charges of operating slot machines and several others in the county who were indicted are expected to appear today to post bonds.

Several traversers held in jail will be arraigned this morning before Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson. Counsel will be appointed by the court for those without funds.

Lepley To Be Arraigned

Among those to be arraigned are Eugene Lepley, young veteran charged with assault with intent to murder; Peter Loncarevich, charged with false pretenses; William G. Sponaugle, indicted for largency and receiving stolen goods; and W. D. Carroll held for embezzlement.

Four men face charges of paternity, according to indictments on the open docket. They are Carl H. Fetterman, Joseph H. Koelker, George Leroy Leasure and Charles Kyle. Orval W. Jenkins is charged with carnal knowledge and Nelson Phillips is accused of rape.

Criminal trials will begin Monday morning, with the assignments to be made this morning by State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris.

The trial of Ronald J. West, prominent Hagerstown businessman, charged with assault with intent to rape, is set for next week. The case was removed from Washington County and was postponed from the January term here, at the request of his counsel.

Hearing Deferred On Roads Measure

A hearing on House Bill 438 has been postponed by Gov. William Preston Lane, members of the Board of County Commissioners were advised yesterday.

The bill, passed by the Legislature, would allow county boards to undertake road projects with their own forces in event such a plan is feasible. Some county boards have urged Lane to sign the bill, reported to be opposed by contracting firms.

W. Lee Linkous, of the Harford County Board, said he will advise local officials when a new date is fixed for a hearing.

Hugh D. Shires, chairman of the Allegany County campaign of the American Cancer Society, requested a contribution from the board, but no decision was given.

Cherles L. Kopp, superintendent of county schools, requested a signed copy of the 1947 levy list, to be sent to the State Department of Education.

Ross F. Shaw, Oldtown, in a letter to the board, urged that some action be taken on the proposed traveling library project. A similar appeal was made last week by county Parent-Teacher Association officials and members of Homemakers' Clubs.

Alvis M. Chedester, 237 Henderson Avenue, a veteran, applied to purchase one of the lots on county property, fronting on Holland Street, as a home site.

Lucian C. Radcliffe, former county tax collector in District No. 1, presented a list of properties to be sold next Wednesday at public auction for delinquent taxes.

The board received an invitation from officials of the Spring Grove State Hospital to attend ceremonies marking the 150th anniversary of the institution, on May 8. The hospial for mental cases was founded in 1797 and is one of the oldest of its type in the United States.

Shockley Resigns As Weather Observer

William Harvey Shockley, 210 Schley Street, will resign as river and rainfall observer in Cumberland for the Weather Bureau of the Department of Commerce, effective June 30.

In announcing his resignation yesterday, Shockley said he took the action to give more time to his duties as city dairy inspector. He has been a Weather Bureau observer for the past two years.

Frostburg Miner Is Badly Injured By Fall Of Rock

Albert Harvey, 102 Mount Pleasant Street, Frostburg, who was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday morning for treatment of serious injuries suffered when he was struck by a rock fall while working at a Consolidated Fuel Company mine near Eckhart, was reported in a fair condition last night.

The 58-year-old coal miner suffered two crushed vetebrae, several broken ribs, a fractured right leg and severe shock. He lapsed into semi-consciousness after he was taken to the hospital but regained consciousness later.

Harvey, employed as a maintenance man in Eckhart Mine No. 10 of the Consolidated company, was injured at 10 a. m. while assisting in removing an overhead rock to prepare for setting up a coal conveyor.

An investigation of the accident will be made today by Frank T. Powers, district mine inspector.

Richard Buskey, 16, 447 Willowbrook Road, was treated Thursday night in Allegany Hospital for a lacerated right thumb. The youth said he cut himself on a tin can while hunting worms to fish.

Charles Webreck, 55, Route 2, a B. and O. worker, was treated in Allegany Hospital Friday for a right hand injury. He said he was hurt by a piece of machinery.

Warren Kelly Elbin, 47, Artemas, Pa., was admitted to Memorial Hospital last night for treatment of a leg injury. He told attaches he was hurt when he fell down a pair of steps at the home of his brother, Marshall Elbin. Attaches said his condition was good after a cast was applied.

Gov. Lane Signs County Voting Machine Bill

Vetoes Measure On Strip Mines

Voting machines will be put into use in Allegany County at the next primary and general elections to be held in 1948 as a result of Gov. William Preston Lane yesterday affixing his signature to two bills with that intent.

Introduced by Senator Robert B. Kimble at the recent session of the legislature and approved by both houses, Gov. Lane yesterday signed both bills, one providing for the use of the machines and the other directing the County Commissioners to borrow $140,000 for the purchase of the machines.

Opposition to the measure was expressed by the County Commissioners who had informed the Governor of their negative attitude toward voting machines.

Vetoed by the Governor yesterday was a strip mine bill over which a floor fight developed following its introduction by Delegate William H. Geppert.

Conflict Causes Veto

The bill would have required the backfilling of strip mined land in Allegany County, but the Governor vetoed it because of a conflict in the title and text of the measure that might make it apply also to Garrett County. The Garrett County delegation had its county exempted from the measure's provision after first being included.

The Governor, however, signed 10 other bills yesterday relating to Cumberland, Allegany County and Garrett County. They are:

SB 403—Relating to leaves of absence and compensation of members of the police force of Cumberland.

SB 489—Increasing the special tax to be levied by Cumberland until April 1, 1949.

SB 201—Relating to the powers of the Commissioners of Allegany County to grant or renew any contract exempting the property of industrial manufacturing companies from taxation.

SB 124—Relating to the compensation, duties, powers, etc., of the clerk to the Allegany County Commissioners.

Signs Boat Operation Bill

SB 339—Relating to the operation of boats on Deep Creek Lake, Garrett County.

SB 437—Creating a sanitary commission for Deep Creek Lake, Garrett County.

SB 340—Relating to the duties of the mayor and members of the council of Oakland and providing for pay increases.

SB 352—To prohibit the acquisition of additional land or water in Garrett County for hunting reserves and game reserves, except with the approval of the Commissioners.

SB 353—Prohibiting the purchase of additional land in Garrett County for forest reserves except with the approval of the Commissioners.

SB 243—Providing for the creation of a state debt of $560,000 for the erection of armories at Prince Frederick, Oakland, Ellicott City and Leonardtown.

Clean-up Campaign Plans Completed

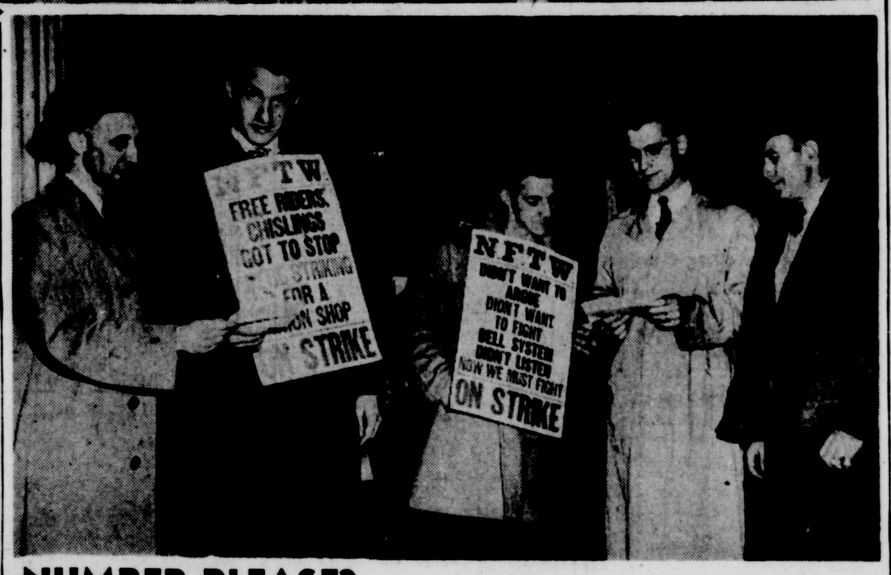
Final plans for the city-wide "Spring clean-up campaign," which will get underway with a radio broadcast over Station WTBO tomorrow and will continue through next week, were made at a meeting last night of the Junior Association of Commerce committee in charge, according to Brax Dodson, co-chairman with Curtis Hickle.

Tomorrow's "Wake Up Cumberland" radio forum, to be presented from 4:30 to 5 p. m., will feature a discussion of the various aspects of the clean-up campaign, with David Kauffman, Jaycee president, as moderator.

Speakers will be Mrs. Jean Butler of the Junior Women's Civic Club, who will discuss gardens and home beautification; Dr. Leland Ransom, who will speak on health aspects; C. C. McKearn, city fire inspector, who will discuss fire hazards which can be removed by a general clean-up campaign; James Alfred Avirett, who will discuss smoke control as a means of eliminating dirt from the city; and Dodson, who will outline the general purpose of the campaign.

Rev. R. L. Henthrone, president of the Cumberland Ministerial Association, has requested local ministers to make pulpit announcements tomorrow morning, urging public co-operation in the drive.

Dodson said he plans to confer with Mayor Thomas S. Post this morning regarding arrangements for city trucks and other equipment to be used in hauling away refuse, and to ask that more refuse cans be placed on Baltimore Street.



NUMBER PLEASE?—This familiar greeting from telephone operators was heard again last night when they returned to the local switchboard after pickets of the Maryland Federation of Telephone Workers were withdrawn when their dispute with the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company was settled. Pictured at the top are some of the operators, who honored picket lines. At the top is a view of the local exchange after operators returned to work. They include Mrs. Gerville Weisenmiller, Miss Mary L. Carney, Mrs. Raymond Madden, Miss Anna M. Naughton and Miss Mae Hickle. In the lower picture (left to right) are shown George Williams, strike captain; Harry Patton and Francis Koontz, pickets; Paul Bixler, strike lieutenant, and M. V. Chatain, assistant to Williams. Williams, Bixler and Chatain are showing Patton and Koontz a telegram informing them of the end of the strike. After reading the telegram and receiving instructions from Williams, the pickets left their posts.

Jack Pierce, a junior, was elected president of next year's Student Council without opposition at yesterday's annual election of Fort Hill High School student officers. He succeeds Calvin Mahaney.

Balloting was held during the first three morning class periods in the school gymnasium, where 10 voting booths were set up, under the direction of Miss Lillian C. Myers, history instructor, faculty adviser for the election, and Miss Sadie MacIntosh, senior, who was in charge of student participation in her capacity as secretary of industry in this year's Student Council.

Present freshmen, sophomores and juniors were eligible to vote. Of the enrollment of 724 in the three classes, 607 students, or 87.6 per cent, cast their ballots.

For the first time in recent years a tie was reported, between James Eckard and Eugene Mason for treasurer of next year's junior class. Run-off balloting for that office will be held at a later date.

Ballots were tallied in the afternoon, and the results were announced at 3 p. m. over the school's public address system by Miss Myers.

Results are as follows:

Next year's senior class—Fred Bennett, president; Donald McCoy, vice president; Louella Perdew, secretary; Richard Ayers, treasurer; James Stemple, sergeant-at-arms.

Next year's junior class — Wonn Reynolds, president; George Stevenson, vice president; Dorothy Triplett, secretary, and Donald Ritter, sergeant-at-arms.

Next year's sophomore class — Roger Craze, president; Lois Davis, vice president; Frances Kennell, secretary; Norma Robosson, treasurer; and Walter Davis, sergeant-at-arms.

Senate members from the senior class next year will be Edna Brant, Jean Curl and Murlend Hartsock; and Ida Mae Cage, Philip Gambino and Thomas Kaboskey from next year's junior class.

The current freshman and junior classes tied for the percentage of student voting, at 92 per cent of their respective enrollments. Only 78 per cent of this year's sophomore class cast ballots, because a number of shop students had been excused from school in the morning, when balloting was held.

Taylor Accepts Offer Of Recreation Post

Charles L. Taylor, Clarksburg, W. Va., notified the Cumberland Recreation Board yesterday that he will accept the position as recreation director of Cumberland at an annual salary of $4,500.

Now employed by the National Recreation Association in Ann Arbor, Mich., Taylor expects to assume his duties here on Monday, May 5. He was appointed to the newly-created position last Monday by a 5-1 vote of the board.

Blackers Summoned

Four members of a family residing at 401 South Cedar Street, were summoned to appear in Police Court for a hearing on disorderly conduct charges. They are Robert Blacker, Francis Blacker, Minnie Blacker and William Blacker.

Police said the four were summoned on a warrant sworn to by Myrtle Keller, a neighbor.

Lincoln's Birthday Is Legal Holiday

Lincoln's birthday is now a legal holiday in Maryland.

Gov. William Preston Lane yesterday signed a resolution introduced in the House of Delegates by Delegate John T. Fey, Allegany County, which proposed to make Lincoln's birthday, February 12, a legal holiday.

The resolution was introduced on Lincoln's birthday this year.

Solons Will Meet With Labor Heads

County Conference To Be Held May 4

Senators Herbert O'Conor and Millard Tydings have notified William Boyd Coleman, vice president of the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference that they will meet Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the caucus room of the Senate to discuss pending labor legislation with representatives of Maryland labor unions.

Coleman said the meeting is planned so that representatives of all labor groups interested in protesting oppressive labor legislation may present their views.

A similar conference will be held this morning at 11:30 o'clock when Rep. J. Glenn Beall will meet with local labor leaders at Textile Hall, 34 North Mechanic Street.

Coleman said the meeting was arranged so that Rep. Beall might discuss with members of the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference the latest development in current legislation. Anyone interested in discussing the program will be welcomed to the meeting, Coleman said.

The conference of all labor organizations of the county which was scheduled to be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. in Textile Hall has been postponed until Sunday, May 4, at 2 p. m. at the same location, Coleman said.

The Unity Conference, he said, hopes to secure national representatives of all major labor groups represented in Allegany county to speak at the conference.

COOK WILL DISCUSS CELANESE CONTRACT WITH UNION GROUP

Wesley Cook, New York, assistant director of the rayon division of the TWUA-CIO, will meet with the negotiating committee of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at the union hall to make plans for the opening of contract negotiations with the Celanese Corporation of America, William Boyd Coleman, union president, announced last night.

The committee is composed of the 16 shop chairman of the Celanese plant and the officers of the local. They will discuss strategy to be used in discussions on the 10 point program the union is seeking in the new agreement.

He said Edward R. Allan, personnel manager of the Amcelle plant, has agreed to open the talks Wednesday. Cook plans to remain in Cumberland all week to continue the discussions, Coleman added.

Red Men's Parade Prize Winners Are Announced

Winners of $450 in prizes offered by Tonkaway Tribe No. 120, Improved Order of Red Men, in the parade held here Tuesday night in conjunction with opening ceremonies of the Great Sun Council Fire of the state organization, were announced last night by W. Ewald Ruehl, great prophet and immediate past great sachem.

A $75 prize was awarded to Fort Hill High School Band for the band making the best showing. Another $75 prize was awarded to the drum corps of Farrady Post, American Legion, Frostburg, for the drum corps making the best showing.

Logan Tribe No. 155, Boonsboro, won $75 as the Red Men tribe coming the greatest distance while Mianus Council No. 3, Baltimore, won $75 as the Pocahontas organization coming the greatest distance.

Another prize of $37.50 was awarded to Logan Tribe for being the visiting tribe with most in line and another $37.50 prize was awarded to Mianus Council as the visiting council with most in line.

Altoona Tribe from Altoona, Pa., won $37.50 as the tribe making the best showing in costume, and Mianus Council won $37.50 as the council making the best showing in costume.

Judges were Mayor Thomas S. Post and City Commissioners William J. Edwards and Myers G. Light, who reviewed the parade from City Hall steps.

Ruehl said checks will be mailed to the prize winners within a few days.

MILITARY SERVICE IS PLANNED FOR PVT. CLAUDE GLASS

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, will accord full military honors at the funeral service for Pvt. Claude O. Glass, 19, Route 1, who was drowned August 10, 1946, off Honshu Island, in Japan.

The body of the local soldier will arrive here tomorrow morning and will be taken to the Hafer Funeral Home.

His parents, Byard and Ruth E. Robison Glass, learned yesterday that the body left Oakland, Cal., Tuesday night, escorted by Sgt. R. G. Nugent.

Pvt. Glass attended Allegany High School before entering the armed forces.

Also surviving are two brothers Richard Homer Glass, Cash Valley Road, and Walter Calvin Glass, at home, and two sisters, Miss Betty June Glass, a student nurse at Memorial Hospital, and Laura Anne Glass, at home.

Extinguish Minor Blazes

Central Fire Company was called to the home of Mrs. Mayme Cole, 139 North Centre Street, yesterday at 1:30 a. m. when an overstuffed chair in the living room of the home caught fire. Passersby noticed smoke, broke into the home and dragged the chair to the sidewalk before firemen arrived.

South End Fire Company was called to Oldtown Road and Gay Street yesterday at 12:05 a. m. when a burning mattress was found in the street. Firemen surmised the mattress fell from a truck.

Compensation Office To Go On Fast Time

The local office of the State Unemployment Compensation Division will operate on Daylight Saving Time beginning Monday, Francis Kenney, manager, announced yesterday.

Kenney said the newspaper announcement is to be taken as official and added that daylight time will be observed also in itinerant offices at Mt. Savage, Lonaconing, Westernport and Frostburg.

Equal Rights Are Given In Celanese Twist Departments

Two Subdivisions Combined By Award

The Up-twist and Down-twist subdivisions in the Twisting subdivision of the Textile division at the Celanese plant were combined into one subdivision in strict order of seniority as a result of an arbitration award handed down April 21 by Sidney A. Wolff.

The joint request for arbitration of the up-twist, down-twist controversy was made January 8, 1947, by Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, and the Celanese Corporation of America.

Wolff said the agreement of March 28, 1943, was a temporary one necessitated by war conditions, and subject to review by these proceedings.

"The application of this award will grant both the down-twisters and the up-twisters equad rights and will result in the elimination of charges of discrimination as between the sexes. Also this award will make for a more flexible use of labor on all twisting machines", Wolff said.

Gives Job Security

The combination of the groups which perform essentially the same process in the same location is in line with both company and international union policy to have seniority subdivisions as large as possible in order to protect long years of service, Wolff said.

The larger the subdivision the greater the job security for older employes in the face of technological changes with which this industry is faced, he added.

Specific rulings on items in the joint request for arbitration were:

"Up-twist employes shall have the right to operate the Down-twist spindles which replaced the Up-twist spindles; this right shall extend to Down-twist spindles now operating or to be hereafter installed including the 26 machines put into operation in 1946, however, this right to be exercised on the basis of one seniority list as above provided.

Wolff ruled that in Item III of the joint request for arbitration the union should accept the proposal labeled Alternative 1 of the company's proposal.

He decided in the negative in items IV and V of the proposal.

In Item VI, the arbitrator said the parties "shall accept the proposal of the Up-twist subdivision to the extent that the Up-twist and Down-twist seniority subdivisions as they now stand shall be combined in strict order of seniority."

Some 316 Males and 44 females are employed in Down-twist and about 450 female and 90 males in Up-twist units at the Amcelle plant.

Operated As Unit

Prior to March 28, 1943, the subdivisions were operated as a single subdivision and workers were placed in a single seniority list. During this period, it was necessary to segregate the work assigned to females and only males were placed on Down-twist machines and females, as well as a few males, were retained on Up-twist machines, and the arrangement led to dissatisfaction in the application of seniority provision and in respect to furloughs and short time.

In November, 1942, it was agreed that females in the twisting subdivision would operate Down-twist machines on the same basis as male workers and about 50 females were assigned to the unit on November 22, 1942.

On March 28, 1943, a formal agreement was reached providing that Down-twist and Up-twist subdivisions should no longer be one subdivision but be separate subdivisions and that separate seniority lists be established.

Many Meetings Held

In an effort to protect the seniority rights of both male and female employes in the department, the company and union have held a number of long conferences on the subject.

The company position was that employes affected by changes in operations within their subdivisions should have prior rights by seniority to the jobs which replaced them.

The union, through its international executive council, submitted nine poposals for the settlement of the dispute and the company proposed four alternatives for the solution of the problem.

The decision affected the seniority of some 360 employes in the Down-twist and about 540 employes in the Up-twist unit.

Old Cumberland Pumper Will Be Displayed

KENSINGTON, Md., April 25 (AP)—Four historic Maryland fire engines will be displayed at the dedication of the New Kensington Fire House Sunday. One of them is a side-stroke pumper from Cumberland, dating back to 1854.

Principal speakers at the ceremonies will be President C. H. Byrd of the University of Maryland; former State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes, who is also a past president of the state firemen's association, and Judge Charles W. Woodward of the Sixth judicial circuit of Maryland.

Local firemen recalled last night that the historic pumper operated on the principle of the hand car used on railroads. Another added that the last time he recalled the pumper was used was in fighting the Baltimore Street fire of 1893.

Couple Refused Marriage Permit, May Go To Court

Clerk Says Girl "Lied About Age"

Legal action today to force Robert Jackson, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court, to issue a marriage permit seemed certain last night after a young Greensburg, Pa., couple were refused a license by Jackson, who said he would not issue the permit because "the girl lied about her age."

The prospective bridegroom, Richard Earl Carns, 21, said he and Miss Ethelyn Lucille Watson, 18, came here accompanied by his mother, Mrs. S. G. Carns, Wednesday and filed application for the license.

The bride, who spent most of yesterday afternoon pleading with Clerk Jackson to issue the permit so they could be married, last night said she and Carns had consulted Gorman E. Getty, local attorney, and were advised to file a writ of mandamus against Jackson to compel him to issue the license.

Miss Watson, who is known to her fiance as Sally, told the story of leaving home Tuesday night, after her father, Edgar Watson, manager of the West Virginia Gulf Oil Corporation had objected to the marriage, and her mother struck her.

She said they came to Maryland because she was under 21-years-of-age, but had been advised by her friends that she could get a license here. When Jackson asked the age of Miss Watson, the couple said 21.

Jackson Remains Firm

Miss Watson wired a Uniontown, Pa., Hospital yesterday for statistics on her birth and received an answer saying she was born in the hospital May 18, 1928. She said Jackson still refused the permit after receiving the telegram.

Miss Watson's father sent a telegram to Jackson, shortly before he refused the license, telling him the girl was under age and Jackson refused to issue the permit.

"Despite the fact that I am 18 and old enough to be married in the State of Maryland, the clerk refused to issue the license," Miss Watson said.

Jackson, despite the pleas of Getty, had only one statement to make: "The girl lied to me. If she wants to get a license let her go back to Pennsylvania where she belongs. I'm for the father."

Miss Watson, who is employed by the Bell Telephone System in Greensburg, but is at present out of work because of the strike, said she and Carns planned to be married in June, but an announcement of their engagement appeared in the Greensburg paper Tuesday night and her mother "flew into a fit of rage and struck me."

Will Try Again Today

Carns said Jackson is wrong in accusing his bride-to-be of lying, adding, "I'm almost certain it was I who gave the age, and honestly I was so excited that I don't remember what I did tell the clerk."

Getty said he is reasonably sure "that the jails are 'empty' of persons who have lied about their ages to secure marriage licenses." He explained that the age for a woman in Allegany County to secure a marriage permit without her parents consent, has been set at 18 by the legislature, and said he can see no reason for Jackson's action.

After a long but fruitless talk with Jackson between 4 and 5 o'clock yesterday, Getty said the clerk still refused to issue the license, and added if the couple want me to, I will file a writ of mandamus in Circuit Court this morning and try to get the permit for them.

Both Carns and Miss Watson, who admitted that she thinks her parents are acting "beastly about the whole thing," said they planned to remain in the county over night and appear in court this morning at 8:45 o'clock in an effort to secure the permit. "I just can't go back to my parents without being married," she exclaimed, "I know they would beat me."

Carns, who served in the United States Navy for two years during the war, said he met Miss Watson after being discharged. He admitted that they had planned to wed in June but said the action of Miss Watson's parents had "caused them to set the date up."

The young veteran said he is employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad in Greensburg, and earns a good salary. "I think we will stay and fight this thing out," he declared.

Clocks Move Ahead An Hour On Sunday

Allegany County residents generally will move their clocks ahead one hour tonight when they retire and will wake up Sunday on Daylight Saving Time.

Fast time, making a clean sweep of this county, was seen as becoming even more general as a result of a resolution passed by the County Commissioners yesterday calling upon residents to observe daylight time.

The Court House, all county employes under jurisdiction of the board and the judges of Circuit Court also will observe the change.

Cumberland banks met yesterday afternoon at the Liberty Trust Company and decided to operate on fast time.

Grantsville plans to join the list of communities setting clocks ahead, but at Keyser, W. Va., no decision had been reached last night and Mayor John C. Freeland said that community will operate on standard time over the weekend. He said another meeting probably will be held Monday and predicted chances are good for adoption of fast time.

Services in Cumberland churches tomorrow morning will be conducted on Daylight Saving Time, according to a check of local pastors. Rev. Father J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, said last night masses tomorrow will be celebrated at 5:30, 7, 8:30, 10, 11 and noon, Daylight Saving Time.
